

Zoning Issues On Perimeter To Be Heard

Providence Area Cases Predominate

By DICK YOUNG

Charlotte News Staff Writer

A dozen written requests have been filed today for inclusion on the agenda of the City Council's public hearing Wednesday night on proposed zoning regulations for the 90-square-mile perimeter area.

At the Council's last meeting Wednesday afternoon it was decided that those wishing to be heard at the zoning hearing would have to file written requests prior to the hearing.

Council will hear citizens at a special session scheduled for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the criminal courtroom at the Courthouse.

Requests for inclusion on the hearing's agenda so far filed are as follows:

Attorney Thomas Ruff, representing R. D. Bunting, seeking change from residential to business in the classification of property at the intersection of The Plaza, Hickory Grove and Newell Rds. Others in the same neighborhood will make similar request.

Hunter Jones and Paul C. Whitlock, attorneys representing Providence Village Inc., asking reclassification from residential to business of property on the southeast corner of Providence Rd. and Sharon Ln.

Richard E. Wardlaw, attorney and Mrs. Edna S. Bea, owners of Taylor Construction Co., requesting change from rural to industrial of two tracts consisting of 100 acres on the east side of Pineville Rd.

Attorney William E. Poe representing Clarksons Inc. of Realty Investment & Building Co., asking that a small tract the west side of York Rd. at Freedom Ln. be changed from residential to business.

John Robinson, attorney representing the Norfolk Southern Railway seeking reclassification from rural to industrial of land lying along the railroad right-of-way, 2 1/2 miles beyond the city limits.

L. L. Caudle, attorney, representing Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Eagle, seeking change in classification of 94.65 acres near Hickory Grove bordering the Norfolk Southern Railway from rural to industrial.

OTHERS ASKED: Those who have not filed written requests are asked to do so by next Wednesday afternoon.

The procedure of requiring written requests was instituted by Mayor Van Evary with the idea of better organizing the hearing so that all who wish to be heard their arguments might do so without confusion or delay.

Decision regarding the adoption of the zoning regulations, which have been recommended by the City County Planning Commission after two public hearings, will be taken by the Council at the Wednesday night hearing.

That decision will come until a later official session at the City Hall.

2nd Stadium Drive Set

Oct. 1 is the date set as the next step to raise additional money for the Myers Park High School community stadium.

An additional $150,000 is needed to add more sections to the stands and bring the seating capacity to 4,000.

A $17,500 contract was signed yesterday for the construction of the first part of the stadium. Work is scheduled to begin the first week in October and is expected to be completed in early December.

Signing of the contract ended the four-month fund campaign in the Myers Park section to match $20,000 offered by the Charlotte Board of Education.

The Oct. 1 drive will also furnish funds for a scoreboard, clock, press box and refreshment stands.

The stadium will have facilities for events other than football. The track field will be an oval around the gridiron. It will be available for community activities other than those of the school.

Asheville Trio Sings Tonight At Nevin

The Sentinels Trio of Asheville will sing tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Nevin Presbyterian Church. The "Forerunner With Christ" crusade will be led by the Rev. C. W. Solomon of Montreat. The trio will sing tomorrow at 11 a.m. on "What Makes Salvation So Great." A piano will accompany the Rally Day service. The trio will also sing tomorrow.

Dr. Brokhoff Will Moderate Program

Dr. J. R. Brokhoff, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church here, is moderator of the new program "Youth's Living Ideas," which will be broadcast each Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on Radio Station WBT.

Youth, parents and workers with young people are invited to send questions to the panel which consists of youth from all denominations.

WSSC MEETING: The Woman's Society of Christian Services of First Methodist Church will meet Oct. 3 at noon in the church dining room. Miss Eva Leavelle, moderator. An executive board meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m.

Tommy Lajoie Remembers Vicki

Arm In Cast Vicki Chase Victim Resting

By CHARLES KURALT

Charlotte News Staff Writer

Remember Vicki? T. P. Lajoie does. He's lying in Room 326, Mercy Hospital, with a cast on his left arm because of Charlotte's runaway elephant.

Mr. Lajoie, of Academy Rd., second assistant chief of the Woodlawn Volunteer Fire Dept., joined the hunt Wednesday afternoon.

"We were looking for her across the creek from the disposal plant on Wilmore Rd.," he remembers. The honeyuckle was almost head high.

At about 3:30, Mr. Lajoie found Vicki. She came crashing through the woods, made a 90-degree turn and headed for him.

