

The 'You Wouldn't Sign' Red Slave' Treaty

President For Peaceful Coexistence

Appeasement Not Part Of Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today said the hope of the world lies in peaceful coexistence with the Communists, but declared, "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes any body a slave."

In a news conference, the President endorsed broadly the concept of a peaceful coexistence—stressed by British Prime Minister Churchill in their talks which closed here yesterday. But Eisenhower said this approach must not mean appeasement, and it must mean that no nation in the world should be subordinated to an outside power.

Within these bounds, the President said, the hope of the world lies in peaceful coexistence. The nations of the world must find ways of living together, he said. Eisenhower's remarks were touched off by questions about his talks with Churchill. One raised the possibility of whether the United States, as a result of the talks, might go along with a partition of Viet Nam which would leave the northern part in Communist hands.

PERMITS QUOTE
The President told reporters with emphasis—permitting direct quotation—that "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes any body a slave and that's all there is to it."

Eisenhower defended Vice President Nixon when asked about a speech Nixon had made last week, and asked whether Eisenhower had any observations on it. The President replied that well, first of all, every individual is entitled to his own opinion. Second, he said, he thinks that it is his job to look ahead and not turn back.

To a question whether perhaps newsmen had been wrong in saying the vice president speaks for the administration, Eisenhower said that normally he does. But he said he had not, himself, read Nixon's speech and he declared that he wasn't going to be maneuvered into the position of condemning his vice president.

In comparison to this, Chesley W. Martin of 2606 Independence Blvd. N. was out early looking at the sun as he waited for his ride to work. "I brought these negatives along to take a look," he said, peering toward the east. "This isn't the brightest light I've seen, but as well as I remember this looks about like the others."

"The first one I ever saw was total," he went on. "I was just a kid then, but I remember that it got right dark."

As the sun climbed higher behind the First Presbyterian Church steeple Frank J. Forti of New York City took a few last looks at the sun.

The three measures provide funds for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments; the Labor and Welfare Departments; and the judicial and legislative branches of government.

The bills were compromises of different measures passed previously by the House and the Senate. They make these appropriations: Legislative Department, $7,695,754; Federal Judiciary, $27,501,740; Labor Department and related agencies, $311,784,500; Welfare Department, $1,163,413,781; State Department, $114,110,000; Justice Department, $126,864,500; Commerce Department, $337,022,000; U. S. Information Agency, $73,114,000. The total of $2,229,292,235 in the bills cleared today is approximately $100,000,000 less than President Eisenhower requested last January.

Escaped Killers Rhodes, Parrish Hunted

Two Charlotte Life-Termers At Large

Two Charlotte men serving life sentences for murder were at large today, and a prison authority at Raleigh described one of the two as "dangerous."

Col. W. F. B. Bailey, state prisoners' director, listed the pair as William Walter Parrish, about 28; and Charlie Rhodes, 22.

Rhodes was given a life sentence in Mecklenburg Superior Court exactly one year ago today for the pistol slaying of his one-time fiancée, Mrs. Lucille Logan Rodriguez, last June. Mrs. Rodriguez was shot to death at a residence on Jones St. in Hoskins, off Rozelle's Ferry Rd.

Parrish was convicted here on Dec. 7, 1948, for killing the brother of his estranged wife. Parrish escaped May 18 of this year from Central Prison, where he was considered an honor grade prisoner.

Col. Bailey, who said Rhodes is considered more dangerous than Parrish, explained that Rhodes escaped from a Macon County road camp on June 22. Col. Bailey said that a road camp guard shot twice at the woods near Highlands.

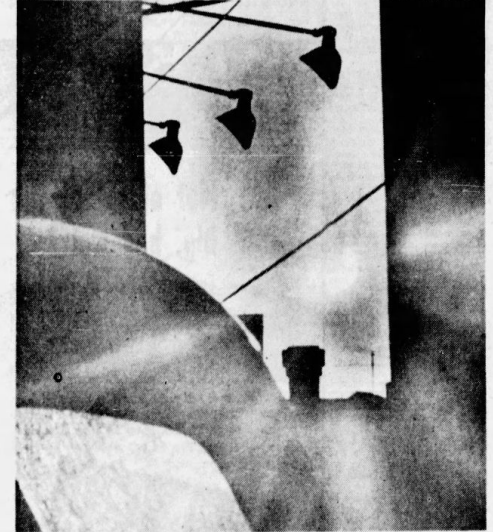

BULLETINS OUT
Charlotte Police have received bulletins announcing the escapes and have been alerted in case the two men decide to return to Mecklenburg.

Rhodes is described as having reddish hair, weighing approximately 130 pounds, five feet, seven inches tall. Parrish was 22 years of age when he was sent to Raleigh. See T20 on Page 2-A.

Col. Bailey, who said Rhodes is considered more dangerous than Parrish, explained that Rhodes escaped from a Macon County road camp on June 22. Col. Bailey said that a road camp guard shot twice at the woods near Highlands.

Parrish was convicted here on Dec. 7, 1948, for killing the brother of his estranged wife. Parrish escaped May 18 of this year from Central Prison, where he was considered an honor grade prisoner.

THIS ECLIPSE SEQUENCE was shot by Bill Sumner, beginning at 5:49 a.m. *Just before the sun was obscured the most. The 13 exposures were made five minutes apart.

Looking something like a third quarter moon, the eclipsed sun rose over the Square.

Watching the partial eclipse of the sun this morning behind the protection of film are Chesley W. Martin (left) 2606 Independence Blvd., who is shown here at the corner of th

Bed More Attractive To Local Folk Than Rising For Eclipse

By HARRY SHUFORD
Charlotte News Staff Writer
Charlotte greeted one of nature's rare phenomena today with a calm indifference.

