

Today's final installment of Survival Under Atomic Attack puts in a nutshell the material contained in the seven preceding articles. Read it, clip it and familiarize yourself with the fact that you can survive atomic attack. It's on Page 7-A.

ESTABLISHED DEC. 8, 1886

Largest Afternoon Newspaper in The Carolinas
Charlotte, North Carolina, Tuesday, December 12, 1950

28 Pages—Price Five Cents

Truman To Address U.S. People

President Plans Talk This Week

World Situation Prompts Decision

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman is arranging to address the American people by radio Friday or Saturday night on the world situation and the home front steps he believes are necessary as a result of the threat of war.

This was learned today from high White House sources, acquainted by name.

At the same time, there was a final word on the development of the conference Mr. Truman has called for tomorrow with Congressional leaders of both parties.

Chairman George D-Ohio of the Senate Finance Committee was added to the group of Senators and Representatives Mr. Truman will consult at 10 A. M. (EST) tomorrow. The plan for the formation of a national emergency committee expected to be preliminary to a series of moves placing the country's economy on a virtually airtight basis.

OTHERS INVITED

Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Marshall and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder also were asked to be present for tomorrow's meeting with the Congressional group.

George, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, told a reporter today that the time is fast approaching when economic controls will be changed down. He predicted the President will act during January at the latest.

Chairman Johnson (D-Tex.), chairman of a Senate Armed Services Subcommittee, said the time already has arrived for such controls Johnson was one of many members of Congress who have been urging immediate action.

Administration officials have conceded that wage-price controls are inevitable, but there has been no authoritative estimate of when the machinery can be set up to handle them.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

All signs pointed to a speech in home front mobilization theme by the President.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) of the Banking Committee, said in a Charleston, S. C., speech last night that the Commerce Department probably will announce price controls on essential defense materials shortly. He said that may mean restrictions early next year on what manufacturers can make with materials already in hand.

One new regulation which will have this effect was issued by the National Petroleum Authority (NPA) yesterday. NPA ordered a 23 per cent cut in the use of natural rubber in automobile tires in the first two months of next year, as compared with 1949. The new regulation means fewer new tires and more repairs.

MORE FUNDS SOUGHT

A Senate Appropriations Committee was told by Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert M. Lovett that more military funds than the $18,000,000,000 contained in a pending bill will be sought from Congress for use in the fiscal year ending June 30.

See TRUMAN on page 4-A

CEASE-FIRE PROPOSAL DISCUSSED

Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik (above right) talks animatedly with Abdel Rahman Azzam, secretary general of the Arab League, Mahmoud Fawzi, Egyptian delegate and Semen Isakovich of the USSR (left to right) about the tentative UN resolution circulated by the Arab League calling for a cease-fire order in Korea and a seven-nation peace conference. The peace parleys would be attended by the Big Five powers, including Chinese Reds and also India and Egypt. (Acme Telephoto.)

At a recent news conference, the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Defense Minister Emmannuel Schmitt, in a speech last night said Gen. MacArthur had not followed instructions and had attempted instead to pursue the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Defense Minister Emmannuel Schmitt, in a speech last night said Gen. MacArthur had not followed instructions and had attempted instead to pursue the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Defense Minister Emmannuel Schmitt, in a speech last night said Gen. MacArthur had not followed instructions and had attempted instead to pursue the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Defense Minister Emmannuel Schmitt, in a speech last night said Gen. MacArthur had not followed instructions and had attempted instead to pursue the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Defense Minister Emmannuel Schmitt, in a speech last night said Gen. MacArthur had not followed instructions and had attempted instead to pursue the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Defense Minister Emmannuel Schmitt, in a speech last night said Gen. MacArthur had not followed instructions and had attempted instead to pursue the President said use of the bomb in Korea always had been and was under consideration, but he hoped it would not have to be used.

A communiqué at the close of the Truman-Aitche talks said President Truman still hoped to keep the bomb from being necessary to use the atom bomb and promised to keep the British informed of any developments which would change the situation.

Aitche also said he was satisfied the "general divergence" of the United Nations had been "followed" by Gen. MacArthur in the Korean campaign.

Asian Peace Plan Paced Before UN

Rau Thinks China Reds Want Accord

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—

India's Sir Bengel Rau laid before the United Nations today a plan designed to halt the fighting in Korea and resolve other Far Eastern problems.

In presenting the plan for a group of Asian and Middle East countries, Rau said he was convinced from his talks with Chinese Communist leaders that the Chinese Government wants peace.

Rau proposed that the Chinese Reds be given a direct voice in settling outstanding Asian problems after the basis for a cease-fire in Korea is worked out.

TWO SOLUTIONS

The Middle East-Asian plan was embodied in two resolutions worked out in a series of closed-door conferences just before the political committee met this morning. Rau asked for top priority consideration of the proposals.

The committee overrode Soviet opposition and agreed to begin debate at once on the new proposals. The vote was 48 to 3 in favor of Rau's plan.

At the time Rau made his proposal, he said the decision would not be made until it had received a "high-level" reaction from Washington.

