

Temple titles seem to run in the family, and the monopolists' story of the U. S. Roadways on the inside cover by Sports Writer Martin Green on Page 4-B today.

ESTABLISHED DEC. 8, 1888

Largest Afternoon Newspaper in The Carolinas

CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA, TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1949

24 Pages—Price Five Cents

THE CAROLINA NEWS

Union Rejects Ford Request To Reopen Plants

GERMANS BACK AT PLS

Firm Asks Strikers To Begin Work

Only Two Units Would Be Closed

DETROIT (AP) — The CIO Auto Workers to date flatly refused a Ford Motor Co. request for re-opening of all strike-bound Ford operations except in two buildings directly involved in the speed-up dispute.

Emil Massey, UAW secretary-treasurer, issued a statement today as "fantastic" the company's proposal that the strike be lifted everywhere except in the Lincoln-Mercury plant here and the "B" building housing assembly operations at Ford's Big River Rouge plant.

"It obviously is not acceptable to the union," Massey declared.

"The Ford proposal is merely a variation of the old employer trick of divide and rule—an attempt to divide Ford workers who have a problem from workers who are supporting them."

Massey's statement came as direct company-union negotiations were resumed under a 10 A. M. tomorrow at the request of Massey.

About 65,000 Ford workers walked out nearly two weeks ago and some 100,000 more have been indirectly as a result of the strike.

TALKS RESUMED

The UAW handed the proposal to the union as another in a long series of negotiations since the strike began.

The company said the UAW had threatened only a "speed-up" in the Rouge building and the Lincoln plant, employing together less than 10 percent of the total Ford workforce.

Ford said union acceptance of the proposal would have the following effects:

1. Result of about 72,000 workers in the Detroit area beginning at once.
2. Result of about 35,000 in the Ford assembly plants outside of Detroit as soon as parts could be supplied from the Lincoln plant.
3. Put back to work thousands of employees of supplier firms and of Ford dealers throughout the country.

"We realize," said Ford, "that our proposal is unusual and perhaps without precedent. But we believe that it offers a sincere deal to all parties directly or indirectly involved in this strike."

"As far as we are concerned, it will be no way prejudicial to either side or we have taken in current negotiations, which we are determined to continue until settlement can be achieved."

Ford asked the union's "careful consideration" of the proposal "in the hope that we can relieve quickly as much distress as possible in the current situation."

The Ford proposal was handed to the UAW's negotiating team. Federal mediator conferred with the two sides preparatory to joining them in a conference today.

Arthur C. Viat, Detroit regional director of the CIO, said the union conferred this morning with two officials of the union and said he would later meet with John S. Bugas, Ford vice-president.

But Viat was not present when Bugas and company representatives met for the seventh day at the conference table negotiations to seek a solution to the dispute over assembly line speed.

Viat, acting on authority of Federal Mediation Director Cyrus E. Taylor, said that the union's secretary-treasurer, and the union's national Ford director, Ken Bennett, for an "expressed" conference this morning.

"The situation was presented by the union," Viat said. "I am attempting to arrange a conference with the Ford management."

Once Over Lightly

BY WALTER BRIDGEMAN

Looks like most of the important things are going on when folks come in to see. It's funny to look at people who think that they all started out weighing about the same.

GEN. CLAY

The citation read for the President: "For services of supreme value to his country and to humanity." Mr. Truman awarded Clay a second Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of third Distinguished Service Medal.

The citation read for the President: "For services of supreme value to his country and to humanity." Mr. Truman awarded Clay a second Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of third Distinguished Service Medal.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY

BY WALTER BRIDGEMAN

Looks like most of the important things are going on when folks come in to see. It's funny to look at people who think that they all started out weighing about the same.

Governor Takes Issue With The News

Scott Says Cities Will Benefit

RALEIGH (AP) — City folks in Raleigh, N. C., themselves off from the country in opposing his rural road program, Governor Scott said today.

Cities, as well as rural areas, are dependent on good roads in the country, he told a news conference. Charlotte was specifically in question.

His remarks followed a newspaper's query about Charlotte newspaper articles saying that Mecklenburg County would be called on to put out more in helping pay proposed road and school bond issues than it would get out of them.

