

Wyatt Emerges With A Real Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The most energetic champion of the Federal Housing Administration...

Wyatt's battle was over housing, now considered the lightest need in the civilian economy...

The program also proposed: 1. Stop construction of all non-essential buildings...

SNYDER SAYS NO The program bill Reconvener Snyder introduced in the House...

President Truman on the other hand, was favorable, though he reserved his judgment...

SNYDER also objected on the ground that people didn't like going back to the restrictions...

After a long discussion, it was finally decided to postpone the program until Wyatt could straighten out some of the details...

THE OPPOSITION Nor did the opposition to Nazism—the active, heroic opposition—come only from the left...

Herbork Comes Home

At any rate, before he had time to spend his prize money, the army picked up first Herb Block and sent him out to take a first-hand look at the scenes he had created on his drawing board...

Herbork cartoons never translate satisfactorily into words, and there is nothing in the foregoing to give you any idea why the Pulitzer Prize Committee singled out 'British Plans' for that year's award...

The Legion's Tartar

National Commander John Stelle of the American Legion seems to have caught himself quite a tartar. A couple of Legion-tamed Congressmen arose to support his ill-considered blast at General Omar Bradley...

Partisan though it may be, there seems to be a good deal to the AMVETS charge that Commander Stelle was 'trying to smear Bradley in order to regain the Legion's lost control over VA'...

Between World War I and World War II the Legion exerted a tremendous influence in veterans affairs, formed a pressure bloc in Washington capable of shoving Congress around...

Commander Stelle produced no proof to support his charge that General Bradley's administration was 'bumbling and inefficient.' Instead, his letter to Congress stands as further evidence that the General has embarked upon the right course...

The Great Discovery

Are you intellectually fit? Is your brain bursting with cerebral energy? Are your cells in the pink? We thought not, and it's all because you didn't know that centella asiatica grows in wild profusion in the swamps of North Carolina...

The professor's discovery opens a fascinating vista. The day will soon come when every North Carolinian starts coming over to the swamps to see the little hydrocystite...

And at last we have an antidote to that vicious propaganda South Carolinians have been spreading for years—that business about the iodine content in their vegetables...

From The Des Moines Register:

An Editor's Troubles

Does it consider us children, that you mustn't know the truth, if it is unpleasant? See how we could have dealt with this growing menace, and perhaps forestalled the tragedy that has now occurred...