"I could hear her head behind me," he said. "Just as she reached me, I tripped in the vines beside the creek and fell down."

The girl left Mr. Lajoie groggy and broke his elbow. But other hunters told him Vicki stopped when he fell, waved her trunk in the air above him a few times, then wheeled and trotted away.

Another assistant chief at Woodlawn, Tyler Gares, helped Mr. Lajoie to his feet and a jeep took him out of the woods. He has been at Mercy ever since.

When a reporter and photographer visited him on Feb. 1, 1958, in Pittsburgh, Pa., son of the late Otto and Leontina Stunkle Heil, he was granted from Perkinson Prep School in Allentown, Pa.

Mr. Heil had been a Charlotte resident for the past 21 years. He had received a diploma from Land-O-Lakes Creamery Products Co. and was manager for the two Carolinas. He was a charter member of Selwyn Avenue Presbyterian Church, a member of the Charlotte Gentlemen's Club and the Myers Park Club.

Surviving are his wife, one son, William Heil Jr., a student at Western Carolina College; one sister, Mrs. Wendell Jewell, of West Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y.; and his mother, Mrs. Greta Heil of Ocean City, Long Island, N. Y.

Funeral arrangements were in complete this afternoon pending the arrival of relatives. The body is at Harry & Bryant Chapel in the Oaks.

William Heil Dies Suddenly

By DICK YOUNG

Mrs. Lucille Holt, cosmetician: "I don't think it's fair, their taking off so many buses. I get mad every morning. Providence Rd. bus service in the morning is terrible."

Mrs. Harry E. Smith, housewife: "I ride the buses very rarely, but there seems to be good service in my neighborhood. They seem to come along about every 15 minutes on Club Rd."

M. M. Grey, salesman: "I signed the petition to change the bus stop at the Briarwood Rd. end of the Queens Rd. bus line. The new stop is worse than ever. Three curves approach it and there are no sidewalks. If the City Councilmen ever once rode that bus in the rain or at night, no more words would be needed."

Mrs. Herbert Schoof of the AAUW is publicity chairman for the institute and Mrs. Richard Weider is vice chairman. Mrs. Betty Pezer heads a staff of users from the AAUW.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of WBT, 1 Jefferson Pl.

BILLY GRAHAM SCOLDS WOMEN ABOUT CLOTHES

TORONTO — (AP) — American evangelist Billy Graham spoke out last night against women who wear clothes that make them impure thoughts to the minds of men.

Thieves Get Loot, Scorn Biggy Bank

Mrs. G. H. O'Brian, Toddville Rd., yesterday reported to police that she had a pile of articles valued at over $100 from her home.

Officers Sherrill and Burden arrested Mrs. O'Brian said she left home at 9 a.m. yesterday. When she returned at 1:45 p.m., she found the doors and windows of her home locked as she left them, but jewelry and other miscellaneous belongings gone.

A piggy bank on top of the rifled chest of drawers was left undisturbed, Mrs. O'Brian reported.

Church Officers To Be Installed

New officers to be installed and reported back to Virginia this winter at the University of the South.

Tomorrow will mark the end of the 11th conference year in the country and spoke little English, pastor, will preach on "Rally Day in Jerusalem."

At 6:30 p.m. Dr. McCleeny will be the third in a series of Holy Land pictures.

Calvary Rally Service Planned

Rally Day services will be held tomorrow morning at Calvary Presbyterian Church with various departments of the Sunday school participating.

Dr. W. P. Cumming, professor of English at Davidson College, got on the trail of the elusive 17th century explorer 30 years ago.

His findings will be published this winter at the University of Virginia in the "Journal of John Lederer."

Lederer was the first man to record his travels through the section now known as the North Carolina Piedmont, according to Dr. Cumming.

The explorer was commissioned by the governor of Virginia to search for the area in 1710. It was then believed that the Pacific Ocean was roaring in general location of the mountains in the Western part of this state.

Briefly, Lederer came, saw and reported back to Virginia that there was for a large body of water.

Probably, Dr. Cumming said, Lederer saw the swamps that were then located between the mountains and as far in as north Mecklenburg County.

It was possible, too, that Lederer who recently arrived in the country and spoke little English, tried to communicate with the Indians in the area through sign language and a guide.

"If he made motions with his hands indicating the rolling of the sea and pointed westward, the Indians would all agree with him. To the Indians the rolling motion meant the mountains," Dr. Cumming said.

