ALLIES ASK ACCOUNTING FOR POWS

U. N. Command Shows 3,404 Missing After End Of Exchange

By SAM SUMNERLIN
PARIS (U.P.)—The U.N. Command today accused the Communist of holding back 3,404 Allied war captives, including 604 Americans, and a demand for prompt accounting for all of them "for else."

"We now demand that you return these people to us or account to us for each of these individuals," the chief Allied spokesman to the Korean Armistice Commission told the Communists.

"We demand prompt action," he added.

Maj. Gen. Blackham M. Bryan turned over a carefully documented list to the Reds at a 1 hour and 26 minute meeting of the commission.

Later he told newsmen the Reds must give an accounting "or else." He did not amplify.

KNOWN PRISONERS

He said the list of missing prisoners includes only the names of people who spoke or were referred to over Communist radio broadcasts, were listed by the Reds as captives, wrote letters from North Korean camps or were seen "in stockades."

The Far East Command said the list would not be released here, but in Washington. There, officials said they were doing all they could to speed release of the American names, but the list might not be available for two days.

The Communists said they reserved "the right to comment later," then countered with a demand for the return of all North Korean released from Allied camps last June on orders from South Korea's President Syngman Rhee.

DEMAND DISMISSED

Bryan, dismissing the Red demand for a "list," said the armistice commission counterpart:

"It is self evident you are not forthcoming in these matters."

He told the Reds the U.N. list covered only men known to have been captured during the war, but that many more were reported by you as having escaped or died," Bryan added.

The list, in addition to the American forces, included 2,430 South Koreans, 19 British, 9 Australians, 8 South Africans, 3 Canadians, 3 Belgians, 2 Turks, 3 Colombian and 1 Greek.

Bryan told the Reds the list exceeds the number they have stated do not desire repatriation by about 3,100.

The Communists say about 300.

LARD LETHAL WEAPON IN COP'S DEATH

BERLIN (U.P.)—The U. S. High Commission newspaper reported today that an East German housewife had killed a communist policeman with the two-pound can of lard from the Western food parcel he was trying to take away from her.

The newspaper said the enraged housewife fractured the cop's leg when he tried to grab her parcel at the Babelsberg station, in the Russian zone just outside of West Berlin.

The woman was returning with her husband from a distribution center in West Berlin, where more than 100,000 food parcels have been distributed since July 27. An average of 10,000 food packages now are being given out daily.

Researchers Say Cancer Caused By Tiny Organism

ROME (U.P.)—An American research group today pictured cancer as an infectious disease, like tuberculosis or syphilis, caused by a tiny organism.

Presenting a series of papers to the sixth International Congress of Microbiology, the group claimed to have isolated the micro-organisms, members said they had obtained an anti-serum from bodies of animals infected with the disease and that the anti-serum weakens and sometimes destroys the cancer-causing organism.

The reports were read by Dr. Virginia Wuerthele-Cas, Dr. Eleanor Alexander-Jackson, Dr. W. L. ...

Truce Team Member Flees From Reds

SEOUL (U.P.)—A Polish member of a neutral nations truce inspection team in South Korea today fled from his Iron Curtain country, and was given political asylum by an American air base commander, the U. S. Army announced.

The Pole made his dramatic break as an airplane was warning speak to his inspection team back to North Korea.

"It's my last chance," the Pole said.

The Army identified the man as Jan Hajdukiewicz, 28, a civilian interpreter with the United Nations inspection team at Kangnung, on Korea's east coast.

The Army said the Pole and other members of his team of Polish, Czechs, Swedes and Swiss, had been at Kangnung since Aug. 24. Hajdukiewicz was standing on the Kangnung airfield with other members of the truce team at 5:30 A. M. today as an airplane was warning up to take the team back to North Korea.

The Army said the Pole went to the American officer attached to the unit inspection team, Maj. Edward Moran, Westport, Md.

Republican On Griddle Accused Influence Man Denies Links

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—House investigators dig into "four percent" activities disclosed today that Warren L. Stephenson swore he didn't really know anybody in the Navy at the time he was offering to use his "contacts" to get business for a California manufacturer.

Stephenson, a manufacturer's agent, is prominent in Republican activities in Washington and is executive secretary of President Eisenhower's inaugural committee.

Last weekend, members of a House armed services subcommittee disclosed he was questioned in secret session in June and acknowledged offering for a 4 per cent fee to help a West Coast firm get a Navy contract for rocket launchers.

Today, the House group made public the transcript of his testimony.

This showed that Stephenson first testified he was "positive" he couldn't recall any telephone conversation in which he made such an offer to Century Industries, Inc., of Burbank, Calif.

"I don't remember using any percentage figure with anybody," he told the subcommittee.

But later, after purported excerpts of his telephone conversation were read to him, he recalled telling the firm that "my fee would be 4 per cent."

He also revealed giving the company that if it wanted a contract to build more than 25,000 rocket launchers—which the firm already was scheduled to produce—you are going to have to have some help here."

