Joe 'Whipping Boy' Malone Says

Destruction Of Probe Powers Called Aim

Censure Resolution Changes Hinted

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Malone (R-NV) said today Sen. McCarthy has been made "the whipping boy" in a move aimed "to destroy the investigative powers" of the Senate.

Weapons Program Unharmred

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today the Dixon-Yates controversy "has not affected our weapons program."

"I'm afraid," Strauss told the Senate House Committee on Atomic Energy, "there has been a misleading impression conveyed" during hearings on the controversial power deal "to the effect that the weapons program has been impaired."

"In my opinion," he declared, "it has not."

Strauss gave the committee his views under questioning by Sen. Anderson (D-MI) obviously inspired by earlier testimony from AEC Commissioner Thomas E. Murray.

Murray on Nov. 8 told the committee it would be impossible to estimate the degree to which "top level" commission attention has been diverted from its grave primary responsibilities by an issue only distantly related thereto.

"I can assure you that the time spent on this highly controversial and political matter is increasing neither our weapons 'know how' late changes in the government's nor our weapons production at a favor had met some of his major objections and he now feels "it is important," comparable to that which we are presently enjoying."

Strauss in today's hearing said "there never has been a degree of expansion in our production program comparable to that which we are presently enjoying."

He said he had studied the minutes of AEC meetings and found that "the Dixon-Yates affair" was involved in "something more than three per cent of the utility group was formally signed by the AEC yesterday with consent from Murray. He avoided full endorsement of the deal but said time of the commission."

STRIKE GIVES WAY TO HOPALONG CASSIDY

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Hopalong Cassidy put a slight crimp in the Australian waterfront strike today.

Sydney dockers agreed to unload 10,000 Hopalong Cassidy Good Luck Medals from the freighter Ventura for distribution by the Western film star—William Boyd.

He was welcomed by 1,000 men, women and children, some from remote cattle ranches hundreds of miles away, on his arrival at Darwin last night.

The waterfront strike involves 26,000 men. They are trying to force the government to withdraw legislation which would give ship-owners the right to recruit new wharf labor, a right now held exclusively by the dockers' union.

San Diego Hit By Quake

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A sharp, rolling earthquake shook this city at 4:26 a. m. today.

It made houses creak and started suspended objects swinging, but there were no reports of damage.

Fred S. Robinson, amateur seismologist, rated its intensity at 6 on the Mercalli scale which ranges up to a maximum of 12.

Robinson said the tremors started at 4:26:51 and lasted five to six minutes. He estimated the job's center at about 70 miles southeast of here. That would put it in a sparsely settled area below the Mexican border in Lower California.

The seismologist said he thought the quake could have caused damage at or near its center.

He described its motion as rolling north and south at the start, then moving into a complete roll in all directions.

Awakened residents swamped newspapers and police switchboards with inquiries. Robinson said some who called him sounded panicky.

The quake was felt at El Centro, approximately 110 miles east of here, but likewise without report of damage.

No Evidence Of Break-In At Sheppards' Home

(Earlier story on page 3-A)

CLEVELAND (AP)—The first police officer to enter the bedroom where a murder trial was held today found no signs that anyone had entered from outside through a window.

Fred F. Drenkhan, a patrolman in suburban Bay Village, said only one of three bedroom windows was open when he inspected the room. The window was closed and the curtain was pulled down.

The screen of that window was securely latched and there was dust on the window sill, the police officer testified. The other two windows were locked.

In previous testimony of the first degree murder trial of the victim's husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30, his defense attorneys had insisted there was no possibility someone might have come into the murder room by climbing an apple tree at the rear of the home and entering through a window.

Sheppard has maintained steadfastly that his wife was beaten to death by a bushy-haired intruder, and that he was "clubbed" unconscious when he tried to help her.

Drenkhan also said he found no evidence of a struggle in the bedroom at the lakefront home, but noted blood specks on all four walls and on a closet door.

"Were there any signs of entry whatsoever on any of the windows?" prosecutor Thomas J. Pappano asked.

"No," the witness replied.

The patrolman said there was a second bed in the room.

"What was the appearance of the second bed?" Pappano asked.

"It was open," the officer replied, "and there were specks of blood on the sheets."

Pappano asked there was any evidence anyone had slept in the second bed.

"No," the witness replied, "I looked as if it had just been opened to prepare it for someone coming to bed."

"How far was Marilyn's bed from the east wall window which was open?" Pappano asked.

"About four feet," the officer replied.

"As you examined all the contents of that room did you find in that room any evidence whatsoever of a struggle?"

"No, there wasn't," the patrolman replied after a defense objection was overruled.

