

Boy Wizard Tries Comeback Are Flying Saucers A Tom Swift Joke?

By HAL BOYLE

It must be Tom Swift. Yes, you may think it is but Tom Swift, flying those flying saucers around?

You remember Tom, the all-American boy inventor. He took up where Thomas Edison left off. The Horatio Alger heroes were scheming opportunists, the Rover boys were juvenile hoboos, and Frank Merriwell was a tramp athlete compared to Tom Swift, the dedicated youthful scientist.

A generation ago he was the fictional hero of every near-sighted lad whose scrawny frame compelled him to believe in the power of brain over brawn. How they loved to read about Tom Swift and his motorcyclo, Tom Swift and his glider, Tom Swift and his submarine, Tom Swift and his flying machine, Tom Swift and his pogo stick.

Well, sometime after the end of the first World War, as best I can recall, his fans lost interest in Tom and his fantastic contraptions and began reading Ernest Hemingway and Faith Baldwin. They had learned about love, and found it more fascinating than anything Tom Swift ever had invented.

Heartbroken, Tom dropped from sight. What happened to him? It is my belief that all these years he has been secretly perfecting flying saucers, hoping with this crowning scientific achievement to win his old fans back.

NATURALLY, he will turn his invention over to the American government, as he did with all his earlier inventions. Right now, he's just having a little fun with the thing.

Some of these days, a tall, elderly man, not unhandsome despite his graying temples, will stride into Air Force headquarters in the Pentagon, lay a bundle of blueprints on the desk and say: "Here are the plans for my flying saucers. I give them to you as a patriotic service."

"And who are you?" will ask the chairborne eagle.

"Just Tom Swift," will come the firm but modest reply.

I hate to think what will happen. Three Air Force cops could hit him from three sides and cart him off to a psychopathic ward, as the fine old inventor yells, "I am, too, Tom Swift! I am! I am!"

And that will be the end of Tom Swift and his flying saucers.

THIS WILL eliminate one of the two major problems facing the Air Force today. One of these problems is its inability to catch a flying saucer its pilots can see but don't believe in. The other is the problem in Korea: Its inability to put up a plane that will enable its pilots to close in on a Russian MIG-15 they can see and believe in—but can't catch.

The reason I believe that the flying saucers are a Tom Swift invention is that I can't understand the Air Force's attitude toward them. It has checked some 2,000 reported sightings of "flying saucers" in the last year—25 per cent by military pilots—and says 1,600 of them can be explained as optical illusions caused by weather conditions. Some 400 cases are still left unexplained, but the Air Force says it sees in them no pattern inimical to the United States.

What puzzles me is why, with all the thousands of American airmen in the sky in the last World War, no flying saucers were reported before 1947. Were optical illusions and weather changes invented in 1947?

Nope, I still believe there is something besides illusion to it all. If it isn't Tom Swift, then some other inventor is fooling around up there—maybe Jules Verne.

This is one other possible explanation. I heard one small girl tell it to another.

"Of course, there aren't any flying saucers," she said. "They're just like Santa Claus and the Easter bunny—it's your father and mother, all the time."

2 Red Spies Given Life Sentences

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP)—Two men charged with being the principal members of a Communist spy ring that operated for Russia were sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor today.

A Stockholm court sentenced four other defendants to terms ranging from eight months to seven years. A seventh person was found innocent.

The life sentences were imposed on Fritiof Enbom, former Communist newspaperman and alleged leader of the ring, and Hugo Gjerwald, his most important agent.

Enbom also was ordered to pay the Swedish government 10,000 kronas, about $2,000, which he was said to have collected from the Russians for 10 years of espionage.

C.I.O. 'Unencouraged' By GOP Platform

The C.I.O.'s New York State chairman, Louis Hollander, says there is nothing in the Republican national platform "to give us any encouragement."

Reporting on a political action meeting of state C.I.O. leaders yesterday, Hollander said "there was no Republican sentiment at all."

The meeting was closed to the press, and Hollander told newsmen later what went on.

The conferees, he said, expressed no preferences regarding candidates or platforms. Formal endorsement of a presidential ticket was postponed until next week.

