

THOMAS L. ROBINSON, Publisher
J. R. DOWD, General Manager
B. S. GRUFFITT, Executive Editor
C. A. MCKNIGHT, Editor

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1950

PROPAGANDA FROM PEIPING

PEIPING's answer to a United Nations invitation to discuss Chinese intervention in Korea was obviously dictated by Moscow. It follows the Kremlin line faithfully.

The Peiping statement did not flatly reject the U. N. invitation, but it did insist that Communist representatives would discuss the Korean situation on their own terms.

It is a foregone conclusion that Peiping's terms will be satisfactory to a majority of the Security Council. Representatives of the free nations remember all too well how equal to election. It was not necessary for them to gain a statewide majority so long as they could get a majority of the unit votes.

The Talmadge-controlled legislature approved a constitutional amendment to extend the county unit plan to the general elections. That amendment went before the people last Tuesday. It was decisively defeated by overwhelming majorities in the more populous counties.

To anyone but a Talmadge, the vote would be a clear proof that the people of Georgia do not want to extend the county unit system to the general elections. But the Governor has already announced that

DAVIDSON'S ALUMNI
A RECENT breakdown of Davidson's 7,600 alumni offers an interesting commentary on the usefulness to the public of the neighboring Presbyterian institution.

It shows that well over half (56 per cent) of Davidson graduates enter one of the "public service" vocations—medicine, the ministry, education, or government.

As to is expected, the largest single group, 1,624, or 21 per cent, goes into business.

IN DEFENSE OF MOTHER GOOSE
THROUGH we realize that there's nothing so constant as change, we think there are one or two things that should be left strictly as they are. Mother Goose is one.

Most of us have heard fragments of Mother Goose all our lives and the dear old soul has come to mean a lot to us. That's why we're more of a little upset about what a Manchester, Eng., clothing manufacturer named Geoffrey Hall is up to.

An American named David Appel has given the new verses a yankee flavor and they're being published here as Happy Mother Goose. Point is, says Appel, there are too many harmful references in Mother Goose, suffering and violence for children in the standard version. So what happens?

This: Right in the middle of her forehead. And when she was good, she was very, very good. Answer was naughty or horrid.

We agree that little girls should be very, very good and never be naughty or horrid, but darned if we don't feel a distinct sense of loss now that the little girl with the curl has reformed. What do you remember the foolish old woman named Hubbard who couldn't keep her cupboard in good con-

From The Richmond Times-Dispatch
NOVICES HAVE MORE FUN
THE pastor of Highland Park Methodist Church has come up with something new in the way of music. He has organized a choir of people who can't sing, on the theory that those who aren't able to sing a tune in a bucket get just as much pleasure out of trying to do it as do the talented neighbors get from actually making music.

The clericman, the Rev. James L. Robertson, calls his branched "One-Two Choir," because, he says, they hit one note in two. The "One-Twoers" have been busy practicing for a special appearance at tonight's church service, where they will supplement the work of the regular choir, which has a full-time professional director.

Novices often have more fun than experts. The golfer who figuratively beats his brains out trying to go around the course in par isn't likely to get as much kick out of 18 holes as the fellow who takes 150 strokes while enjoying the fresh air and sunshine and pleasant conversation with a fellow duffer. Recreation takes too seriously often ceases to be fun.

There ought to be an orchestra for people who like to play musical instruments by companies. None would be a fatal business decision. And it wouldn't do The Times much good, either.—Arkansas Gazette.

Taft Tribunism May Ruin

Own Chances For Presidency

By STEWART AND JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON
IT GOES without saying that Sen. Robert A. Taft is not as good a bet for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1952 as any man can be elected in 1952 before the event. At one stage he has demolished the old Republican orthodoxy that Taft would make a fine President, but he could never get elected.

The plain fact is that unless Taft is seriously challenged, and soon, from either the East or West coast, he may well go to the convention, from either the East or West coast, he may well go to the convention, from either the East or West coast, he may well go to the convention.