The search for information on the obscure explorer has taken Dr. Cumming through Europe and the United States. He has had five or six grants to spend time examining maps throughout the world and believes he has found and recorded every map of the Southeast United States.

Doing research on maps and explorers is the next best thing to actually making the trip in history, Dr. Cumming says.

Tomorrow he will lecture at 3:30 p.m. at the Mint Museum where his extensive collection of maps is displayed. He will speak on "Early Maps, Mapmakers and Explorers of the Southeast."

It is expected that special emphasis will be given to John Lederer who Dr. Cumming calls the pioneer of the Piedmont.

Many Pastors To Attend Meet

A study of Biblical passages dealing with woman's suffrage will be given at the Southeastern District Fall Conference of Pastors of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

More than 100 pastors are expected at the conference which will be held Tuesday through Thursday at Ascension Lutheran Church here.

Highlighting the program will be an essay on "Evangelism in the Rev. Elmer A. Kettner, editor of Advance magazine in St. Louis, Mo. will be the guest speaker.

The ministers will discuss the needs of the record-breaking budget of almost thirteen million dollars adopted in July by the general church body.

The conference service with Holy Communion will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. E. A. Cassens of Baltimore, Md., will preach the conference sermon.

Host pastor is the Rev. L. P. Fricker, minister of the South-eastern district of the church, ex-communicated from Dover, Del. to Savannah, Ga.

YOU'D BE MAD TOO— THE 3RD TIME

It's getting a little exasperating for J. E. Roberts, 106 Elston Court.

Last night, he reported to city police, somebody took all the hubcaps from his 1933 Buick—for the third time in recent nights.

Reed Sarrott Gets W-S Post

Reed Sarrott, former News reporter and city editor and native Charlottean, has been named general supervisor of the news departments of the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel.

Publisher W. K. Hoyt said that Mr. Sarrott, who has been editorial director for the two papers, takes a post vacated by Wallace Carroll, who resigned to become Washington news editor of the New York Times.

Mr. Sarrott is a former editorial writer for The Baltimore Sun papers in 1952. Mr. Sarrott is the former Elva Hanson of Charlotte.

Chadwick Methodists Plan Homecoming

Homecoming will be observed at Chadwick Methodist Church Oct. 2 with the Rev. Harold M. Robinson of Thomasville as guest speaker.

Former pastors and members are invited to the 11 a.m. service and the dinner which will follow.

Catholic Men Plan Joint Club Meeting

Representative Charles R. Johns will speak to the men's clubs of St. Patrick's and St. Anne's Catholic churches Monday at 6:30 p.m. at O'Donnoghue School.

Catholic Men Plan Joint Club Meeting

The joint meeting was changed from tonight to Monday.

WARM, FOGGY WEEKEND WITH SHOWERS FORECAST

Fall mixed the blessings of possible showers with dangers of fog today as low-lying clouds threw a gray cloak around the Charlotte area.

With Hurricane Janet kicking up her windy heels in the Caribbean the low gray clouds drifted into the Carolinas and clamped a low ceiling on the city's airport.

The ceiling was as low as 200 feet early in this morning and visibility reduced to a mile, but the field was not closed to commercial aircraft.

More warm, foggy weather with the possibility of showers is predicted through tomorrow. An 88-degree high is seen today, an 82-degree top tomorrow. Low here today was 64 and a minimum of 65 is forecast for tomorrow.

Two Injured In 30-Foot Hoist Drop

By CHARLES KURALT

Charlotte News Staff Writer

Two men were injured this morning when a construction hoist they were riding dropped 30 feet to the ground.

The hoist is located at the rear of the National Cash Register Co. building, 1014 S. Tryon St., adjoining the driveway lot of Honey's Restaurant.

Matthew O. Green of Orlando Fla. was admitted to Memorial Hospital. Preliminary examination showed a broken leg and possible neck and back injuries. The other man, Robert Taylor of Atlanta, Ga., was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital with a broken ankle.

The men were employed by the roofing contractor for the building, W. H. Watson and Zimmerman Construction Co. of Atlanta, Ga., according to investigating police officers Hullett and Farrell.

The foreman on the job reported he did not know what caused the elevator to slip. The drop was from the hoist, according to Hullett and Farrell. When they were replaced, the elevator worked properly.

William Heil Dies Suddenly

By DICK YOUNG

Mrs. Lucille Holt, cosmetician: "I don't think it's fair, their taking off so many buses. I get mad every morning. Providence Rd. bus service in the morning is terrible."