NEWCASTLE, N. H. (UP)—Before the 1948 elections, guests at luxurious Wentworth-by-the-Sea cost 183 star ballots for Thomas E. Dewey and eight for President Truman. This year they balloted 198 for Dwight D. Eisenhower and 18 for Governor Adlai Stevenson indicating that 26 more guests were registered than four years ago.

Due in Spring Sewer System Promised for Robinwood

One of North Queens oldest and better cesspool communities will have sewers by the time another year rolls around.

Robinwood, campaigning for sanitary drains to rid itself of septic tanks for more than five years, has been informed by Borough Hall in Kew Gardens that all red tape should be cleared away and work actually started by next spring.

The job of laying the network of pipes in the area bounded by Utopia parkway, Belt parkway, 162nd street and 12th avenue, it was indicated, should require only a matter of months.

BERNARD ENGEL, president of the Robinwood Property Owners Association, said the news from Martin Nelson of Forest Hills, borough sewer engineer, was "all good," even though it did presage more waiting.

"I guess it takes time to plan and authorize such improvements," he said, "and I suppose you just have to wait."

He and Ben Cooper, sewer chairman, made it plain the association isn't going to take a chance on any change in the timetable.

Cooper said a special crew of draftsmen has been at work on the blueprints at Borough Hall, and when they're referred to the chief engineer's office by the Board of Estimate within the next few weeks there'll be more action.

IT WILL COME in the form of a postcard campaign urging the engineering office to expedite approval before the end of this year.

Engel also announced that Borough President Lundy's office has acceded to an association plea to request the City Planning Commission to reconsider a petition for rezoning an eight-acre area adjoining Robinwood to bar construction of tall apartments.

The commission earlier this year rejected a civic bid for the zoning change and hasn't been heard from since. The vacant land is east of 162nd street in the vicinity of 9th avenue.

Steel Wage-Price Hike May Cause Inflation

The wage-price boost in steel—-it follows past patterns—will in time fan out through other industries. And a new twist to the inflationary spiral will be under way.

But many feel today that the ultimate boost to the general cost of living will be delayed this time, and also toned down.

They reason that the loss of buying power felt by nearly two million workers who were made idle at one time or another during the strike will act as a brake on inflation. In other words, a lot of people will be out of the market for goods for a while yet, because they are short of cash.

Those who argue that inflation—although perhaps a mild one—is certain also contend that manufacturers' cost are likely to go up again.

They believe the steel wage-price hike is bound to spread to other industries and cause a general rise in the cost of materials and labor.

With many industries not far above their break-even point now, any rise in costs will be passed along in higher prices to consumers.

It's still a buyer's market, however, in many things. The effects of the strike haven't shown up yet in retail stores. Customers see plenty of everything they want around.

It will only be later this year that any shortages could appear—and then only if civilian goods makers have to close down later for lack of steel or other materials.

If shortages should show up, consumer psychology could change quickly.

And that would be the real pressure for inflation which some think is in the cards by the end of the year.

Rites Tomorrow Edward Wicks Dead at 99

Edward Wicks, 99, of 55 State street, Valley Stream, a former resident of Flushing, died yesterday in a Long Island hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services for Mr. Wicks will be conducted by the Rev. Robert Metzger, pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Corona in the Hallett chapel at 36-08 17th street, Flushing, at 2 P. M. tomorrow. Burial will be in Cedar Grove cemetery, Flushing, under the direction of the Lake chapel at 103-26 Roosevelt avenue, Corona.

Born in 1853 in Birmingham, England, Mrs. Wicks traveled to Canada with her parents at the age of 14. He came to the United States at the age of 18 and settled in Brooklyn. He moved to Corona in 1894 and lived in Queens for 55 years before moving to Valley Stream this February after his third wife's death.

Wicks retired 26 years ago from his trade of electroplating and metal-polishing. In his many years in this work, Wicks has helped to make the reflector on the Sandy Hook beacon in New York Harbor, in 1888 he helped to put together parts of the Statue of Liberty.

Wicks served as a bugler boy in the Wellington Field Rifles of the Royal Canadian Army at the age of 14 and soon became a rifleman. He saw action in Canada in 1869, helping to defeat a revolt against the Canadian government.

His wife, the former Mrs. Catherine Morgan, whom he married at the age of 71, died this February. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Celeste Eisenzapf of Valley Stream; four sons, William, Arthur, Harold and Edward, and 18 grandchildren.