"I don't quite see how they figure that," the Governor said. "I just let them have some money out of the July highway appropriation to finish up a project right through Charlotte."

The city, he went on, shouldn't take the position that it could build a wall around itself.

"What makes Charlotte is the back country," he said. "They can't take that position and be fair on it."

Charlotte depends on rural roads, he declared, both to get buyers into the city and to get goods and services in and out of the city.

He said he will be in Charlotte next Monday in his campaign for the bond issues.

Truman Withdraws Wallgren's Name

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman today withdrew the name of William Wallgren from his nomination to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

The President withdrew the nomination at the request of Wallgren, former governor of Washington.

At the same time he withdrew the nomination of Edwin P. Wallace, his warm personal friend and former associate in the Senate.

"I want you to know that my faith in you is undiminished," the President said to Wallgren.

Wallgren was named as chairman of the board by the Senate Armed Services Committee under a procedure which did not permit a vote on confirmation by the entire Senate. Senator Byrd (D-Va.) had the only Democratic vote against Wallgren in committee, securing a 60-40 vote for the nomination.

There was no immediate indication whether the President might name Wallgren for some other post which would not require Senate confirmation.

Wallgren had been permitted to have the whole Senate, the nomination would have been confirmed.

Hero's Welcome Greet Gen. Clay In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retiring American military commander in Germany, returned home today and was received from President Truman a decorated hero's welcome.

In the crowd were diplomats, the cabinet, members of the Senate and House, and representatives of the press.

The plane bringing him and Mrs. Clay from Berlin landed at the Andrews Airport at 9:13 A. M. (EST).

Secretary of Defense Louis C. Johnson told him: "I am here for the President, the members of the armed forces, and more importantly, for the American people to thank you for a job well done. We came to you back for a well-earned rest, God bless you and keep you."

Clay told the Secretary that he was "overwhelmed by this reception and I am grateful indeed from the bottom of my heart."

The Army, Navy, Marines, and Air Force each had a company of troops drawn up as an honor guard. A 17-gun salute was fired. About 100,000 people were welcome at the Capitol where he was to address the House this afternoon.

On the other side of the Capitol, the Senate had before it President Truman's recommendation that Clay wind up his 31-year Army career with his temporary rank of full general made permanent.

BULLETIN

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The United States Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the District Court opinion allowing segregation in the South Carolina Democratic primaries.

In an opinion written by Senior Judge J. H. Scales, the appellate court confirmed an opinion of the District Court, Judge J. H. Scales, Jr., of the Charleston, S. C. District Court. Judge Maurice A. Ransaw, of the same district, concurred in Judge Scales' opinion.

The citation read for the President: "For services of supreme value to his country and to humanity." Mr. Truman awarded Clay a second Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of third Distinguished Service Medal.

The citation read for the President: "For services of supreme value to his country and to humanity." Mr. Truman awarded Clay a second Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of third Distinguished Service Medal.

AEC Asked To Explain Aid To Red

Senators To Hear Hans Freistadt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wy.) demanded today that Atomic Energy Officials explain how Government funds could be used to train a "Known Communist" when Congress barred this in voting funds for the agency.

O'Mahoney is chairman of a Senate appropriations subcommittee now holding public hearings on more than $1,000,000 funds already voted by the House for the atomic energy operations in the twelve months beginning July 1.

He wrote Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy Commission, asking that he and other officials appear before the subcommittee to explain the matter fully.

O'Mahoney made public his letter. It mentioned Hans Freistadt, 22-year-old University of North Carolina student, and admitted Communist, who has a $1,000 a year fellowship from the AEC.

The Senate House Atomic Energy Committee already is inquiring into the case of Freistadt. This group heard from Dr. Delmar W. Brown, president of the National Research Council, which administers the fellowship program for the AEC. Brown submitted a plan for closer checks on the qualifications of persons admitted to the fellowship.

FREISTADT TO APPEAR

Freistadt is to appear before the atomic group tomorrow.

O'Mahoney in his letter to Lilienthal asked that the AEC provide for the atomic agency carries a so-called loyalty rider. The rider bars use of any person "who is a member of an organization which advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or fraud."

Officials who violate this provision are subject to a fine of $1,000 and a year in jail if convicted.