What is more, if Eisenhower wanted the nomination, he would have to win the unanimous support of two of the largest delegations in the country—those of New York and Pennsylvania.

DEWEY FOR "IKE"
Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who is now assured of unquestioned leadership in the New York delegation, announced for Eisenhower well before the election. The day after

WARREN "BLOC"
For the West Coast, Gov. Earl Warren enjoyed a triumph in the polls at least as great as Taft's. It is counted an active candidate for the nomination, but for the most part, it is a serious threat to Taft.

There remains one way Taft could be beaten. He could beat himself. He could be beaten by the professional politicians, but for the most part, it is a serious threat to Taft.

But the real complication is the American himself. Taft is entirely likely that Dewey and Duff may find themselves backing candidates who will finally and Logically, therefore, Dewey and Duff would join hands to promote Taft. It is not in order to stop Taft. But there are complications. A minor complication is the fact that Dewey and Duff are not in the same political party.

It is entirely likely that Dewey and Duff may find themselves backing candidates who will finally and

It's Witchery, What You Do
To Me So Go To Jail, Doc
By ROBERT C. RUARK

MEMPHIS
A REAL ONE trial ended here with a jail sentence for Dr. Samuel Shokubuni, a real gnostic who had been practicing witchery in the Yuba section of Nigeria, Africa, with trial scars on his cheeks to prove that he was not a Healer.

Dr. Sam just pulled nine years in the old Oklahoma penitentiary. It is a shame. All he had been doing was antagonizing the Pure Food and Drug boys by his diabolical incantations of dried nestsilver for the purpose of sprouting fresh hair.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
Although Dr. Shokubuni had done a good deal for the world, he was too fat and loose with the medical profession and the fraud law. It seems a pity that this epoch a witch doctor should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Most of the witch doctor's pet recipes called for a great deal of the Congo than from a dog's den. The volume compiled by a Dr. Shokubuni in England, which he set off in 1940 that was a long time ago, when a man took a snort of wolfsbane extract for his maladies in the absence of expensive physicians who still prescribe a snort

Dr. Shokubuni agitated weird brews in a sinister-looking cauldron in the back room and set up the milliliters of a concoction to a list number of sipping people who he was helping them. A great many said they were cured. It is a shame that a man who had done so much for the world should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Dr. Shokubuni agitated weird brews in a sinister-looking cauldron in the back room and set up the milliliters of a concoction to a list number of sipping people who he was helping them. A great many said they were cured. It is a shame that a man who had done so much for the world should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Dr. Shokubuni agitated weird brews in a sinister-looking cauldron in the back room and set up the milliliters of a concoction to a list number of sipping people who he was helping them. A great many said they were cured. It is a shame that a man who had done so much for the world should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Dr. Shokubuni agitated weird brews in a sinister-looking cauldron in the back room and set up the milliliters of a concoction to a list number of sipping people who he was helping them. A great many said they were cured. It is a shame that a man who had done so much for the world should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Dr. Shokubuni agitated weird brews in a sinister-looking cauldron in the back room and set up the milliliters of a concoction to a list number of sipping people who he was helping them. A great many said they were cured. It is a shame that a man who had done so much for the world should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Dr. Shokubuni agitated weird brews in a sinister-looking cauldron in the back room and set up the milliliters of a concoction to a list number of sipping people who he was helping them. A great many said they were cured. It is a shame that a man who had done so much for the world should be burnt at the governmental stake.

Election Roundup

Records Set for 14 New Senators

Show Setback For President

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S legislative program for the 82d Congress has been a record. It is the most ambitious program since the Reconstruction era. It is the most ambitious program since the Reconstruction era.

Of the six new Democrats, Thomas C. Hennings of Missouri who defeated Porter C. Douglas in the 2d Congressional District of Missouri, and John O. Pastore of Rhode Island are counted on to give the President support in the House.

