Department Eliminates 238 'Security Risks'

By RUSSELL BRINES WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says that by April 30 it had fired or otherwise eliminated 238 security risks, including 114 suspected subversives.

The total, reported to Congress in testimony released today, surpassed the Civil Service Commission's report last March that the department had uncovered 72 security risks.

The department also told a House Appropriations subcommittee that, in its 28-page report, it had fired or otherwise eliminated about 40 per cent of those eliminated as security risks had been hired under the Eisenhower administration.

The department also told a House Appropriations subcommittee that, in its 28-page report, it had fired or otherwise eliminated about 40 per cent of those eliminated as security risks had been hired under the Eisenhower administration.

No breakdown was provided, in this case, between suspected subversives and those removed for other causes. A security risk may be a person who drinks or gossips too much or is found to be unstable mentally.

A number of Democrats in Congress have protested that many such persons left government service voluntarily without knowing they were classed as security risks.

Secretary Hulse testified that the government's newest department, with about 1,000 "sensitive" jobs, has set up a special 35-member office of internal security to screen the staff. She requested $85,000 for this office as part of a proposed $1,800,000 budget for the department during the year beginning July 1.

In a formal memorandum to the subcommittee, the department said 10 "terminations" had been made in cases where the individuals' "files contained information indicating in various degrees subversive activities, subversive associations or membership in subversive organizations."

For the same reasons, 13 were terminated from the department. Investigation when their files were reviewed.

WILMINGTON (AP)—Drivers continued to practice today for the first eliminations of the North Carolina truck road test on Friday.

About 40 drivers are here for the 15th annual road-o-e sponsored by the North Carolina Motor Carriers Assn. The final will be held Saturday with four drivers in each of the three classifications.

Defending champions automatically are placed in the finals. They are Charles Collins of Johnson Motor Lines, Inc., Charlotte; Alvin S. Massey of Central Motor Lines, Inc., Charlotte; and Malvern H. Morgan Jr. of Youngblood Truck Lines, Inc., Fletcher.

A Beethoven manuscript with a draft of his Sonata in B Sharp, Opus 22, has been auctioned in Munich for $1,165.
