DEATH STRUGGLE

JOHN L. LEWIS is trumpeting loudly about his success at persuading a handful of small, independent companies to sign the excellent new contract... Mr. Lewis offers tempting bait. This is the peak coal consumption period of the year...

ROAD COMMISSION HARMONY

THE increasingly harmonious progress of the Municipal Roads Commission toward a more equitable division of State highway money between rural and urban areas...

THE POT AND THE KETTLE

ALTHOUGH we are inclined to agree with Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr. that the American Medical Association's compulsory $25 annual assessment is a questionable way to finance its battle against Federal compulsory health insurance...

THAT THREE-DAY WEEK

THE Dayton Daily News has revived an old conversation piece, the one about leisure time. While viewing with alarm the inconvenience imposed upon the nation by John L. Lewis' proclamation that his miners are going to work but three days a week...

at present prices. The industry is suffering from competition from other fuels, and serious losses are being incurred. If producers could cut production costs and bring about greater mechanization, they could meet competition on more even terms...

People's Platform

THE Good Book says—that to the ant the sluggard he should go not; and while he would, himself, it pays. And now the laborer bent and gray, But has a place in which to stay...

Landlord's Lament

THE landlord struggles on his way A burdened person stands in self-possessed pride. Nobody knows and none to care The persecution he must bear.

Two Interesting Names

THE Congressman from Oklahoma has two interesting names on his pay roll: 1. James W. Taylor who does not work in the Congressman's office at all, but is a salesman for the Hard Equipment Co. of Oklahoma City...

A Penny For Your Thoughts, Ike

Magnolias Will Bloom Again

THE Good Book says—that to the ant the sluggard he should go not; and while he would, himself, it pays. And now the laborer bent and gray, But has a place in which to stay...

New Atom Policy

WASHINGTON BEHIND the bland, business-as-usual facade of the Atomic Energy Administration, some relatively serious soul-searching is going on about American atomic policy. The committee of the Atomic Energy Commission have earnestly urged the desirability of looking at the whole problem of international cooperation...

Robert C. Ruark

Corner On The Market I HAVE been studying modern music lately—modern music being approximately "Miles Davis" and "Miles Train" and the other half pop and old-timey...

Newspapers Praised

AT THE recent annual meeting of the Carolina Motor Club board of directors an important resolution was adopted...

Tenants Pay The Taxes

THE statement made by Mr. Paul Outberry at a recent rent control meeting that "real estate taxes are being paid by the tenants" is a gross misstatement...

Drew Pearson's Merry-Ground Justice Dept. Should Check Pay Roll

NOW that the case of Congressman Parnell Thomas has been disposed of, the Justice Dept. might take a look at the Congressman, this is a Democrat, who is the Wickham of Mangum, Okla., a likable gentleman, with considerable skill at manipulating the Congressional pay roll...

Father Runs Elevator

CONGRESSMAN WICKHAM, despite this diversion of attention, is too thrifty to support his 73-year-old father, Frank Wickham, but got him a job in the elevator of the construction office in the Capitol building...