Mrs. Harry E. Smith, housewife: "I ride the buses very rarely, but there seems to be good service in my neighborhood. They seem to come along about every 15 minutes on Club Rd."

M. M. Grey, salesman: "I signed the petition to change the bus stop at the Briarwood Rd. end of the Queens Rd. bus line. The new stop is worse than ever. Three curves approach it and there are no sidewalks. If the City Councilmen ever once rode that bus in the rain or at night, no more words would be needed."

Mrs. Herbert Schoof of the AAUW is publicity chairman for the institute and Mrs. Richard Weider is vice chairman. Mrs. Betty Pezer heads a staff of users from the AAUW.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of WBT, 1 Jefferson Pl.

Thieves Get Loot, Scorn Biggy Bank

Mrs. G. H. O'Brian, Toddville Rd., yesterday reported to police that she had a pile of articles valued at over $100 from her home.

Officers Sherrill and Burden arrested Mrs. O'Brian said she left home at 9 a.m. yesterday. When she returned at 1:45 p.m., she found the doors and windows of her home locked as she left them, but jewelry and other miscellaneous belongings gone.

A piggy bank on top of the rifled chest of drawers was left undisturbed, Mrs. O'Brian reported.

Church Officers To Be Installed

New officers to be installed and reported back to Virginia this winter at the University of the South.

Tomorrow will mark the end of the 11th conference year in the country and spoke little English, pastor, will preach on "Rally Day in Jerusalem."

At 6:30 p.m. Dr. McCleeny will be the third in a series of Holy Land pictures.

Calvary Rally Service Planned

Rally Day services will be held tomorrow morning at Calvary Presbyterian Church with various departments of the Sunday school participating.

Dr. W. P. Cumming, professor of English at Davidson College, got on the trail of the elusive 17th century explorer 30 years ago.

His findings will be published this winter at the University of Virginia in the "Journal of John Lederer."

Lederer was the first man to record his travels through the section now known as the North Carolina Piedmont, according to Dr. Cumming.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION: "Do you have any complaint about the local bus service? If so, what?"

THE REPORTER: Charles Kuralt.

Mrs. W. R. Tresler, housewife: "I don't have to ride the buses very often, but when I do, I find the service bad. There is a very long wait between buses. They say they haven't taken any buses off, but I know they have."

Nathaniel Harris, shipping dept. worker: "No, I have no complaints. I just got back from Japan—I was in the Marines—and I like the service better than when I left. The Elizabeth bus comes right past my front door."

M. M. Grey, salesman: "I signed the petition to change the bus stop at the Briarwood Rd. end of the Queens Rd. bus line. The new stop is worse than ever. Three curves approach it and there are no sidewalks. If the City Councilmen ever once rode that bus in the rain or at night, no more words would be needed."

Mrs. Herbert Schoof of the AAUW is publicity chairman for the institute and Mrs. Richard Weider is vice chairman. Mrs. Betty Pezer heads a staff of users from the AAUW.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of WBT, 1 Jefferson Pl.

I Remember When...

By DICK YOUNG

Mrs. Dick Sprinkle lived on the southeast corner of 9th & College Sts., where Robert Hall's clothing store now is, and how she stopped and chatted with almost everybody she met when she walked to town.

Mr. Heil had been a Charlotte resident for the past 21 years. He had received a diploma from Land-O-Lakes Creamery Products Co. and was manager for the two Carolinas. He was a charter member of Selwyn Avenue Presbyterian Church, a member of the Charlotte Gentlemen's Club and the Myers Park Club.

Surviving are his wife, one son, William Heil Jr., a student at Western Carolina College; one sister, Mrs. Wendell Jewell, of West Hempstead, Long Island, N. Y.; and his mother, Mrs. Greta Heil of Ocean City, Long Island, N. Y.

Funeral arrangements were in complete this afternoon pending the arrival of relatives. The body is at Harry & Bryant Chapel in the Oaks.

Church Officers To Be Installed

New officers to be installed and reported back to Virginia this winter at the University of the South.

Tomorrow will mark the end of the 11th conference year in the country and spoke little English, pastor, will preach on "Rally Day in Jerusalem."

At 6:30 p.m. Dr. McCleeny will be the third in a series of Holy Land pictures.

Calvary Rally Service Planned

Rally Day services will be held tomorrow morning at Calvary Presbyterian Church with various departments of the Sunday school participating.