Stephenson, according to the telephone log, spoke of "contracts" he had in the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, Bureau of Ordnance and Bureau of Ships.

The subcommittee asked him:

12 Injured In Bus Crash

CHINA GROVE, N. C. (U.P.)—Eight women and four men passengers on an express Greyhound bus were hospitalized today after the bus smashed into the rear of a big truck on U. S. Highway 29 near here.

The injured, none in a serious condition, were admitted to a Salisbury hospital.

Highway Patrolman R. M. Dickerson said the accident occurred about 1 a. m. as the bus was taking 32 passengers from Charlotte to Winston-Salem. He said the bus driver, Clifton Lewis of Winston-Salem, had been charged with following another vehicle too closely and the truck driver, Robert C. Hangerd of Gastonia, an employe of Akers Motor Lines, with reckless driving.

The front of the bus was smashed.

None of the injured was from North Carolina.

Neighbors Oppose Shopping Center

Protest over a proposed shopping center on Providence Road near the intersection of Sharon-Amity Road touched the boiling point today.

A group of home owners in the area formed the Sharon-Providence Home Owners Committee to oppose the proposed area planned by Providence Village Inc.

Stan R. Brookshire, chairman of the committee, said the group was speaking of a large number of residents and called the planned business "an encroachment of business in a strictly residential neighborhood."

In a statement which the committee prepared for publication, the group said it did not "question the legal rights of the owner to develop the property in any way he may choose, since we understand the land is unencumbered... but we believe the best interests of the community and greater Charlotte can be served by developing it as residential property rather than for business."

Providence Village Inc. is a firm headed by Sam McDonald, Charlotte real estate developer. Mr. McDonald said today he had planned to build such a center, but had no plans for starting the project in the near future.

BEC-PRICED TRACT

"I bought the land at high prices," he said. "I could not afford to develop it for residential purposes."

He pointed out that the land was on the market for some time and that persons interested in buying it for residential purposes had ample opportunity to do so.

He added that there are no "line homes" near the site of the proposed development. He said the type center he had in mind would contain at least 40,000 square feet with ample parking areas. An architect prepared a rough sketch of buildings he proposed, but he said this drawing was not acceptable to him.

"I may not build this center at all," he said. "I may decide to sell the land to individuals and let them do what they wish with it."

Wine Judges Have High Old Time At State Fair

By WAYNE HARRERT
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (U.P.)—There were hundreds of bottles, and the corkers were coming out well.

The hall smelled like a wine cellar.

Indeed, a lady in a multicolored skirt and plain white blouse was saying:

"I can feel it in my legs. I'll be like Bambi on the ice."

But it was a very serious party, the California State Fair wine tasting.

There were wines with fancy names like Cabernet Sauvignon, Folle Blanche and Pinot Chardonnay. And there was just plain luscious wine. Of course there were the champagne—brut, "brutal," said a gal sampler, but demt see and sweet. Each cork

Storm Develops Suddenly Near Turks Island

MIAMI, Fla. (U.P.)—A hurricane containing winds of 95 miles an hour sprang up suddenly today near Turks Island, 300 miles south-east of Miami and offered an immediate threat to the Bahamas Islands.

Graley Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said the swiftly-developing disturbance "is in a bad position as far as Florida is concerned."

The hurricane, called Dolly for the fourth letter in the alphabet, is in the embryo stage "but is developing very fast," said Norton. It grew out of an easterly wave which extended to a long line from Puerto Rico over the Virgin Islands yesterday. It contained heavy rains up to 10 1/2 inches over the Virgin Islands.

"We were suspicious of it yesterday," said Norton. "A heavy hurricane hunter plane flew through it but found no organized storm."

"Another hurricane hunter went into it today and the center had already formed, and the eye was well defined. The heavy winds are southeast of the center, as they usually are in the early stages of a hurricane's development. Only light westerly winds were found south of the eye."

"With the steady displacement by this storm, a fully developed hurricane with heavy winds all the way around can be expected."

"The storm offers an immediate threat to Turks Island and The Bahamas. The very closest watch must be kept for its movement."

The storm is moving at a forward pace of 15 miles an hour, not an unusual speed while in the wave form. As winds whip up around its center, it will slow down, Norton predicted.

The hurricane is the fourth of the season.

The first advisory on the new hurricane reported is moving west-northwestward with its center about 115 miles east-southwest of Turks Island.

The center was expected to pass close to Turks Island this afternoon and move into the southeastern Bahamas tonight. Some of the islands in its path include San Salvador, where Columbus made his landfall in the new world on his voyage of discovery and where the United States has a guided missile tracking station; and the islands of Mayaguana, and the Crooked Islands.

SECURITY BODY MEETS

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The National Security Council, the administration's top defense planning group, held its third meeting here since President Eisenhower left on his Colorado vacation a month ago. Vice President Nixon presided.
