

THOMAS L. ROBINSON, Publisher; J. R. DOWD, General Manager; R. S. GRIFFITH, Executive Editor; C. A. MCKNIGHT, Editor

FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1949

ROAD PROGRAM COMPROMISE

At the moment, it appears that the only way the people of North Carolina will get a chance to vote for or against Governor Scott's $200 million rural road bond issue is for the House of Representatives to accept the Senate view that a one-cent gas tax increase will not take effect until the bond issue carries.

DIVIDED AT THE TOP

The American people have been hearing, almost constantly, the frenzied multi-billion dollar cost of the armed services. They have done so because they have been told by their leaders that our security is threatened, and that military strength is the only way we can protect that security.

MARK EDGAR SENTELLE

No other Davidson man of modern times inspired quite the mixed awe and admiration among students as Dr. Mark Edgar Sentelle, the former dean of students and Bible professor, whose quiet voice and dignified courtesy tempered with an opening in the discipline it was his duty to enforce.

A CITY . . . PROUD AND STRONG

It was the news the other day that there was a story about an old man who was in love with the Brooklyn Bridge. Year after year he has as a part of his regular routine a crew, walks over its girders and bench trucks of ice from its cables.

STRIKE BADLY TIMED

It would seem that the AFL pressmen and stereotypes in Washington, D. C. would have picked some other time to stage a strike and shut down the Capital newspapers.

tax increase together, the latter being contingent upon the approval of the former. The news has contended that it is the policy for the Legislature to start submitting tax proposals to the people, as it would be doing indirectly in this case; that the extra gasoline tax is a need of either or the bond issue is approved; and that tying the two together might be the basic question—Shall the State adopt deficit financing to pay for a vast new extension of road responsibility?

People's Platform

Secretary Royal and Air Secretary Symington have selected a poor time for the House to consider the bill. In the House the proponents of a big Navy and the backers of a big Air Force square off and shout at each other in hot anger.

Would Delay Park Bond Vote

It would seem that our City Administration and Park Commission have selected a poor time for the citizens of Charlotte to vote the million dollar bond issue for purchase and development of new parks for the city.

More About Throckmorton

Usually, I stop reading the editorial page of your newspaper when I reach the editorial that deals with Drew Pearson's column, but my eye was attracted by that unusual heading in your issue of the 12th.

Rumbles Of Revolt

At a dinner meeting with North and South newspaper Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumors of 'retaliation' against Southern capitalists.

Spring Fever Hits The Farm

People's Platform

Would Delay Park Bond Vote

was successful—but not until 1786, when Madison was able to carry part of the Jeffersonian program through the Congress.

Inquiry Answered

THANK you for your article on the editorial page (April 9) in answer to my letter of April 6.

Quote, Unquote

GERMANTOWN'S city manager, C. C. Burford, reveals that a new truck has been bought to serve both as a fire-fighting machine and a garbage-patcher.

More About Throckmorton

Usually, I stop reading the editorial page of your newspaper when I reach the editorial that deals with Drew Pearson's column, but my eye was attracted by that unusual heading in your issue of the 12th.

Drew Pearson's Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON talks about the boys heading a "new" slogan behind the ten-day Easter recess of the House, beginning today.

Rumbles Of Revolt

At a dinner meeting with North and South newspaper Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumors of 'retaliation' against Southern capitalists.

Marquis Childs

Assurance Vs. Uncertainty

WASHINGTON At THE TIME of the signing of the pact, the Senate was in debate on the Senate floor, no one would be rash enough to prophesy the number or devotedness of the Senate.

James Marlow

WASHINGTON Just keep everything free of control, the old economist used to say, everything will work out dandy.

Inquiry Answered

THANK you for your article on the editorial page (April 9) in answer to my letter of April 6.

Quote, Unquote

GERMANTOWN'S city manager, C. C. Burford, reveals that a new truck has been bought to serve both as a fire-fighting machine and a garbage-patcher.

More About Throckmorton

Usually, I stop reading the editorial page of your newspaper when I reach the editorial that deals with Drew Pearson's column, but my eye was attracted by that unusual heading in your issue of the 12th.

Drew Pearson's Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON talks about the boys heading a "new" slogan behind the ten-day Easter recess of the House, beginning today.

Rumbles Of Revolt

At a dinner meeting with North and South newspaper Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumors of 'retaliation' against Southern capitalists.

Marquis Childs

Assurance Vs. Uncertainty

WASHINGTON At THE TIME of the signing of the pact, the Senate was in debate on the Senate floor, no one would be rash enough to prophesy the number or devotedness of the Senate.

James Marlow

WASHINGTON Just keep everything free of control, the old economist used to say, everything will work out dandy.

Inquiry Answered

THANK you for your article on the editorial page (April 9) in answer to my letter of April 6.

Quote, Unquote

GERMANTOWN'S city manager, C. C. Burford, reveals that a new truck has been bought to serve both as a fire-fighting machine and a garbage-patcher.

More About Throckmorton

Usually, I stop reading the editorial page of your newspaper when I reach the editorial that deals with Drew Pearson's column, but my eye was attracted by that unusual heading in your issue of the 12th.

Drew Pearson's Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON talks about the boys heading a "new" slogan behind the ten-day Easter recess of the House, beginning today.

Rumbles Of Revolt

At a dinner meeting with North and South newspaper Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumors of 'retaliation' against Southern capitalists.

hands of political adventurers at the right of the left. When called to debate on the Senate floor, no one would be rash enough to prophesy the number or devotedness of the Senate. It was a curious conversation. Some sincere opponents, such as Senator Donald of Missouri, would not be so sure that they would not be expounded their uncertainty as to whether the pact would be a mental provision of the Constitution. Some Senators have been "bought" by the certain isolationists of the type, Sen. William Langer of North Dakota will exploit the familiar theme of the "isolationist" leaning on the United States. Much of this oratory will be tailor-made for the Soviet propaganda machine broadcast at Western European ports. Secretary Acheson has made an effort to prepare the statutory powers for this performance. But, however, in view of his delicate role as negotiator and maintainer of strength and encouragement, he cannot be able to do this is questionable. Some Senators have been "bought" by the certain isolationists of the type, Sen. William Langer of North Dakota will exploit the familiar theme of the "isolationist" leaning on the United States. Much of this oratory will be tailor-made for the Soviet propaganda machine broadcast at Western European ports. Secretary Acheson has made an effort to prepare the statutory powers for this performance. But, however, in view of his delicate role as negotiator and maintainer of strength and encouragement, he cannot be able to do this is questionable. Some Senators have been "bought" by the certain isolationists of the type, Sen. William Langer of North Dakota will exploit the familiar theme of the "isolationist" leaning on the United States. Much of this oratory will be tailor-made for the Soviet propaganda machine broadcast at Western European ports. Secretary Acheson has made an effort to prepare the statutory powers for this performance. But, however, in view of his delicate role as negotiator and maintainer of strength and encouragement, he cannot be able to do this is questionable.