Where Did Those Billions Go?

Even though it has been cheapened by... the special legislative investigation committee...

the war effort. But there was a full quota of venal opportunists, sharp promoters...

Indeed, a complete and thorough investigation of all contracts should be undertaken in justice to those legitimate manufacturers...

After all, war profits, legitimate and otherwise, came directly out of public funds...

The Beer Trade Stays In Line

THE North Carolina Committee of the United States Brewers Foundation has released another annual report...

case the Committee investigated, and in many it acted.

Once the Committee even threatened to cut off the beer supply of an entire county unless local retailers cleaned up their establishments...

Field representatives of the Committee conducted 9,636 inspections of retail establishments in the 98 North Carolina counties where beer is sold.

Undue Influence In The Senate

WHEN a group of high school girls clad in shorts sought admission to the galleries of the United States Senate...

the opinion that shorts for youngsters of school-age should be allowed, while older women should be more sedately garbed.

It seems to us Mr. Doxey has approached this grave problem from the wrong angle. It is not the shorts that are the issue...

Mr. Doxey was absolutely justified in his attitude as far as the Senate galleries are concerned. Whether they are admitted or not, they are distracting.

Another Voice

POLITICAL endorsements by newspapers nowadays are much more rare than in the period of personal journalism when editors heaved off savagely to a party...

of being in that stage which precedes a renaissance. In a few years she may symbolize progress in the Union, as Wisconsin, North Carolina and Georgia under North.

It has possessed North Carolina for a generation, and Kentucky is not alone among the Southern states in welcoming the man who will dawn of political and economic renaissance.

Drew Pearson's Surplus Boats Will Merry-Go-Round House College Vets

VETERANS who go to college will be living in houseboats if a plan by Gen. Graves Erskine, chief of the Labor Department's retraining and reemployment administration, is adopted.

The Presidential hunchers then looked at the new secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder. He is the Cabinet secretary who would have worked closely with the new Director of the Budget...

Snyder, Parton did not add what he told others that he could not work with John Snyder. So, since Snyder and the Director of the Budget declined on the ground that he had to undergo an operation...

In order to alleviate housing problems for war veterans at colleges and universities, General Erskine has persuaded the Maritime Commission to provide surplus river boats for colleges in waterfront cities.

Parton told the President that he thought the job of Full Employment, Chairman and Director of the Budget should be rolled into one. If the Committee is taking Full Employment to the Government, he said, they should across the Bureau of the Budget, and the two jobs must go hand in hand.
