"On the Line" Little to Mark the Spot

By BOB CONSIDINE

DALLAS—There is pathetically little to mark the spet three months after the assassination.

Relieves Hard Features

The lawn leads gently up to a concrete perula and walking liery, part of the decor of Dealey Plaza, a hit of park profed by the publisher of the Dallas Evening News to relieve hard features of the neighborhood.

Against the wall of the gallery huddles a sad patch of eaths, sprays and potted plants, none of them bearing her his name or the name of the donors.

There were 10 offerings when I dropped by. Three wire nots held arrangements of artificial flowers somewhat the res for having been exposed to the elements. The center after the product of the control of the product of t

"Image" Is Big Word

"Jmage" Is Big Word

Perhaps there will be a statue to the man placed here one
y. Perhaps not. There is debate among the city fathers as whether it would aid or hinder the "image" of the city, mange" is a big word here. It is raised daily hardly 109 yards ay in the court where Jack Ruby is being tried. The defense a saked many would-be jurors whether their real intention offering to serve is a mask for wanting to send Ruby to the tertic chair and restore Dallas' "image" as a fine place to set kids and invest your money.
The story turns from chapter to chapter, never ending. It tell the man who killed the man. It is debated in the solemn nuclis of the Warren Commission in Washington. It remains pen" on the books of the Fill and the Secret Service.

Quieter Chapters

There are quieter chapters that nboody bears much about.

Quieter Chapters

There are quieter chapters that nobody hears much about. Last month a Dallas used car dealer named Warren Reynolds was shot in the head. A shooting is not necessarily front page news here, particularly if the victim lives. There were more than 100 murders here in 1862. At one time not long ago District Attorney Wade had five men in the death bouse, waiting their turn in the chair.

But the shooting of Warren Reynolds was different. He ladd "fingered" Oswald as the man fled desperately from the point where he had killed Officer Tippit to the sammy movie house where he was finally trapped. One stop he made was at Reynolds' place, to throw away a coat. When the coppoint where he had killed Officer Tippit to the sammy movie came along a couple of minutes later Reynolds shooting but he was cleared. His differedian in which the suspect had run.
