

THE CRISIS IN THE UNITED NATIONS

Neatmest to realize that the density was history. The resignation of Secretary-General Trygve Lie, a gesture toward greater harmony, underscores the deep rift between the East and the West that threatens to split the world organization beyond repair. There are four major issues that, so far, have defied solution.

1. The most immediate issue is an honorable end to the Korean War. At this stage, the main barrier to an armistice is the inability of the U. N. majority and the Communist minority to compose differences on prisoner repatriation.

Convention of 1949 is to govern, is on Russia's tide.

The Richmond News-Leader, in a thought-ful editorial on the Genera Convention, any that the U. S. should reexamine its position on the prisoner of war issue. It says that the fate of uncounted thousands of American prisoners in this and future wars' is at stake, It is unknown whether the Commanists would find some new russ for prolonging the truce talks. If the U. N. should retreat from its position on prisoners. In any event, insistence on voluntary repatriation promises to drag out the struggle.

2. A second hard fact that faces the U. N. is the dublous-effectiveness of collective security that merely resists and stops aggression without punishing the aggressor. Of course, the aggression less than designed that the county of a penalty to extract from aggresors like China and Russia, to whom man-power is chesp. In the early period of the U. N. existence, its reve nation members clearly lacked the overwhelming military

One DOESNT have to read for helow the power to retailed against the real aggressors to realize that the "disted with the control of the respect to the control of the respiration of Secretary-General Trygre Lie, a gesture toward greater harmony, underscores the deep rift between the East and the West that threatens to split the world organization beyond repair. There are four major issues that, so far, have defined solution.

I. The most immediate issue is an honor which we will be come aggressors, find that one of them would become aggressors. Hence, they were to retailed against the real aggressors to the control of the c

In the Korean and the right to use the week to have the season of the season of the season of the high actions are the aggressors. Can collective security against one of the big nations ever work within the present framework of the U. N. Charter?

4. Although the U. N. forces in Korea have strong moral support from more than 40 member nations, many of these countries have not contributed their manpower and resources in proportionate strength. Can any organization, regardlessifor its structure, succeed in preserving the posec unless its mem-

Pat McCarran and Willib Smith to stand on the sidelines and shout that the U. N. ought to be moved put of the Unifed States. More than the location of the U. N. is involved;
its very survival is at gtake.

TO 'LEER' IS TO ASSAULT

To YLERY once in a while, something in the news reminds us of the remark by a Honolulu wag right after the Pearl Harbor hombing. The but the papers on the maintand will exagerate this," he said.

We bet the papers on the maintand will exagerate the conviction of a North Cascolina Negro tenant farmer, Mack Ingram, for assaulting a young white girl by "leering" at her. As in the Pearl Harbor attack, however, there is some justification for the exagegration.

First of all, the N. C. statute under which Ingram was convicted is open to question. It says. "If by threats and a diplay of force one should be the convertion of the properties of

THIS FELLOW FROM DAKOTA?

WE CAN understand why this young cir-culation manager of the Tupelo Journel down in Mississippi deciled to go back to North Dakota. Somebody roughed up his car a bit and poured a little sugar in his gas tank. They took him for a ride and even gave him a haircut—with a razor—while suggesting that he leave town.

His wife, who's expecting, is understand-bly distraught. And although the mayor and police at Tupelo offered protection, the oung newsman figured he best go back to President a raw brone instead of his reg-ular mount. Teddy got tossed, but he rose to ride again and lead the Rough Riders whose respect he'd earned.

We can't imagine any of North Dakota's Non-Partisan Leaguers, or Sen. Wild Bill Langer, leaving town just because some-body so suggested. In fact, such a challenge would assure that they'd stick it out. And unless we figure wrong, when this follow gets back to Farge his formmen will loan him a steedbooter and tell him to get back down there.

As I see it there were three chief reasons for this turnover. First, the voters in the South were tired, miserably so, of Mr. Truman, Second, Truman sponinted to all the places of homer. Third, the people, not only here in the South, but may in the North as well, did not like the ugly deal we got in the Chicago convention.

Then too, the voters are tired of all this suc-and prosperity we have had for the past 20 s. And that leads me to my suggestion. I am going to set up a committee seem to go out and get up money enough to cablish fac-ries in which to build Hoover Carts. For they il come as surely as night follows day, Mark my ognostication.
