French Workers Returning To Jobs

By ROBERT WILSON
PARIS (AP)—Non-Communist unions ordered thousands of workers to return to work today, the first break in the wave of strikes that has strangled France for 34 days.

But the back-to-work trek was slow. Unions were meeting all day Monday to discuss the terms of settlement.

The Socialist Workers' Force (FO) and the Christian Labor Federation (CFTC) reached agreement with Premier Joseph Laniel's government early today for postal, telegraph and telephone workers to end their strike. Other government workers were expected to join the back-to-work movement.

But attempts to put in telephone calls to other cities in France still were fruitless this afternoon. The communications services were not expected to be back to normal by Monday at any case.

On other strike fronts there was little perceptible change. Only a few railroad trains were running, though Socialists and Catholics ordered their rail men back to work. The Paris subway and bus system were still partially paralyzed. Coal mines were still idle.

Further, a 48-hour strike of metal workers called by non-Communist unions began today. Thousands of workers were reported idle at steel mills and other factories in the nation.

MANILA (AP)—Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine presidential trade envoy and a new Democratic Party leader, today announced his resignation as Nationalist Party President Elpidio Quirino and his Liberal Party.

Romulo had been elected president of the U. N. General Assembly and former ambassador to the United States, which he switched to "to ensure democracy in the Philippines."

In Washington, where he is recovering from two abdominal operations, Quirino said Romulo's action "shows that both the Democratic and Nationalist parties are demoralized and I do not expect them to afford much opposition."

He added: "I expect to return to the Philippines immediately and enter actively into the campaign."

150 HAPPY GIs RETURN TO FREEDOM

Sick And Wounded To Be Delivered By Reds Saturday

By FORBES EDWARDS
PANMINJON (AP)—A rollicking 150 Americans, the largest single delivery yet in the Korean War prisoner exchange, rode out of Red captivity at this wayside village today.

Eager as youngsters, they shouted and danced as they were freed from the South Korean camp.

The Americans were from Camp 1 at Chongson on the Yalu River, the Red stockade for "incorrigibles" who actively resisted Communism.

The repatriates said the first group of Americans from a fourth Red prison—Camp 9 Kaesong—arrived Thursday night at Kaesong, the Red clearing site just north of Panmunjom.

All other American POWs sent back have been from Camps 1, 2, 3 and 4, including some men transferred to be handed over Saturday.

Saturday's shipment was expected to include some 50 prisoners, a number of whom were reported only recently captured.

The Reds said Saturday's delivery would include 64 Americans—52 of them sick or wounded—230 South Koreans, 23 British, 13 Canadian, 3 Australian, 2 French, 1 Turk and 1 Colombian.

The 150 Americans returned Thursday brought the total to 1,465 of the 3,213 the Reds said they held in all 6,883 Allied prisoners, have been returned of the 12,193 listed by the Communists.

No Communist POWs were sent north Friday for the second straight day, but were scheduled to be handed over Saturday.

The Americans returning Friday were in spirits, but they also bore some physical ailments, especially shrapnel wounds.

The Reds were "death-glad" American aviators," said Col. Philip R. Rogers of Dover, the 49th Carrier Wing was stripped to a light shirt and summer pants, and ordered to remain outside in 25 below zero weather.

Another report told of a mentally ill American soldier tied to a pole with his hands.

N. C. Man Tells Of Escape Try

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Three days before the Korean armistice was signed, a Durham, N. C. soldier tried to escape from Communist Prison Camp 1.

Asked why he jeopardized his life, the soldier replied that he "couldn't see the light of freedom." "We hadn't had any news for three weeks. I wasn't taking any chances."

Fred M. Lane, Jr., was captured Dec. 1950, while with the U. S. 7th Division in the Chongju area. He said Associated Press photographer Frank Noel was in the column of prisoners in which he made his march north to prison camp.

"He was an older man but he kept going. He sure could take it," he added. Lane reached Freedom Village, but had to be rescued by the Americans.

Lane tried earlier before escape. Once Koreans brought him back the second time he was arrested. "The Chinese tried to put a pole all night," he added.
