

Tillet Story
Featured in the September Ladies Home Journal is an article on the "Tilted Story," written by C. W. Tillet, Charlotte attorney. The news with permission of the magazine, reprints excerpts from the article. Turn to page 6A.

THE CHARLOTTE NEWS

Final

Livest Newspaper In The Carolinas

CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1945

18 Pages—Price Five Cents

ESTABLISHED 1888

PEARL HARBOR FACTS REVEALED

24 Arch Nazi Criminals Face Mass Trial In October

MASS LANDING SET FOR TONIGHT

Adm. Nimitz Takes Charge Of War Fleet

General MacArthur In Okinawa, Ready To Join Airborne Troops

OKINAWA.—(AP)—Fleet Admiral Nimitz reached Tokyo by seaplane this afternoon as General MacArthur waited at Okinawa for Thursday's mass occupation of vanquished Japan by 18,150 Allied troops from air and sea.

Naval officials already have inspected the Yokosuka naval base at close range and Tokyo Radio said the Yokosuka Marine Transport Board Building has been chosen as general headquarters for the occupation forces.

First American ship to dock at Yokosuka, Task Force Commander Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger said, will be the cruiser San Diego. He gave this tentative schedule of events:

British troops (250 Royal Marines, 200 Royal Navy personnel) go ashore on two Tokyo-Bay islands guarding Yokosuka at 15:15 A. M., Japan time (15:15 P. M., Wednesday, Eastern War Time) and Americans occupy a third island.

Americans (9,000 Marines and 1,200 sailors) land at and near Yokosuka naval base about 10 A. M. (19:30 P. M., Wednesday, Eastern War Time).

General MacArthur and his 7,500 airborne troops are expected at Atsugi airfield twenty miles southwest of Tokyo almost simultaneously.

American Marine or Blazer units may also board the wrecked Japanese battleship Nagato, at Yokosuka, Admiral Badger said—to make sure her guns won't fire.

Weather permitting, the cruiser San Diego will dock at Yokosuka about 10:30 A. M. (19:30 P. M., Wednesday, Eastern War Time.)

Rear Adm. Robert B. Carney, Admiral Halsey's chief of staff, will accept occupation papers at Yokosuka on be-

See MACARTHUR on page 5-A

Final Revenge

Gen. Wainwright Gets DSC Award

By DONALD HUTH

CHUNGKING.—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, who will leave Chungking for Manila tomorrow on the way to witness Japan's formal surrender, was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross today for extraordinary heroism in action in the Philippines in 1942.

Wainwright, who led the American and Filipino stand at Corregidor before being captured by the Japanese, was released from a Japanese prisoner of war camp after three years of internment.

U. S. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in the China Theater, presented the award yesterday from Manchuria where he had been released from a Japanese prisoner of war camp after three years of internment.

Gen. Wainwright, an excellent pilot after the planes had been taken from Manchuria, looked forward eagerly to seeing the final Japanese surrender ceremonies in Manila and especially the Japanese commandant who had been associated with the capitulation of the heroic Americans at Corregidor.

In particular he hoped to see at the scene of Japan's complete humiliation the one-time commander-in-chief of Japanese forces in the Philippines—Gen. Masaharu Homma. But he could not find him among an armistice.

"Gen. Wainwright told me that he hoped that Japanese Gen. Homma, whom he supported at Corregidor, would be there when the Japanese surrendered," said Col. James H. S. Rasmussen of Phoenix, Va. pilot of the plane which brought Wainwright to Chungking from Mukden.

The 62-year-old hero of the American stand on Bataan and Corregidor had accepted Gen. MacArthur's invitation to be present at the surrender ceremonies.

Manila dispatch said: "He planned to leave Chungking by plane immediately, accompanied by his wife, Lt. Col. C. Bredt, Col. John Finch, Maj. Thomas Dooley and T. Sgt. H. Carroll, all former prisoners of the Japanese."

The group were with him on the tarmac when I asked him if he had to surrender, and I'm really anxious that he be present when we accept the Japanese surrender," said Wainwright's message to MacArthur said.

One officer, now in Chungking told me Wainwright, who was promoted to major general in the Philippines in 1942 when MacArthur was ordered to leave to become Supreme Commander in the Southwest Pacific, read the Japanese surrender order from the Japanese to surrender on Bataan. The officer who asked that his name be withheld, quoted Wainwright, as saying:

"I've been to general staff school and the war college, but they never taught me what to do if I was called upon to surrender. I guess we'll have to continue fighting."

The talk, in my opinion, is rather incongruous, which found rest here, of the most difficult things to attain since his arrival here. He shows signs of a Japanese prison camp, but his voice is quiet and firm as he goes through the details of formal surrender.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.

The American boat, however, had to turn around and sail back to the harbor channels leading to Tokyo Bay since long before the Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor raid.

The group of newspapermen in this boat came within 35 feet of the secured soil of the Japanese.