

Economy Battle

The Congressmen... cut the U. S. budget gets more criticism than praise, Rep. Norris Colton of New Hampshire says in a letter to his constituents reprinted on today's editorial page. Turn to Page 4-A.

ESTABLISHED DEC. 8, 1888

RELEASE OF GUARD GETS TOP PRIORITY

Prisons Director Agrees To Discuss Camp Conditions

LINCOLN, N. C.—(AP)—Fearing for the safety of a guard held hostage by rebellious convicts, a prison camp here, Prisons Director Walter Anderson today agreed to come from his Raleigh office to talk over camp conditions with the prisoners.

Earlier, Anderson had refused to make the trip and instructed Prison Superintendent W. H. Haywood to take law enforcement officers and free the guard.

Concern for the safety of the guard, identified as Carlos Reynolds, caused him to change his mind, Anderson said. He left Raleigh by car shortly before 1 p. m. Haywood informed Anderson by telephone the prisoners refused to let their complaints, but asked for the prisoners director to come ask with them.

The prisoners, all long-term inmates, started the uprising at breakfast this morning, sending the guard and refused to let him leave the cell block.

The guard was identified as Carlos Reynolds. The prisoners reported he had not been harmed, but that they intended holding him until they talked with prison officials.

W. H. Haywood, supervisor of the Seventh Prison District, came here at 10:30 a. m., and went immediately to the cell block. He was admitted by the prisoners and a conference was started. Camp Superintendent H. J. (Ake) Schrum, accompanied Haywood.

No details of the uprising were released by either official. Both said they would make a statement as soon as the conferences were over, or the uprising had been quelled.

Schrum said there had been no shooting and no one had been hurt thus far. A guard who would not let his name be used, said the convicts refused to "camp conditions."

At Raleigh, State Prisons Director Anderson said he had been notified of the uprising, but said he knew no details.

The camp houses approximately 80 to 90 long-term prisoners.

Planes Batter Red Positions

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—United Nations warplanes today battered Communist targets in North Korea, capital of Pyongyang and along the Western Front.

From two fighter-bomber wings hit locomotive repair shop and cement factory east of Pyongyang.

Force and Marine planes striking Red front-line positions in the West reported destruction of bunkers and six gun emplacements.

Ground fighting raged in this huge Morrocco town in Sharon, the onetime Governor, Senator and Congressman has been putting a lot of thought on the present situation.

STUDIES NEWSPAPERS He's been studying reports in The New York Times and the late Joseph Daniels' politically-precipitated Raleigh News & Observer, and other papers and periodicals, and he's been talking to political friends of long standing, and he has some things to say about the Democratic Party's current problems.

"The Republicans did their best in nominating Eisenhower, the world's first soldier and a noble gentleman. And we must do our best or we'll be swamped. We can confidently offer the Democratic convention, through Richard Russell, more than half the electoral votes needed to win the election right now."

ONLY MAN "Russell is the only man who can prevent every election from being doubtful. He can win every state from Virginia clear on out to Oklahoma, and probably also Kentucky and Missouri."

GETTING READY FOR TRIP

Cameron Morrison, one of North Carolina's Democratic leaders, is still as active as ever when it comes to nominating a man for President. He's shown here with his grandson, Jimmy Harris, who will drive him to the national convention in Chicago tomorrow.

Sen. Morrison, one of North Carolina's Democratic leaders, is still as active as ever when it comes to nominating a man for President. He's shown here with his grandson, Jimmy Harris, who will drive him to the national convention in Chicago tomorrow.

Sen. Morrison, one of North Carolina's Democratic leaders, is still as active as ever when it comes to nominating a man for President. He's shown here with his grandson, Jimmy Harris, who will drive him to the national convention in Chicago tomorrow.

Sen. Morrison, one of North Carolina's Democratic leaders, is still as active as ever when it comes to nominating a man for President. He's shown here with his grandson, Jimmy Harris, who will drive him to the national convention in Chicago tomorrow.

Sen. Morrison Looks Forward To Chicago

By TOM FESPERMAN Charlotte News Staff Writer

Former Sen. Cameron Morrison, who absolutely refuses to sit around and talk about all the Democratic conventions he's attended in the past, is heading for Chicago again tomorrow morning, thinking only about the "glorious present."

As a delegate-at-large in next week's party battle, he's a small man at the beginning and a noble gentleman. And we must do what's more, plans to be a Russell man at the end.

"You can say," he said, "that I have no second choice. 'I believe that Richard Russell is our best man for the job.'"

Sitting in the library at his huge Morrocco town in Sharon, the onetime Governor, Senator and Congressman has been putting a lot of thought on the present situation.

STUDIES NEWSPAPERS He's been studying reports in The New York Times and the late Joseph Daniels' politically-precipitated Raleigh News & Observer, and other papers and periodicals, and he's been talking to political friends of long standing, and he has some things to say about the Democratic Party's current problems.

