The crashing plane left a trail of sheared off tree tops. One wing was torn from the plane and the other was damaged.

The search started when the fourth crewman, battered, bloody and dazed, stumbled into the Raleigh-Durham airport about 1 a. m., to report a C-47 transport plane had crashed.

U. S. Military In Providing Data, Says Lie

U. N. Official Critical Of State Department

By EDWARD CURTIS UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie publicly charged last night that the U. S. State Department delayed in providing information he could use to oust disloyal Americans from the U. N.

Lie's blast against U. S. officials was contained in a statement sent to the State Department and Senate investigators last Dec. 27 but not released in full to the press until last night.

It was made public about the same time as Attorney General J. P. McGrady announced in Washington that he had ordered a new federal grand jury investigation into charges that disloyal Americans had infiltrated the U. N.

The State Department declined comment. U. S. officials, however, officials told the Senate internal security subcommittee at a hearing Dec. 31 that the department would have taken steps to try to work out a new procedure for supplying Lie with personnel information.

Lie's statement, prepared by Byron Bolton, U. S. assistant secretary general in charge of personnel, said the secretary general had urged the United Nations to ask the U. N. staff at the same time it declared, U. N. officials were unable to rid the organization of such persons without adequate evidence.
