

Harold Jekes

VOTERS in California have been accustomed to non-partisan campaigns. Contributing to this circumstance is the law permitting candidates to file for the nomination of both his primary and general election campaigns. Consequently, in the primary elections last summer, Gov. Warren sought and won the nomination of both the Democratic and the Republican parties for re-election.

Non-partisanship is a healthy condition and it is encouraging that it is being carried over into the election campaign. This is not a year for the kind of either party to link arms and sing in chorus with Dr. Arian and his fellow makers, "all for one and one for all," thereby opening the door for too many incompetent and cost-cutting.

In this age when sham leaders and political charlatans are careless hands, the expression "progressive" and "public servant" it behooves the voter to choose only those candidates who, on the basis of their records, only those who will support progressive legislation.

THE RECORDS
Not many Congressmen can boast so enviable a voting record as can Mr. Jekes, who has been a member of the House of Representatives since 1921.

Other California Congressional candidates who have given more than lip-service to liberalism, although they did not oppose the Townsend rider bill and who have been successful in the popular measures with their votes are Democratic Rep. J. P. Morgan and Rep. J. H. McLaughlin.

Running under the Republican banner are at least two candidates who are known to be in the House of Representatives. One is a former member of the House of Representatives, who has been a member of the House of Representatives since 1921.

ROBERT A. LIBERAL
The Senatorial race in California is being fought by a number of candidates. One of the candidates is Robert A. Liberal, who has been a member of the House of Representatives since 1921.

Winds Feeble As Freak Hurricane Blows Northward

By Associated Press
A freakish tropical hurricane which slowed havoc in Cuba with 125-mile-an-hour winds that raised rain relatively to a snail's pace before they entered Florida's West Coast, virtually blew itself out last night in the Carolinas.

The Charlotte Weather Bureau said the storm center, which had skirted across Georgia and South Carolina at 25-mile an hour, had slowed down to less than five miles an hour by the time it hit the North Carolina border early last night in its northeasterly course toward the sea.

The hurricane killed four persons and caused crop damage of $2,000,000 in western Cuba Sunday night, but the winds diminished so rapidly that Government weather men were at a loss to explain the phenomenon. Only negligible damage was done to Florida's rich citrus belt, whose $150,000,000 crop.

Conference Takes Rapid Fire Action East-West Split Lasts, However

PARIS (AP)—Peace Conference delegates adopted numerous clauses of the Italian peace treaty in rapid fire order today, but the East and West split frequently along lines indicated previously in commission debates.

Often the Slav group voted en bloc without the Soviet Union as the Russians, standing by their four-power commitments, aligned themselves with the Western nations in overriding opposition.

With Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov presiding, the delegates turned to the complex and explosive issue of Trieste. Trieste, the Italian port city, is the subject of Article 16 which establishes a free state with frontiers envisaged by the four-power Foreign Ministers Council. The vote was 13 to 6, with two abstentions.

The conference then rejected a Russian demand, voted by delegate Andrei V. Vishinskiy, for the immediate withdrawal of all foreign troops within 30 days of the date of the conference's closing. The vote was 14 to 6, on East-West lines.

Emergency Conference Called At Washington

Pepper Voices Doubt In OPA
WASHINGTON (AP)—An emergency conference of some top Administration officials was called today amid mounting pressure from within and without the Democratic Party for action to ease the meat shortage.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, Democratic National Chairman Hargrove and Price Administrator Paul Porter were among those summoned for a get-together on the lack of meat—a crucial issue for politicians as well as housewives.

Another party official who planned to attend the meeting declined to report that any steps would be taken quickly—he did not say what those steps might be. He did say that the meat shortage, he believed, was not a special session of Congress in the works.

The top-rank round table was called after these developments:
1. Senators Maybank and Johnson, Republican South Carolina, called at the White House and later told reporters they had intended to support a bill to ease the meat situation is getting worse.