"The Republicans did their best in nominating Eisenhower, the world's first soldier and a noble gentleman. And we must do our best or we'll be swamped. We can confidently offer the Democratic convention, through Richard Russell, more than half the electoral votes needed to win the election right now."

ONLY MAN "Russell is the only man who can prevent every election from being doubtful. He can win every state from Virginia clear on out to Oklahoma, and probably also Kentucky and Missouri."

He could have 180 electoral votes there, leaving only 120 more to be won from other states. What about other Democratic candidates?

Collins Says Enemy Facing More Bombing

Army Chief Of Staff Completes Front Tour

By JIM BECKER TOKYO (AP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U. S. Army chief of staff, said today even tougher bombing of North Korean military targets is in store for the Communists if they "insist on prolonging the war."

United Nations warplanes within the past three weeks have hurled some of the mightiest air attacks of the war at Red power plant facilities in North Korea and at military targets in and near the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

He told a news conference on his return from a two-day tour of the front that the U. N. command is prepared to do anything—except ground warfare—to protect its forces in Korea from being driven out.

"I'd say I am absolutely opposed to any halt. The President isn't anything. The President recommends, Congress acts. If we elect two Senators and twelve Congressmen who can sit and respect fully believe to be unconstitutional, then I think we've done enough."

"You don't have to believe in every single paragraph of a party platform. Goodness knows, the people aren't expected to go along with every plank."

"I don't have to bolt the party."

Sen. Morrison on page 2-A

There's one thing I wish you'd ask me," he told a reporter. "Ask me about bolting the party."

"I'm not a Republican," he said, "but I'm not a Democrat either. I'm a realist. I'm a man who can sit and respect fully believe to be unconstitutional, then I think we've done enough."

"You don't have to believe in every single paragraph of a party platform. Goodness knows, the people aren't expected to go along with every plank."

"I don't have to bolt the party."

Sen. Morrison on page 2-A

Truman Reported To Be Improving

LONDON.—A pacifist member of Parliament suggested today that Britain ease—or repeal outright—military conscription.

Emrys Hughes, a Socialist M. P. who last week won the national service act "in view of the large number of trained soldiers now available."

British youths are now called up for two years' training. Hughes said he would like to see Minister Churchill on Thursday to give the House of Commons an account of the situation.

When he proposes to introduce legislation regarding modifying conscription."

Truman stayed in the residential part of the White House, working on a backlog of bills passed in the closing days of Congress.

Short said that although the President still has a temperature he is staying up much of the time.

New Talks On Steel Issue End In Failure

Gwen Scales (right) of Iowa City and Marge Martin of Hamburg, Iowa, begin setting up headquarters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel for Sen. Kefauver who is seeking the Presidential nomination. He has the same room used by Senator Taft during the Republican convention, and the mixture of signs and pictures causes some confusion. (United Press—Telephoto).

ANYWAY, THEY'RE BOTH SENATORS

Sen. Kefauver, asserted today that he is not considering the present Korean stalemate on the battlefield.

"We are making tremendous progress," he said, "but we need atomic artillery is not yet ready for action for two or three technical reasons."

The Army chief repeated a statement he made in Korea yesterday that the Allies have "other means" than those already being used in Korea and that we could use them "in a pinch." He said he did not consider the present Korean stalemate a pinch.

The new means would be used only if the Reds launched a drive that seriously threatened U. N. forces, the general indicated. If they do, he said, he would be effective the second time around."

The general added, however, that the U. S. Eighth Army would not be pushed out of Korea without "an outside power throwing considerable weight into the struggle."

He said the U. N. could even push the Reds out of North Korea "if we thought it was worth the cost."

He read a long statement which said: "In Chicago next week we want to be free of those fixers and masters of the double cross. To them, a sellout of the people is never important. If there are any deals to be made, if the price is right they want to make them behind closed doors. They cannot do this in the open before the eyes of the nation."

Reporters questioned Sullivan closely for details of the alleged deals, and for names. He said, "The statement speaks for itself."

He said, however, he does not include either President Truman or Frank Kefauver, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, among those he suspects of participating in a stop-Kefauver coalition.

In fact, he said, the other Democratic candidates themselves may not be parties to the alleged plot. A reporter asked who is arranging it, and Sullivan replied, "It's not me, and it's not Sullivan."

Asked if he considered it possible that the candidates could be unaware of what their supporters are doing, he replied, "It could be. The only instance in which names were named arose when Sullivan was asked about reports from California that delegates in that state had been 'approached.'"

See STOP-KEFAUVER, page 2-A

Negotiators Await Word From Capital

More Steel Freed For Civilian Use

PITTSBURGH (AP)—New steel strike peace talks ended today with industry and the CIO United Steelworkers in disagreement but standing by for further word from the White House.

