

New York Doings

Earl Wilson

NEW YORK—It's all right to lie to your wife. Or even your husband. I suspected that such things were going on—being a very sharp character from Ohio—but it took Hume Cronyn, the actor-director-producer, and his assistant, Jessica Tandy, to point it out.

Two young lovelies who hadn't seen each other for a couple of years were gushing about their marriages since. "And who's the curly-haired man you're with?" asked one. "Oh," replied the other, "he's the Tony who gave me my twins."

"One of the worst things married couples can do is be absolutely honest with each other," he said. "Remember my Sunday School teacher experience, when I lectured the young about truth. I qualified at his words."

"I explained that when he received an uncomplimentary review for his performance in 'The Fourposter' or 'The Radiowood,' 'The Marriage' helped me the review gets so accidentally."

"I'm sure Jessica has destroyed it so I won't see it again," he said. "It's just that I have a bad feeling system," she replied—lying, I suspect.

I mentioned how I'd hesitated for a long time once telling her my Barcroft Wife I didn't like a certain dress. "I would have kept my mouth shut," Miss Tandy said. "At birthdays when I was kid, Herb's printer recalls. 'All I got one year was a jelly bean with my name on it.'"

Priscilla Gillette described a French sugar daddy, a man with lots of moola.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Band-leader Leo Feiner, who in Russia there are ten people to the square mile and 10,000 people to the square foot.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "We didn't make much fuss over birthdays when I was kid," Herb's printer recalls. "All I got one year was a jelly bean with my name on it."

The Worry Clinic

Martha almost ruined her husband by failing to toot the horns of his position. Instead, she invariably tooted her own horn. This deflated her ego. When she reversed her lifelong habit, a remarkable change occurred and her husband now has a big city church.

CASE K-393: Martha T., aged 38, is a clergyman's wife. Don't be a worry clinic. Don't be a worry clinic. Don't be a worry clinic.

People just don't take me. I'm not exaggerating for at our last church, one of the deacons said that in a letter when he explained why my husband wasn't asked to return for the next year.

Many people in the past have been puzzled by complexity. Many people can't see the simple, obvious laws of science that produce good results. They actually bring complexity and jaw-breaker terminology.

Everyday Counselor

Religion is being introduced into the American business picture in a new and helpful way. An example of this is to be found in the Old Dominion Box Co. of Charlotte, the branch of S. Dillard is the dynamic president. A little more than a year ago he decided to create a service which would be helpful to his employees who had personal problems and who felt in need of someone to handle them.

With the realization that there are times in everyone's life when he wants to discuss personal conditions with someone else, a time when he wants advice on a personal matter, President Dillard retained the services of Roland Jones, a man with a wide knowledge of the problems people go through with their troubles, large or small.

This service has become very popular with the employees of Old Dominion. During the period of more than a year in which this service has been in operation there have been the widest variety of problems brought to Old Dominion's counselor, such as resentment over personal conditions, marital relations, worry over a child, economic situations, legal matters, sickness, alcohol, religious understanding.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am afraid that I have made my own life more difficult than I did the wrong thing and still I think I was doing right.

Alice, I'll call her, has a daughter, Ann just 14, a very nice girl. Alice and her husband were going out for the evening — which means that they usually stay out until dawn.