Dr. W. P. Cumming, professor of English at Davidson College, got on the trail of the elusive 17th century explorer 30 years ago.

His findings will be published this winter at the University of Virginia in the "Journal of John Lederer."

Lederer was the first man to record his travels through the section now known as the North Carolina Piedmont, according to Dr. Cumming.

The explorer was commissioned by the governor of Virginia to search for the area in 1710. It was then believed that the Pacific Ocean was roaring in general location of the mountains in the Western part of this state.

Briefly, Lederer came, saw and reported back to Virginia that there was for a large body of water.

Probably, Dr. Cumming said, Lederer saw the swamps that were then located between the mountains and as far in as north Mecklenburg County.

It was possible, too, that Lederer who recently arrived in the country and spoke little English, tried to communicate with the Indians in the area through sign language and a guide.

"If he made motions with his hands indicating the rolling of the sea and pointed westward, the Indians would all agree with him. To the Indians the rolling motion meant the mountains," Dr. Cumming said.

300 Expected At Publicity Institute

Approximately 300 presidents and publicity chairmen of local organizations are expected to attend the second annual Publicity Institute Friday night.

The institute is sponsored by the Charlotte branch of the American Association of University Women, the Charlotte News and WBT-WBTV.

Editors of The News and officials of WBT will submit new items to the press and radio and will outline their respective news operations.

Participants in the news panel will include B. S. Griffith, executive editor of The News; Tom Fesperman, managing editor of the Daily Profit Jr., city editor from The Charlotte News; and Kenneth I. Treddwell Jr., vice president; Bailey Hobgood, radio program director; and Lucy Sellers, television program supervisor from WBT-WBTV.

The meeting will be presided over by Mrs. Charles Kemmerer, president of the Charlotte AAUW branch.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of WBT, 1 Jefferson Pl.

BILLY GRAHAM SCOLDS WOMEN ABOUT CLOTHES

TORONTO — (AP) — American evangelist Billy Graham spoke out last night against women who wear clothes that make them impure thoughts to the minds of men.

"It is as bad as murder to entice others to sin... to entice them to immorality," he said. "You women — many of you have dressed in such a way as to bring impure thoughts in the minds of men. And you have done it deliberately. God has mercy on your souls."

More than 6,000 persons heard the evangelist last night at the sixth in his series of meetings here.

Marshall Pickens Gets High Honor

Marshall I. Pickens of Charlotte was one of five persons receiving honorary fellowships in the American College of Hospital Administrators at the annual convention of the American Hospital Association in Atlantic City.

Mr. Pickens, director of the Hospital and Orphan section of the Duke Endowment here, received the fellowship from Dr. A. C. Kerlikowske, ACHA president.

Others receiving fellowships were Basil O'Connor, president, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; Leonard I. Dean, president of Dow Chemical Co.; Emory W. Morris, president and general director of The Kellogg Foundation; and trustee of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of Boston.

Will Show Maps At Mint Davidson Prof Tracked Explorer

By HELEN PARKS

DAVIDSON — The professor-sluth has tracked down John Lederer, the first explorer of North Carolina Piedmont.

Dr. W. P. Cumming, professor of English at Davidson College, got on the trail of the elusive 17th century explorer 30 years ago.

His findings will be published this winter at the University of Virginia in the "Journal of John Lederer."

Lederer was the first man to record his travels through the section now known as the North Carolina Piedmont, according to Dr. Cumming.

The explorer was commissioned by the governor of Virginia to search for the area in 1710. It was then believed that the Pacific Ocean was roaring in general location of the mountains in the Western part of this state.

Briefly, Lederer came, saw and reported back to Virginia that there was for a large body of water.

Probably, Dr. Cumming said, Lederer saw the swamps that were then located between the mountains and as far in as north Mecklenburg County.

It was possible, too, that Lederer who recently arrived in the country and spoke little English, tried to communicate with the Indians in the area through sign language and a guide.

Dr. Cumming and Map

The exploration took an abrupt turn when Lederer became afraid he'd be captured by the Spanish and put into slavery.

He started the trip back to Virginia by another route. According to his map he returned through the area where Pinehurst is located now.

We can be reasonably sure Lederer was the first white man to visit the site where Charlotte now stands, Dr. Cumming said.

The documented findings of the professor includes unpublished letters of Lederer.

The search for information on the obscure explorer has taken Dr. Cumming through Europe