After a two-hour bargaining session, President Philip Murray of the striking union issued a joint statement which said John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, asked both sides to stand by.

"We have continued our discussions this morning and are still in disagreement. We have reported that by telephone to Mr. Steelman. He has requested that we stand by for further word from him."

Murray told newsmen he expected to hear from Steelman within a few hours.

Meanwhile in a move aimed at checking the spread of industrial idleness, the Government freed for civilian use all steel not needed by the military.

Practitioner Chief Henry H. Fowler said the action clears the way for small and medium-sized manufacturers to keep producing such goods as washing machines, vacuum cleaners, metal furniture and household appliances.

DEFENSE STEEL HELD Steel stocks needed for the defense effort, however, remain subject to the embargo imposed on the eve of the steel strike that began June 1.

Fowler said in announcing the action it will "help avert some shutdowns in the nation's manufacturing plants and minimize further unemployment."

Steelman telephoned both union and industry representatives from Washington, yesterday and insisted on a new try for peace in the steel strike which has idled 4½ million workers.

PRICE BONDS REJECTED As the peace talks were being set up, the Office of Price Stabilization rejected appeals of three companies for price bonds ranging from $5.50 to $6 a ton.

The move included an appeal from Weirton, Armo and Pittsburgh Steel—all of which have signed new contracts with their customers which were quickly shrugged off by the industry.

Steelman spent Saturday talking prices with officials of United States Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry, and reportedly gave assurance of an increase in steel prices.

The industry pinned its hope for price relief on a promise of an increase averaging 35.5¢ a ton.

The move includes an adjustment under the Capheat Amendment, which allows manufacturers to add to their cost of production the cost of fighting in Korea up to last July 28.

NO ALTERNATIVE A government official said Price Stabilization officials could do nothing but reject the appeal of Weirton, Armo and Pittsburgh, which was quickly shrugged off by the industry.

Actual decision on the report that his bosses have agreed to increase steel prices.

'Stop-Kefauver' Move Charged

By RELMAN MORIN CHICAGO.—Gael Sullivan, campaign manager for Sen. Estes Kefauver, asserted today that he is not considering the present Korean stalemate on the battlefield.

"We are making tremendous progress," he said, "but we need atomic artillery is not yet ready for action for two or three technical reasons."

The Army chief repeated a statement he made in Korea yesterday that the Allies have "other means" than those already being used in Korea and that we could use them "in a pinch." He said he did not consider the present Korean stalemate a pinch.

The new means would be used only if the Reds launched a drive that seriously threatened U. N. forces, the general indicated. If they do, he said, he would be effective the second time around."

The general added, however, that the U. S. Eighth Army would not be pushed out of Korea without "an outside power throwing considerable weight into the struggle."

He said the U. N. could even push the Reds out of North Korea "if we thought it was worth the cost."

He read a long statement which said: "In Chicago next week we want to be free of those fixers and masters of the double cross. To them, a sellout of the people is never important. If there are any deals to be made, if the price is right they want to make them behind closed doors. They cannot do this in the open before the eyes of the nation."

Reporters questioned Sullivan closely for details of the alleged deals, and for names. He said, "The statement speaks for itself."

He said, however, he does not include either President Truman or Frank Kefauver, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, among those he suspects of participating in a stop-Kefauver coalition.

OUR WEATHER

Partly cloudy and not much change in temperature. Light tonight and Wednesday, with afternoon or evening thunderstorms.

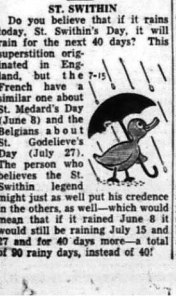

High temperature yesterday 89 degrees.

Low temperature expected today 66 degrees.

Low temperature expected tonight 70 degrees.

Sunrise 5:19 A. M.; Sunset 7:38 P. M.

More Weather Data on Page 2-B

EVENING PRAYER

Oh Thou who dost lead us every day, we thank Thee for Thy constant care and love. Help us to yield ourselves completely to Thy service that our greatest joy will be in the doing of Thy will. Be and abide with us and those separated from us as we pray. Amen.

ST. SWITHIN

Do you believe that if it rains today, St. Swithin's Day, it will rain for the next 40 days? This superstition originated in England, but the French have a similar one. St. Medard's Day (June 8) and the Belgians about St. Godebald's Day (July 27). The person who believed in the St. Swithin legend just as well put his credence in the theory, as well which would mean that if it rained June 8 it would still be raining July 15 and 27 and 40 days after that, a total of 30 rainy days, instead of 40!

WHAT'S INSIDE

Classified Want Ads	5B-7B
Comics	4B
Crossword Puzzle	3B
Editorial	4A
Feature Page	2A
Markets	2A
Real Estate	2A
Serial Story	12A
Sports	10A-11A
Television	8B
Travel	7A
Wishing Well	3B
Women's Pages	6A-9A