

And Evening Chronicle
Published Sunday by The Charlotte News Publishing Company, Inc.
J. S. Dowl, Editor
W. C. Dowl, Jr., President
G. S. Dowl, Jr., Vice President
J. S. Dowl, Jr., Secretary

Subscription Rates
By carrier: 20 cents a week; one month, $1.00; three months, $2.75; six months, $5.00; one year, $9.00.

Correction

Staggering Losses Forced Germany To Quit In '18
A misconception gaining currency these days is that in the last World War Germany, while still fresh and relatively unharmed, determined to ask for an armistice so that it might be able to fight again the next day.

Prelude

Jap Days On Philippines Will End Any Time Now
It is likely that their accurate prediction of blows against the Philippines 'ave the Jap war machine in the hands of the victors. Not even they, grimly surveying the wreckage of their military and naval strength, could have foreseen the fury of the first major strike.

Deuce's Gadfly

Governor Dewey has just had a significant brush with the New York Times in which he finally came off second best. For a good many years, New York Times ace correspondent Warren Moscow has been covering Mr. Dewey, beginning in the crime-busting days in New York City.

Way Stop

Palau Gets A Taste Of 16-Inch Guns
The Palau Islands, better known as the Pelew Islands, lie some 600 miles east of Mindanao, the southernmost of the Philippines.

Confusion

UMW Makes Its Decisions With Bare Knuckles
No one movement in the course of human affairs has held any monopoly on irresponsible leadership; that course has plagued men at large through history.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Quote, Unquote

If our armies believe they can triumph in view of the present situation, they may do so. It is, however, certain that the present will mark its end in the ranks of the greatest.

The Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson
WASHINGTON
BRITISH Government leaders have said nothing about the possibility of Roosevelt's being tipped off by Churchill that immediately after the Moscow meeting.

Churchill's party strategists have already had conferences with Roosevelt's party leaders and have sought their support for a continuation of a future coalition government. The Labor leaders of the Churchill cabinet, however, have said they believe that after the war, Labor should go on its own and should not be tied up with the Conservative Party.

Conservative leaders, however, figure that the rank and file of the Labor Party will not follow their leaders but, instead, will follow Churchill. They believe that the Labor Party is not ready to desert the Coalition.

Churchill's move in calling the general election immediately after the armistice is considered very shrewd timing. Today he is popular in England. A few months from now he may not be. The British Prime Minister will stand on his war record and his cooperation with Roosevelt will not be played down as one reason why he should be returned to power.

Deuce's Gadfly
Vice-Presidential A. J. Harold Young is sure the European War will end September 21, because that is the date of Wallace's first speech in Madison Square Garden.

NOTE—Herbert Hoover once called to the publishers of the Chicago Daily News and the Philadelphia Public Ledger, asking for the dismissal or transfer of Constantin Brown and the late Frank Simonds because he considered them unfair in his naval negotiations with Great Britain.

The Bear Went Over The Mountain

By Dorman Smith
NEW YORK
I know how the returning veterans felt when they heard of them. He came back with a chip on his shoulder. He had a good reason for it.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

To The Bitter End

By Marquis Childs
WASHINGTON
HERE is an antidote for optimism or, for that matter, for optimism in the course of the war. It is a high-ranking Jap officer, captured, thanks to a sudden and unexpected development. This has almost never happened before.

Quote, Unquote

If our armies believe they can triumph in view of the present situation, they may do so. It is, however, certain that the present will mark its end in the ranks of the greatest.

Get A New Horse!

Editors, The News
I am going to vote for Dewey because I sincerely believe that only after Germany shall have turned forward time and moved the first winning of the war, also in the postwar period.

Nazi Agent Is Pretty Young Girl

By Gladwin Hill
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
PARIS, Sept. 6.—(Delayed)—Paris has a loveable little girl. She is not much older and hospitable. But you still have to keep your eyes open.

Paris, Sept. 6.—(Delayed)—Paris has a loveable little girl. She is not much older and hospitable. But you still have to keep your eyes open.

Everyday Counselor

By Herbert Spaugh, D. D.
HOW we treat our service men returning to civilian life is going to determine the success of this country. We bungled the job badly in 1918 and in the years which followed.

These men have been discharged for reasons of physical disability. They are not normal men, and we must not expect them to be. They are going to have the proverbial chip on their shoulders; they will be nervous, impatient, irritable, hard to handle.

These men have been discharged for reasons of physical disability. They are not normal men, and we must not expect them to be. They are going to have the proverbial chip on their shoulders; they will be nervous, impatient, irritable, hard to handle.

These men have been discharged for reasons of physical disability. They are not normal men, and we must not expect them to be. They are going to have the proverbial chip on their shoulders; they will be nervous, impatient, irritable, hard to handle.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.

Not In Haste

By Samuel Grafton
NEW YORK
The policy of a long armistice, if necessary, rather than a formal peace treaty, would commend itself to the people as a postwar problem with a heightened sense of realism.