Drenkhan testified that in the living room of the house a secretary desk had the three lower drawers pulled out. Papers, he said, were strewn on the floor. The fourth, top drawer, was closed.

"Otherwise, the appearance of the room seemed normal," the officer said.

Drenkhan, a social as well as a police friend of Dr. Sheppard, has been testifying before the Veterans Day recess halted the trial.

EVENING PRAYER

O Thou Shepherd of souls, prevent our wandering from Thy loving care, and protect us from evil, which would destroy the beauty of that life which Thou dost give unto all who trust in Thee. For Thy name's sake we ask it. Amen.

On Lake Erie Hunting Trip

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—President Eisenhower took a "thrasher" from government business today to hunt ducks on Lake Erie with Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

"We should have pretty good luck if it doesn't rain," Humphrey remarked with an anxious look at the skies as the President arrived here late yesterday.

The chief executive flew from Kansas where earlier in the day he dedicated a $25,000 Eisenhower memorial museum "to the future citizens of a great and glorious America."

The weatherman made no mention of the possibility of rain as Humphrey did, but he forecast about 23 degrees above zero in the early morning and said there might be a little snow.

The President and his cabinet officer set up their headquarters at the secluded Cedar Point Club, situated on Lake Erie marshland on Maumee Bay, about 14 miles east of Toledo.

The unpretentious club—a two-story white frame building—is located 2 1/2 miles off the main highway and reached over a winding, unpaved road heavily lined with trees and brush.

Newsmen were permitted to accompany Eisenhower and Humphrey to the front yard of the club last night, but were barred from the premises and the hunting area today.

On his way with Humphrey to meet the President at the airport were the secretary's son, Gilbert W. Humphrey, and the cabinet officer's partner in the Pittsburgh

HORSE WANTED HELP FOR TANGLED FRIEND

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—A Missoula man, his son and a companion sheepishly swear to this story.

S. F. Howard, his son, William, and another hunter were looking for Chinese pheasants in the lower Flathead Valley.

Young Howard entered a field and a large pinto horse ran up to him snorting. Howard withdrew and so did the horse.

He tried to enter the field a second time. The pinto came back—this time running in a partial circle past the hunter and over to another horse, a bay.

The three followed the pinto to the bay horse and found it entangled in a five-strand barbed wire fence. While they freed the wounded animal, the pinto stood by.

"And you know," said Howard, "that once we got the bay horse free, the pinto paid no more attention to us."

1 Dead, 19 Hurt In Derailment

NASHUA, N. H. (AP)—The Red Wing, Boston & Maine Montreal to Boston overnight passenger train, was derailed as it approached the Nashua railroad station early today killing one woman and injuring at least 19 persons.

The dead woman was tentatively identified by police as Mrs. Mary Buckley, 40, of Manchester. Her 11-year-old daughter, Katherine, was among the injured.

Six of the seven cars lay on their sides as police and firemen rushed the injured to two Nashua hospitals.

The cause of the accident was not known immediately.

The train was due to stop at Nashua at 5:47 a.m. (EST). Its last proper stop was at White River Junction, Vt.

The Red Wing was hauled by two diesel engines. The derailed train was forced against a building.

Richard Aylward, railway spokesman, said the Red Wing consisted of two sleepers, two coaches and baggage, railway express and mail cars.

Two freight cars on a siding were rammed by the derailed train and forced against a building.

Over 620,000 Ballots Cast In N. C. Election

RALEIGH (AP)—More than 620,000 Tar Heels cast ballots in the Nov. 2 general election, complete returns from the state's 2,024 precincts showed today.

The vote totals released by Raymond Maxwell, executive secretary of the State Board of Elections, will become the official returns when they are certified by the board here Nov. 23.

In the major race of Statewide interest former Gov. W. Kerr Scott defeated Republican Paul C. West for the U. S. Senate by a vote of 408,812 to 211,322, complete returns showed.

The combined vote in the race totaled 620,134.

A constitutional amendment to limit a county to a single state senator, regardless of population, hour. It was centered about 500 miles south of New Orleans.

The amendment had been strongly condemned by the late Gov. James B. Hunt in a 1952 campaign.

Suspicious Area Probed In Gulf

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Navy hurricane hunter plane flew from Jacksonville to the southwestern Gulf of Mexico today to probe an area of suspicion.

The spot of the low pressure was reported by ships to have circled a county to about 35 miles per hour. It was centered about 500 miles south of New Orleans.

That disturbance and a high pressure system to the north caused fresh winds to blow along the Florida coast. Small craft warnings went up along the Atlantic coast for the third straight day between Jacksonville and Key West.