"Inasmuch as fellows selected by the National Research Council for work on Atomic Energy Commission projects are paid by funds appropriated to the commission," O'Mahoney wrote Lilienthal, "it is imperative that the AEC enforce this provision of law every such case."

See SENATORS on page 11-A

Scott's Reference To Articles In News

Gov. Scott evidently referred to two articles which appeared on the front pages of The Charlotte News last Thursday and Friday.

Explaining how Mecklenburg County would share and pay if the road bond issue and the school building bond issue are approved on June 4, The News cited these figures:

Mecklenburg would get $21,700 of the school bond money, but would pay a total of about $12,000, 000 over a period of twenty years as its share of the bond issue payment.

In saying that he had just let Charlotte have some money for a highway through the city, the Governor obviously referred to a State appropriation to help complete Independence Blvd. That appropriation amounted to $185,000.

Eisler Bond Is Forfeited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $20,000 bond posted by Communist Party leader Earl Browder today was declared forfeited by the U. S. District Court here.

At the same time the court issued a bench warrant for Eisler's arrest, as a person ineligible for Federal freedom on bail while the government is pending the actions in the trial of Browder and his associates.

The Government plans to use the trial of Browder and his associates as a test case for the application of the Espionage Act in getting Eisler extradited from England, where he fled as a Communist Party leader.

U. S. District Judge James W. Morris entered the orders in the local court in response to a series of motions offered by the United States Attorney General, William H. Taft, Jr., for the District of Columbia.

Browder was indicted in the two criminal cases in 1947. Judge Morris was the presiding judge then.

The trial resulted sentences of one year and $5,000 fine for conspiracy of Congress and one to three years and $5,000 fine for conspiracy of Congress.

Browder was indicted in the two criminal cases in 1947. Judge Morris was the presiding judge then.

The trial resulted sentences of one year and $5,000 fine for conspiracy of Congress and one to three years and $5,000 fine for conspiracy of Congress.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

HE CAN'T BELIEVE IT

Fraser Townsend, a Duke student from Winchester, England, still finds it hard to pass a grocery store window without studying the contents. He was in Charlotte today talking to the local Rotary club about his impressions of this country, and also found time to eat ice cream and see the city.

He wrote Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy Commission, asking that he and other officials appear before the subcommittee to explain the matter fully.

O'Mahoney made public his letter. It mentioned Hans Freistadt, 22-year-old University of North Carolina student, and admitted Communist, who has a $1,000 a year fellowship from the AEC.

The Senate House Atomic Energy Committee already is inquiring into the case of Freistadt. This group heard from Dr. Delmar W. Brown, president of the National Research Council, which administers the fellowship program for the AEC. Brown submitted a plan for closer checks on the qualifications of persons admitted to the fellowship.

FREISTADT TO APPEAR

Freistadt is to appear before the atomic group tomorrow.

O'Mahoney in his letter to Lilienthal asked that the AEC provide for the atomic agency carries a so-called loyalty rider. The rider bars use of any person "who is a member of an organization which advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States by force or fraud."

Officials who violate this provision are subject to a fine of $1,000 and a year in jail if convicted.

"Inasmuch as fellows selected by the National Research Council for work on Atomic Energy Commission projects are paid by funds appropriated to the commission," O'Mahoney wrote Lilienthal, "it is imperative that the AEC enforce this provision of law every such case."

See SENATORS on page 11-A

Communists Fail In Own Territory

Expected Vote Not Delivered

BERLIN (AP) — Eastern Germany has dealt Communism a smashing blow in Soviet-controlled territory. Official figures in the People's Congress election showed today a surprising snub by a third of the voters.

Of 12,024,221 valid ballots, 4,080,772 were marked "no."

The Communist Party hoped to roll up a virtually solid "yes" vote for their hand-picked single slate of candidates, so that they could go to the foreign ministers conference in Paris next week with a government of eastern Germany which would match that of the West.

CHARGE BETRAYAL

So shocked were the Communists at the election results that they withheld 30 hours after the polls closed, and the Soviet-controlled press tried to downplay the results.

There were 13,333,071 persons eligible to vote of these 12,024,221 valid ballots, or 93.2 per cent.

This was the vote:

Yes (in favor of the hand-picked slate): 7,943,449, or 66.1 per cent.

No: 4,080,772, or 33.9 per cent.