COMMISSION PROPOSED

One of the proposals was to create a three-man commission headed by Assembly President Nazimuddin of Iran to "determine the basis on which a satisfactory cease-fire in Korea can be arranged. The other two members would be named by Britain.

Informed quarters said this formula was adopted to meet U. S. objections to an outright cease-fire which might leave the way open for a continued build-up of Chinese Communist forces in Korea.

The three-man body would get the interested countries to agree to follow instructions for halting the conflict.

The second proposal would create another commission to meet as soon as possible and make recommendations.

See ATTLEE on page 4-A

See ASIATIC on page 4-A

Egg Prices Off Sharply

At Major U. S. Markets

The nation's major markets for eggs, which ran rapidly up to 30 cents a dozen last week, fell sharply last week and continued to slide today.

At Chicago, prices of the top grades today were as much as 12 cents lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 10 to 12 cents a dozen.

At New York, prices of the top grades today were as much as 10 cents lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 8 to 10 cents a dozen.

At Washington, prices of the top grades today were as much as 8 cents lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 6 to 8 cents a dozen.

At St. Louis, prices of the top grades today were as much as 6 cents lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 4 to 6 cents a dozen.

At Cincinnati, prices of the top grades today were as much as 4 cents lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 2 to 4 cents a dozen.

At Kansas City, prices of the top grades today were as much as 2 cents lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1 to 2 cents a dozen.

At Omaha, prices of the top grades today were as much as 1 cent lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1/2 to 1 cent a dozen.

At Des Moines, prices of the top grades today were as much as 1/2 cent lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1/4 to 1/2 cent a dozen.

At Sioux Falls, prices of the top grades today were as much as 1/4 cent lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1/8 to 1/4 cent a dozen.

At Rapid City, prices of the top grades today were as much as 1/8 cent lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1/16 to 1/8 cent a dozen.

At Pierre, prices of the top grades today were as much as 1/16 cent lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1/32 to 1/16 cent a dozen.

At Yankton, prices of the top grades today were as much as 1/32 cent lower than at last week. This decline included a local decline of 1/64 to 1/32 cent a dozen.

Alies Post Critical Point in Withdrawal

TOKYO—(AP)—

Alies have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

The Reds have not yet struck with a second massed attack in the north-west. It is nearly a week since they swept into Pyongyang, the capital of the Korean Republic. The Chinese have lost any chance of trapping the Eighth Army north of the 38th parallel, capital's boundary between North and South Korea.

Bulk Of UN Forces Below Line

Enemy Using Mongol Cavalry

TOKYO—(AP)—

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Some 27 Chinese Communist divisions—including 8,000 to 14,000 fierce Mongolian cavalrymen—today pressed menacing feelers toward South Korea after driving the bulk of the United Nations forces from the north.

Our Weather

Partly cloudy and continued red tonight and tomorrow. Tomorrow, mostly fair. Low tonight, 23 degrees.

More Weather Data on Page 4-A

"MIGHTY COLD UP HERE"

Do Southerners really suffer from the cold of a northern climate? They do, and it's not just a matter of contrast. Their thermostatic systems aren't geared to producing enough heat. The individual thermostatic system in control of the body's internal temperature is set at 98.6 degrees. In warm climates, this means getting rid of excess heat; in cold climates, it means stoking up the internal fire. When such a system is transported from a warm climate to a cold one, it functions poorly. It just isn't equipped to produce the necessary heat quickly enough.

Pact Military Leaders Meet

LONDON—(AP)—

The North Atlantic pact military men met today behind closed doors today, apparently to set up a command staff for a European defense force.

The military committee of the pact Allies spent two hours in a morning session and then returned to work again after lunch.

The meetings are a prelude to a joint session tomorrow or Thursday with the pact civilian deputies on the problem of bringing German troops into the defense force.

The meetings were held in close quarters at the NATO headquarters in London. The agenda included a discussion of the size and scope of the command of North Atlantic treaty organization forces in Europe, and defense groups like the five-nation Atlantic Pact.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is expected to be named commander-in-chief but there remains the choosing of his deputy and the commanders of ground, sea and air arms.

DOWN TO THE SEA ON A RAILROAD

Waters of the rampaging San Joaquin River flow over the tracks of the Southern Pacific at Tracy, Calif., the floods are expected to remain at a critical stage in the lower San Joaquin area. (Acme Telephoto.)

Holiday Leave Policy Explained

WASHINGTON—(AP)—

Whether the service man in the United States will get a Christmas furlough depends generally on whether he is in an army or navy unit. The Army and Navy have different policies.

The Army—Training at Army installations will be suspended only on Christmas and New Year's days. Navy—District, base or ship commander may grant a leave of absence if it is assumed leave will be granted wherever possible.

In general, the Air Force and the Marines have the same policy as the Army and Navy. Personnel have been granted furloughs for round-trip tickets to service men on holiday leave. The question of whether there should be an exemption of the Federal law which states that a man on furlough is still being paid.

Reds Charge U. S. And Greece Raising Army

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia—

The latest issue of the Communist journal charged today that the United States and Greece are raising an army of about a million men in the Balkans to attack the Soviet Union.

The charge was made by