Peaschland Bank Banit Gets 5-Year Sentence

17-Year-Old Belk Admits Taking Part In Robbery

Webb Imposes Prison Term

Robert Dillon Belk, 17-year-old confessed robber of the Bank of Peaschland, today was sentenced by Federal District Judge E. Yates Webb to fifteen years imprisonment.

A black, curly haired youth of medium height, Belk took the stand to describe how he and his companion, Walter Hammond, 16, entered the bank on the night of Sunday, Sept. 21, 1946 at the point of a gun. His companion was accidentally shot when the pistol he was holding in his hand discharged.

Belk told the court that Miss O. Redfern, the bank cashier, started screaming when he and Hammond walked in the bank. After asking her to stop screaming he testified that he shot her in the back with the pistol and that he fired, the bullet hitting Hammond.

He said that he gave all the money to Hammond and that he did not return to the bank until a cent of the money he had taken. Leaving Peaschland he went to the bank of his father, the First National Bank, after visiting his wife. He told the court that he had been married in February and wished to see his wife before surrendering to police.

Judge Webb sentenced Belk to be imprisoned in an institution for 15 years, with the possibility of parole after 10 years. General U. S. Marshals then led him from the courtroom.

LENIENTY BOUGHT

The youthful defendant was not represented by counsel. He was brought in to court and Judge Webb asked Judge Martin F. Reed of the Domestic Relations Court, to serve as his attorney. Judge Reed said he had no objection to the defendant and brought out the fact that the youth had not been charged with any other crimes.

He said that he had been charged with a charge involving a check some time ago but had never been in any trouble.

In sentencing the youth, Judge Webb remarked that he was not giving him the full penalty of the law on the basis of his youth. He said that if he had been several years older he would have sentenced him to 25 years in prison.

The case was prosecuted by U. S. District Attorney D. E. Henderson who remarked that the boy had stolen an automobile and driven it to Charlotte where he had the robbery took place. These charges will be dropped, he said.

POSSIBLE FREE LAXER
Mr. Henderson said that the Hammond youth, who was sixteen years old, is in a position to give reliable testimony. He said that the boy had been suffering from his wounds and would be able to give testimony at the trial.

Barney Watts, his son Barney Calvin Watts both of Charlotte, N. C., were charged with the robbery. They were charged with the robbery of the bank of Peaschland, N. C., on the night of Sunday, Sept. 21, 1946.

Today for the break-in and robbery of the bank of Peaschland, N. C., on the night of Sunday, Sept. 21, 1946, the case was heard by Judge Webb.

The trial began yesterday at 10 o'clock and was expected to be concluded late this afternoon.

The "Mr. Moore" break-in occurred on the week-end of Aug. 9-10 and the Boyer City break-in occurred on the night of Aug. 11-12. The case was tried some time ago by City police officers who found a complete set of tools in the car belonging to the defendant.

Vicious Attack

Red Writer Charges Pope Stirring War

MOSCOW—(AP)—Soviet Author Boris Kandiakov, writing in the Literary Gazette, accused Pope Pius XII today of "entirely and openly calling for war against the Soviet Union." The writer said the Pope once had helped the Germans to prepare an invasion of Iraqy Albin (England) and clean for the Japanese the road to Pearl Harbor. Now, he said, the Pontiff is preparing "sound and lighting effects" for an Encyclical which will declare Communism to be declared "the heresy of current times."

The three-column article ridiculed the Pope and President Truman. It said the Pope was an ally seeking "by every means to assist the aggressive policy of American monopolies."

He termed Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, the "agent of American monopolies." He said the Pope had entrusted to the American Cardinal the task of leading the Catholic Church in Spain and Schuster of Milan, the task of giving the (ecumenical) council the proper building."

(The Literary Gazette recently has carried bitter attacks on President Truman, Winston Churchill and other Western leaders.)

"Has Harry Truman lost faith in his own strength?" the article asked. "Why, otherwise, should he strengthen the armed forces of the United States by an alliance with the Vatican?"

"Does anyone really have the intention of invading Vatican City, and do 800 Swiss guards really not put their hopes in the sharpness of their pipes and the blinding strength of their plumes and capes?"

The article said the more openly the Pope adds to the instigators of war, the sooner would millions of Roman Catholics reject their "naive and blind faith."

Farm Groups Pledge Full Cooperation

Back World Food Program

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Leaders of three major farm organizations today pledged President Truman "100 per cent co-operation" in the drive to save food at home in order to feed hungry Europeans.

The pledge of co-operation was extended to Mr. Truman by Albert G. Ross, master of the National Grange; Charles E. Nelson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; and Quentin R. Boeschee, president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

They called at the White House to tell the President that their organizations will make "an all-out effort" to meet the critical world food situation.

After conferring with the President, the farm leaders issued a statement which pledged:

1. Conservation of grain supplies by feeding more livestock in areas of abundant supply.

2. Marketing of hogs at light weight to conserve corn.

3. Feeding of less grain to beef cattle.

4. Culling of non-productive dairy herds and poultry flocks.

5. Elimination of feed grain losses by careful harvesting and storage.

O'Neal told reporters that Mr. Truman's "pledge of cooperation" was a "great step in the right direction."

"We are getting behind this food program 100 per cent," Goss said.

The Citizens Food Committee, headed up the food conservation campaign, prepared a formal request for the voluntary saving of food for future delivery and the distillation of meat, poultry and eggs.

Charles Luckman, chairman of the Citizens Food Committee, arranged to meet with approximately 125 top officials of the liquor industry to discuss the proposed shut-down of the distillation of meat, poultry and eggs.

Declaring that women are "deeply responsible" for the food situation, Luckman said in a statement that it "is getting the wholehearted support of the majority of Americans."

He listed scores of organizations which have pledged co-operation. The group announced it has no intention of cutting down on use of meat, flour, eggs and fats in feeding troops, but will cut down on the use of meatless and one eggless day a week.

Then came a list of the president of the United States and the president of the United States.

Fiery Debate Kills Chance Of Solving Differences

U. S. And Russia Still At Odds

By EDWARD E. ROMAN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A fiery round of general debate over the explosive Balkan issue brought the United Nations Assembly's political committee to a deadlock today, to a showdown choice between the United States and Soviet Russia.

The immediate issue before the committee was a resolution to a decision between two belligerent proposals for dealing with the quarrel between American-supported Greece and her Soviet-backed Balkan neighbors:

1. The American resolution charged Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia with aggression and called for a new belligerent force to take the place of the defeated Balkan investigating commission and the Security Council.

2. Russia's demand that foreign troops be withdrawn from Greece and that U. N. intervention be set up to make sure that any armistice is a "free" one.

Some delegates thought the decision should be reached by the end of the week-end, but the Balkan dispute promised to continue through most of the week-end, and the session. The Assembly itself must make the final decision by a two-thirds vote after the committee has acted.

COMPROMISE REJECTED
First up for consideration was a French and American proposal which would remove some of the sting from the American resolution by striking out the accusation against Greece's