The organ of the Soviet military administration, Tagesspiegel, accused the eastern socialist parties of the Communist and Labor Democratic of playing a "double game." They were accused of wanting to "sell out" the Communist Party and "betrayal in secret" against it.

Tagesspiegel admitted that "without doubt, there are not a few people under the influence of the lying propaganda of the enemies of our country who voted against the list."

The two-day balloting for the Congress ended last night. The voting was for a people's congress of 1,000 members, all hand-picked and put in a single list. Voters were given a choice of voting "yes" or "no."

Just before the lid was stamped on the results, the main election committee of the congress for Eastern Berlin announced the breakdown of the first 7,000 votes counted.

Only 2,539 voted "no." A majority of 4,561 voted "yes."

Some 250 ballots were declared invalid. Some were on their back, "We want to vote for a police state and we reject Communism."

The Western Berlin press reported afterward that the election committee was "re-examining" the ballots.

The Communists had hoped 100,000 more or more Eastern zone Germans would vote for them and only a few thousand would dissent. They wanted a huge endorsement of the Congress, which is to begin the work for adoption of Russia's next constitution by the foreign ministers council at the Paris meeting next week.

The Soviet-licensed German news agency announced today that 91 per cent of the East Berlin electorate had voted and that percentages are high.

See GERMANY REKS on page 11-A

Briton Learns Much More Outside Than Inside Class

English girls generally are far more reserved and generally about the same age as the girls in the United States. However, he admitted, "I will return to England in August still unmarried."

At Duke he lives on the women's campus because most of his courses are in that locality. Lately Townsend has been kept quite busy talking to Rotary clubs of the area, and most recently the regional conference in Hendersonville. Today he addressed the

Heir Bucks Tammany Hall Machine

FDRr. Gets Political Test Today

NEW YORK (AP) — West Side Manhattan voters, aroused by a New York State Liberal Party candidate today in a Congressional election whether Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

As FDR died years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was being named as a possible successor to the White House.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nod. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

As FDR died years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was being named as a possible successor to the White House.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nod. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

New Staff Photo by Tom Franklin studio

Fraser Townsend, a Duke student from Winchester, England, still finds it hard to pass a grocery store window without studying the contents. He was in Charlotte today talking to the local Rotary club about his impressions of this country, and also found time to eat ice cream and see the city.

HEIR BUCKS TAMMANY HALL MACHINE

FDRr. Gets Political Test Today

NEW YORK (AP) — West Side Manhattan voters, aroused by a New York State Liberal Party candidate today in a Congressional election whether Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

As FDR died years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was being named as a possible successor to the White House.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nod. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

As FDR died years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was being named as a possible successor to the White House.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nod. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

HEIR BUCKS TAMMANY HALL MACHINE

FDRr. Gets Political Test Today

NEW YORK (AP) — West Side Manhattan voters, aroused by a New York State Liberal Party candidate today in a Congressional election whether Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

As FDR died years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was being named as a possible successor to the White House.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nod. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

As FDR died years ago, the handsome young heir to a famous name was being named as a possible successor to the White House.

Tammany refused to give young Roosevelt the Democratic nod. Roosevelt Jr. gets over the hurdle in his ambition to follow his father in a political career.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

Charlotte Man Dies Under Train

KANNAPOLIS-A 39-year-old Charlotte textile worker was instantly killed today when the wheels of a locomotive struck him as he crossed the tracks at the intersection of the railroad and the highway.

Members of the Southern Railway passenger train crew told police that the man, Norman W. Brown, 734 W. Trade St. in Charlotte, died in front of the locomotive when it was only 100 feet away from him.

The tragedy occurred on an embankment near Aycock School, on a stretch of tracks described by police as "a suicide place."

Kannapolis officers said that at least five men have died there in recent years.

Remains of Mr. Brown told police he had been in bad health for some time.

The driver of the northbound train was C. C. Holcombe of Charlotte.

Mr. Brown had roomed at a rooming house in Kannapolis for the past two or three years, and had worked as a weaver at Hoke's Mill about two months ago. He came to Kannapolis at that time.

He was a member of the Communist Party in Danville, Va.

See FR. JR. on page 11-A

See GERMANY REKS on page 11-A

See FR. JR. on page 11-A

See GERMANY REKS on page 11-A