When the sun rose in the east there was a large chunk apparently missing out of one side of it. This was the local view of a total eclipse that swept a third of the way around the world, from Nebraska to India.

Apparently most Charlotteans who didn't have to get up anyway preferred their sleep to a glimpse of the partial eclipse. Some people set alarm clocks earlier than usual, then snatched a quick, glazed-eyed peep at the eclipsed sun out their bedroom windows. Or made hasty trips to the front porch for a look before stumbling back to bed.

Some remembered to take snapshots. Others greeted one of nature's rare phenomena today with a calm indifference. When the sun rose in the east there was a large chunk apparently missing out of one side of it. This was the local view of a total eclipse that swept a third of the way around the world, from Nebraska to India.

Apparently most Charlotteans who didn't have to get up anyway preferred their sleep to a glimpse of the partial eclipse. Some people set alarm clocks earlier than usual, then snatched a quick, glazed-eyed peep at the eclipsed sun out their bedroom windows. Or made hasty trips to the front porch for a look before stumbling back to bed.

Some remembered to take snapshots. Others greeted one of nature's rare phenomena today with a calm indifference. When the sun rose in the east there was a large chunk apparently missing out of one side of it. This was the local view of a total eclipse that swept a third of the way around the world, from Nebraska to India.

Some people set alarm clocks earlier than usual, then snatched a quick, glazed-eyed peep at the eclipsed sun out their bedroom windows. Or made hasty trips to the front porch for a look before stumbling back to bed. Some remembered to take snapshots. Others greeted one of nature's rare phenomena today with a calm indifference.

Apparently most Charlotteans who didn't have to get up anyway preferred their sleep to a glimpse of the partial eclipse. Some people set alarm clocks earlier than usual, then snatched a quick, glazed-eyed peep at the eclipsed sun out their bedroom windows. Or made hasty trips to the front porch for a look before stumbling back to bed.

Some remembered to take snapshots. Others greeted one of nature's rare phenomena today with a calm indifference. When the sun rose in the east there was a large chunk apparently missing out of one side of it. This was the local view of a total eclipse that swept a third of the way around the world, from Nebraska to India.

Bed More Attractive To Local Folk Than Rising For Eclipse

By HARRY SHUFORD
Charlotte News Staff Writer
Charlotte greeted one of nature's rare phenomena today with a calm indifference.

When the sun rose in the east there was a large chunk apparently missing out of one side of it. This was the local view of a total eclipse that swept a third of the way around the world, from Nebraska to India.

Apparently most Charlotteans who didn't have to get up anyway preferred their sleep to a glimpse of the partial eclipse. Some people set alarm clocks earlier than usual, then snatched a quick, glazed-eyed peep at the eclipsed sun out their bedroom windows. Or made hasty trips to the front porch for a look before stumbling back to bed.

GOP To Offer Tax Cut Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republicans today decided to offer a general income tax cut plan of $200 million in relief provisions for each taxpayer in the lower and middle brackets by a $100 a year.

The increase in the exemptions would be effective as of tomorrow, July 1. Another part of the substitute plan would cut in half the effect of the relief provision for dividend income received by stockholders.

Milkmen gave reporters only a few details of the plan as he hurried to the Senate floor. The proposal was worked out at a closed-door conference of all 80 GOP senators after it became clear that there was substantial support in the party's senatorial ranks of the political effect of the Democratic proposal.

RIE GOLFING
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today was seen shortly after noon today for a round of golf at Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland.

Three Money Bills Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hurrying to beat a midnight deadline, Congress today passed and sent to the White House the final three annual appropriations bills for the new fiscal year starting tomorrow.

The Senate completed action on the measures within an hour after the House had passed them. The three measures provide funds for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments; the Labor and Welfare Departments; and the judicial and legislative branches of government.

WHAT'S INSIDE

THE GREATEST COMEBACK in the history of the Charlotte Hornets—that's what The News' sports writers are saying about the new hustle in the local ball club. You can read about it on the first sports page, 4-B.

BUGGY-RIDING IS STILL GREAT, according to columnist Earl Wilson. The Midnight Earl has been hanging around such elite places as Broadway and Hollywood for years, but he never forgets his farm days and he still likes the buggy. You'll find more about it on page 2-B.

Business 7A
Classified 9-11B
Comics 10A
Sports 2B
Editorials 4A
Features 2B

Obituaries 14A
Radio & TV 3B
Serial 8A
Sports 4-7B
Theaters 8B
Women 11-13A

Fighting In Guatemala Ends With Red Defeat

By JACK RUTLEDGE
GUATEMALA (AP)—The fighting was over today in Guatemala's 12-day civil war, and the U.S. embassy hailed the outcome as a victory over communism.

The new military regime called on all civilians to surrender any arms in their possession. It prepared for talks with the anti-Communist insurgents on the future course of this Central American republic. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas' rebel forces announced that a cease fire would remain in effect pending formal armistice negotiations.

AEC Upholds Secrecy Ban

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has nailed down the ban against atomite pioneer J. Robert Oppenheimer with a 4-1 declaration that he is unfit to handle America's nuclear secrets because of "defects of character, . . . and dangerous associations."

The commission thus closed out late yesterday its role in a long and wordy legal battle with the 56-year-old physicist who was once one of its most trusted advisers.

What the next act would bring was unclear. Neither Oppenheimer nor his attorneys were saying what steps, if any, they contemplated. One unanswered question: Would

GROCERY NEWS TIPS

By Betty Boyer
Save Now on REAL Coffee . . . While Supply Lasts

Kill Those Bugs with Deadly Effect
Relax . . . Enjoy a Chewing Gum with the Healthy Flavor

For Outdoors—Serve the Family Juicy Beef Steaks

Read The Grocery News
Page 15-A