

Eisenhower Takes First Official Step

Return to Command Starts With Signing of Two Documents

DENVER, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight took the first small but momentous step in a long march back toward active command of the government by signing two Federal documents.

The action, taken by the President from his hospital bed after another day of encouraging progress in recuperation, came at 8:27 p.m.—a few hours short of a week from the time he was stricken.

Bulletin on President Tonight's medical bulletin, at 10 p.m., said: "The President's condition continues to progress satisfactorily without complications. The President had a comfortable day. He again enjoyed music and was read to for a short period in the afternoon. The oxygen tent has not been used for the last 36 hours.

The President continues to be on a 1600 calorie diet a day as previously announced. "A medical technician and a nurse read to the Chief Executive from Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's 'Sir Nigel.' For dinner, the President had a 'very small' T-bone steak, a small baked potato, a broiled tomato, some lettuce, a slice of honey-dew melon and butter milk.

The signing of the documents, providing for promotion of State Department Foreign Service officers, was the first business transacted by the Chief Executive since last Friday, the eve of his attack.

Writes Full Name Originally White House officials had said President Eisenhower merely would initial the two papers. Instead, using a pen from his desk at the temporary White House here, he wrote his full name on each.

His bed was elevated slightly to permit this action. The documents were laid before the President by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

The promotions were in the form of recess appointments, requiring Senate approval after it meets next January, for 117 Foreign Service officers who are moving up to higher ranks. There were 78 on one list, 39 on the other.

Signature Lighter A member of the White House staff said Gen. Snyder suggested to the President how he should sign the papers.

The President replied in a jocular vein: "I know more about it than you do, Howard."

The White House staff member said the President's signature was lighter than usual and that he held the

Eisenhower Could Run, 'Misquoted' Doctor Says

BOSTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, famous heart specialist who attended President Eisenhower, said tonight, "I would have no objection whatsoever to his running again."

Dr. White issued the statement in Boston because of "possible misinterpretation" of a statement he made today on the CBS television show "Today."

During that program Dr. White said that if he were President Eisenhower, he "wouldn't want to run" for a second term. In a voluntary statement to the press tonight, Dr. White said: "I would like to respond, in answer to many questions coming today, concerning the possible misinterpretation of a recent comment of mine.

Caliber of Eisenhower's Team Impresses Nixon

Everyone in Administration Dedicates Self to Guiding Program, Vice-President Says

BY ROBERT T. HARTMANN Times Washington Bureau Chief WASHINGTON, Sept. 30—Vice-President Nixon's outstanding impression of the week since President Eisenhower was stricken has been the caliber and teamwork of all administration leaders.

"Every member of the Cabinet, everyone in the administration has dedicated himself to seeing that the administration's program goes forward and that every action taken is as close as possible to the way President Eisenhower would have wished it if he were here," Nixon said.

Nixon made his reflections at an informal luncheon at an informal luncheon he gave in honor of the Governor-designate of the Virgin Islands, Walter A. Gordon of Berkeley, and Mrs. Gordon.

UC Classmates Most of the guests were Californians and many were former classmates of Gordon at the University of California, 1918 and continued as an assistant coach until 1943.

Speaking earnestly and showing some of the strain he has been under during the last week, Nixon welcomed Gordon to the "Eisenhower team" and said he has always been impressed by the caliber of men who have come to Washington to work on it.

"I had appreciated these

Dodgers Beat Yankees, 8-3, in 3rd Game

Erskine, Larsen Clash on Mound in Series Today

BY AL WOLF Times Staff Representative EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Sept. 30—Johnny Podres was right and Bob Turley was wrong in today's duel of pitching unpredictables. So Brooklyn's Dodgers are back in this World Series as bona fide participants instead of New York Yankee stooges.

Podres made his 23rd birthday an especially memorable occasion by southpawing the National League champions to an 8-3 victory, which also was his first in Series competition.

Dodgers' Task Tough So there'll be no Yankee sweep, which loomed as a distinct possibility following the first two games. But the Dodgers still face a mighty stiff assignment. They must win three out of four now—and the best they've ever done in this annual tournament is three out of seven.

Carl Erskine, who has beaten New York twice while bowing but once in previous Series—he set an all-time record by fanning 14 Yanks in one 1953 game—got Manager Walt Alston's nod to keep the rally rolling at this same park tomorrow.

This opposition will come from Don Larsen, a freshman in Series competition.

Winning Records Both right-handers posted winning records this season, Erskine finishing 11-8 despite protracted arm trouble which prompted Alston to hold him out of the first three games and Larsen winding up 9-2 after spending much of the summer farm-handing at Den.