A S "Mike" Monroney of Oklahoma, judged by his votes in the House, will cast more votes for the foreign and domestic programs than any other Senator. He will cast more votes for the foreign and domestic programs than any other Senator.

On the Republican side, the Administration is expected to lose votes across the board by the election of Richard M. Nixon, California, Everett M. Dirksen, Illinois, and Wallace F. Bennett, Utah. Francis H. Case, South Dakota, opposed in the House, and William C. Cramer, North Carolina, who defeated the Administration's handling of the Korean situation, are also expected to support the Administration.

Below are the details on the stands of new Senators in the Truman program compared with those of the predecessors.

California
Richard M. Nixon (R) replacing Sheridan Downey (D). Nixon is expected to give less support for foreign policy than Downey did, since he voted against the Korean War Extension Act and the National Labor Relations Act. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Florida
George A. Smathers (D) replacing Claude Pepper (D). Smathers is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Idaho
Herman Welker (R) replacing Glenn Taylor (D). Taylor was a consistent critic of the Administration's foreign policy. Welker is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Illinois
Everett M. Dirksen (R) replacing Scott W. Lucas (D). Dirksen is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Kansas
Frank Carlson (Republican) replacing Harry Dwyer (R). Carlson was a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. Dwyer is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Utah
Wallace F. Bennett (R) replacing Elmer D. Bennett (D). Bennett is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Washington
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Edward I. Lehner (D). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Rhode Island
Like Leahy, when Governor Pastore appointed to the Senate, Pastore is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

South Dakota
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Charles Gurney (R). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Utah
Wallace F. Bennett (R) replacing Elmer D. Bennett (D). Bennett is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Washington
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Edward I. Lehner (D). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Rhode Island
Like Leahy, when Governor Pastore appointed to the Senate, Pastore is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

South Dakota
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Charles Gurney (R). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Utah
Wallace F. Bennett (R) replacing Elmer D. Bennett (D). Bennett is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Washington
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Edward I. Lehner (D). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

of its domestic program with Carlson although in his plea for better health, school and farm conditions.

Kentucky
Newly elected Clement (D) replacing Carroll L. Whitmer (D). In the House, Clements supported the Administration on almost all of the President's foreign and domestic programs. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Maryland
John M. Butler (R) replacing Mildred Tydings (D). Butler campaigned against Tydings primarily on foreign policy, lack of defense preparations and Communist blamings him for the Truman program. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Missouri
Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D) replacing Forrest C. Donnell (R). Hennings is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

North Carolina
William Smith (D) replacing Frank P. Graham (D). Smith is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Oklahoma
A S "Mike" Monroney (D) replacing Elmer Thomsen (D). Monroney is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Pennsylvania
Everett M. Dirksen (R) replacing Francis J. Myers (D). Myers was Majority Whip of the Senate and a strong Administration supporter. Dirksen is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Rhode Island
Like Leahy, when Governor Pastore appointed to the Senate, Pastore is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

South Dakota
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Charles Gurney (R). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Utah
Wallace F. Bennett (R) replacing Elmer D. Bennett (D). Bennett is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Washington
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Edward I. Lehner (D). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Rhode Island
Like Leahy, when Governor Pastore appointed to the Senate, Pastore is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

South Dakota
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Charles Gurney (R). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Utah
Wallace F. Bennett (R) replacing Elmer D. Bennett (D). Bennett is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Washington
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Edward I. Lehner (D). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Rhode Island
Like Leahy, when Governor Pastore appointed to the Senate, Pastore is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

South Dakota
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Charles Gurney (R). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Utah
Wallace F. Bennett (R) replacing Elmer D. Bennett (D). Bennett is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Washington
Francis H. Case (R) replacing Edward I. Lehner (D). Case is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.

Rhode Island
Like Leahy, when Governor Pastore appointed to the Senate, Pastore is a strong supporter of the Administration's foreign policy. He is expected to support the Administration's handling of the Korean situation.