

THOMAS L. ROBINSON, Publisher
J. E. DOWD, General Manager
B. G. GRIFITH, Executive Editor
C. A. MCKNIGHT, Editor

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1951

THE ENEMY'S WEAK SPOT

SECRETARY ACHESON'S recent attempt to fan the fires of nationalism that have recently flamed up in several Communist satellite nations was well advised. It indicates a new realism in U. S. foreign policy — the realization that you should seek out and exploit the enemy's weak spots.

A MILITARY MATTER

THE current debate over Congress' right to limit the number of American troops sent to Europe seems to miss the main point. That point, as we see it, is that the dispatching of troops to Europe is purely a military decision, not a policy decision, and should be treated as such.

A QUESTION FOR SENATOR SMITH

IN A SPEECH before the North Carolina Farm Bureau this week, Senator Willis Smith took a rather dim view of our involvement in the Korean War. (See excerpt at the bottom of this column.)

From A Speech in Asheville This Week

WILLIS SMITH ON THE KOREAN WAR

WE ARE AT WAR—and make no mistake about that. We are in a serious war and not merely a police action. We are in this war not by the usual and constitutional means of the declaration of war as has been one of the cardinal provisions of our Constitution since the foundation of the Republic. Rather we are in war because we assumed certain obligations under the charter of the United Nations whether we wished or not.

at the same press conference, that an armed attack on that country would strain the peace of the world to the breaking point. The implication of the warning was that the United States would take an active hand if Yugoslavia were invaded.

News From The Capital

Truman Visit Surprises Tar Heels
WASHINGTON
By TOM SCHLESINGER
Charlotte News Special Writer

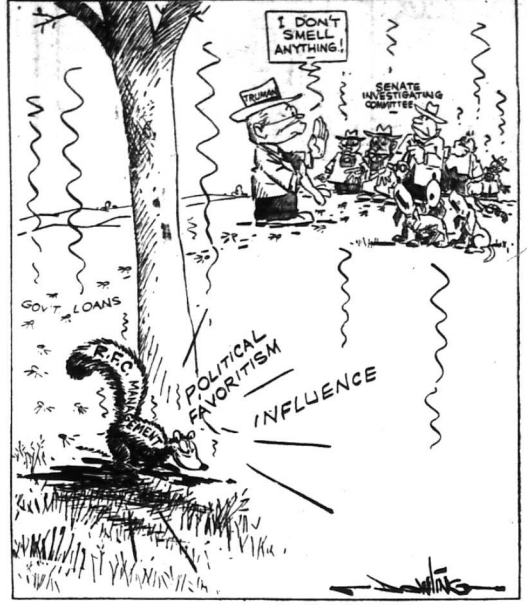

Truman Visit Surprises Tar Heels

Herlock on the general subject of Tar Heel newspapers. Herlock, a mid-Westerer, said he was impressed with the liberal tone of the news papers, many of which carry his syndicated cartoons.

Drew Pearson's Merry-Ground

GOP Backs Vinson As Acheson Successor

WASHINGTON
GOP backing for Chief Justice Fred Vinson as Secretary of State if and when Dean Acheson resigns was indicated at a private luncheon gathering by no less than GOP Sen. C. A. McNight.

U.S. Hopes That Pantomime Will Keep Soviet At Peace

BY JOSEPH & STEWART ALSO
WASHINGTON
AN elaborate diplomatic pantomime by the United States to convince the masters of the Kremlin that they cannot safely launch an attack on Yugoslavia.

Foot Ball Betting Revenue

THEIR is no way the Treasury can ascertain the accuracy of these or any other deductions, nor, as a matter of fact, the accuracy of Accardo's income, without putting a special tax on Accardo's income.

Underworld Taxes

ABOUT the biggest hoodlum in Chicago since Al Capone fell from power in Tony Accardo, who together with his partner, Jack Guzik, runs the most lucrative underworld in the U.S.A.

effort. Yugoslavia is being subjected to severe internal strains by the need to mobilize for war at a time when her economy has been shattered by last Summer's fearful drought. The strains in turn are making an attack on Yugoslavia look like a far more tempting prospect to the Kremlin.

Response To Pee Wee's Plight Example Of The True Charity

A GREAT many musicians burn their fingers on both ends of the newspapermen and candles, and it is generally accepted that a musician who rises at 6 P.M. just before the sun rises and never stores up a regular income is a poor musician.

Fee Wee's Plight Example Of The True Charity

It is just" Eddie Condon says, "that Pee Wee had a lot of people, and we would have been back among us in good shape." Offhand that is not a bad definition of charity in its purest form.