This afternoon's win, the most decisive ever scored in Series play by a Brooklyn Turn to Page 1, Pt. 3, Col. 5

Air Force Grounds All C-47 Planes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Air Force today grounded all C-47s, workhorses of the transport fleet since World War II, because of the possible use of a cleaning and preservative compound in a few fuel tanks.

The compound could clog fuel lines under certain conditions, the Air Force said. At the Pentagon the Air Force said the decision to ground the two-engine transport planes was made after a routine inspection by the Air Materiel Command and that the action taken was precautionary.

Base commands were authorized to free the C-47s for use as soon as they check their planes for the use of the compound.

Rubbish Quiz Hears of 'Pressure' on Cities

Bell Police Chief, Mayor of Maywood Describe Difficulties on Contracts

Two Southland cities were victimized in a struggle for power among rubbish contractors, it was charged yesterday at an Assembly committee hearing in the State Building.

City officials of Maywood and Bell named Andrew V. Hohn, rubbish contractor who figures prominently in the current grand jury bribery inquiry, as a central figure in the struggle.

They told the Assembly Interim Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy that he would force rival contractors to "eat" their rubbish—that he was "tougher and bigger" than they.

Resulted in Indictment Hohn's testimony before the grand jury that he paid two $3000 bribes resulted in indictment of Supervisor Herbert C. Legg's chief deputy, George Turner, and Theodore Hamlin, a rubbish dealer.

Before hearing the new revelations concerning Hohn, the Assembly committee acceded to a grand jury request that certain persons involved in the bribery investigation—including Leggs, Turner, Hamlin and Hohn—not be called as witnesses, lest they be cloaked with immunity.

Members of the committee, taking note of suggestions that they might be getting "cold feet" and might "whitewash" someone, agreed that they did not want to be placed in that position.

Maywood Mayor Testifies Yesterday's testimony concerning Hohn came first from Mayor Ben Lang of Maywood, who described for the committee the troubles his city en-

Crippled Plane Lands in Sea; Ship Saves Crew

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Catalina flying boat with one of its two engines disabled made an emergency landing in the open sea 530 miles southwest of San Francisco today and its four crewmen were taken aboard a freighter.

Hamilton Air Force Base, whose rescue planes sped to the scene, reported that the flying boat alighted undamaged in nine-foot swells.

An Air Force rescue plane radioed that it appeared the freighter, the Harry Culbreath, was trying to take the flying boat aboard. The Catalina's pilot, Capt. Clark Dixon of Danville, Cal., was able to taxi the plane alongside the freighter.

The ship, en route from Pusan to Gulf ports, was reportedly heading for Long Beach.

In addition to Capt. Dixon, the Transocean Air Lines crew which was ferrying the plane from Guam to Oakland consisted of Copilot Chris Angeles of Palo Alto, Navigator Bob Alderly of Soquel, Cal., and Engineer Russell Varner of Agona, Russ.

About 1000 miles out of Honolulu one of the engines stalled. Capt. Dixon then was forced to jettison the point of no return.

He gradually lost altitude, first dropping to 2000 feet, then to 1000, as his speed cut to a little under 100 m.p.h.

James Dean, Film Star, Dies in Auto Crash

KILLED—Actor James Dean, 24, dies in auto crash near Paso Robles.

James Dean, 24, one of Hollywood's brightest new motion-picture stars, was killed early last night in a head-on collision at the rural town of Cholame, about 18 miles east from Paso Robles, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The young actor met death in his German-built Porsche sports car while en route to road races at Salinas. Patrolmen said Dean was dead on arrival at the Paso Robles War Memorial Hospital following the crash at the intersection of State Highway 41 and U.S. 466.

Mechanic Injured

His mechanic, identified by the CHP as Ralph Wuehrlich, about 27, of Hollywood, suffered a fractured jaw, fractured hip and body lacerations. He was described as in moderately serious condition.

The CHP office at San Luis Obispo said a car driven by Donald Turnpuss of Tulare made a left turn on Highway 41 while traveling east, colliding almost head-on with Dean's tiny sports car. Investigators said Turnpuss suffered minor injuries.

An attending physician was quoted as saying Dean died instantly at about 5:30 p.m.

Forest Fire Burning Along 3-Mile Front

By a Times Correspondent SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 30—Flames still burned along a three-mile line of forest and brush in mountains here today after blackening 2800 acres since Wednesday.

Don J. Lewis, public information official for the U.S. Forest Service, said thus far it has cost an estimated $75,000 to fight the blaze. He added that it is hoped the fire can be controlled by 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Flames today were reaching from Shea Mountain to Coxye Ranger Station.

"Two-thirds of the perimeter is in excellent shape now and safe," Lewis said.

At the outset the fire came within five miles of the eastern slope of Lake Arrowhead.
