Stevenson States The Case For Unity

IN AN HOUR of gathering doubt and che confusion about Far Eastern policy, the words of Adial Stevenson last night had the ring of common sense.

U.S. war talk has indeed alarmed this nition's friends more than it has deterred good will of millions of Asians.

its enemies.

There is studdenly the real danger of advision in the free world coalition.

This weakening of the grand alliance pledged to defend liself is, as Mr.
Steverson said, a greater peril to enduring peace than a few disputed islands off the China coast.

The United States has been pursuing virtually a lone-hand policy in the Formosa crisis.

It is a role that has a stake in the outcome of the Formosa Crisis.

This is a time to awaken to the fact that a breach in the ranks is just what the Red bloc wants.

It is a role that has a role that has a role that the unity of allies and the failure and the results of the unity of allies and the failure and the results of t resolve.

It is a time to awaken to the fact that a breach in the ranks is just what the Red bloc wants.

It is also a time for Americans to realize that the unity of allies and the friendship of the people of the free world are more important than the fate of two Island rockples in the shadow of the Chinese mainland.

A New Victim Of Political Vigilantism

But Mr. Corsi had dared to criticize the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Naturalization Act of 1982. So he immediately incurred the bitter enmity of Rep. Francis Walter (DPa), who seems to regard any criticism of the immigration law as Sovietianspired subversion. It was Mr. Walter who was hurling the wild, substantiated charges at Mr. Corst, an Italian immigrant. Mr. Corsi promptly denied that there was anything to support the charges.

The target of Rep. Walter's abuse may or may not have joined organizations in the dim and distant past that are now

The State Department's dignity—already battered and bruised—has taken another buffeling.

It handling of the Edward J. Corsi as handling of the Edward J. Corsi as Possiting a veeran public servant from his job as deputy refugee relief administrator on the basis of unsubstantiated charges, the department yielded to political vigilantism of the worst sort. In insisting that security is not the issue and offering Mr. Corsi a "less sensitive" job, it did not right the wrong. The Corsi career has been interesting. He was a loyal enough Republican to hold the job of industrial commissioner of the state of New York under Thomas E. Dewey. His first public office of note was as federal commissioner of immigration in New York, a job to which he was appointed by Herbert Hoover. He ran for the Senate on the GOP ticket in 1938.

John Foster Dulles, in naming Mr. Corsi as pecial assistant to the secretary of state some months back, referred to him as "my dear friend" Secretary Dulles noted also that, for the job, Mr. Corsi was 'the best qualified man in the United States."

But Mr. Corsi had dared to criticize the McGarran-Walter Immigration. Act of 1952. So he immediately interest the charges at Mr. Corsi or pomptly depict that there was any large and the wild, substantiated charges at Mr. Corsi and Italian Immigrant. Mr. Corsi promptly depict that there was anything to support the charges.

The target of Rep. Walter's abuse may or may not have joined organizations.

New Sounds: Strange To Your Ears?

"WHAT has happened to U. S. popular music?" wailed the longhair critic. "The crazy, mixed-up kids who perform it don't even stick to conventional instruments anymore."

It don't even sites to conventional in-struments anymore."

He was referring to the Sauter-Fine-gan orchestra, an organization which jangles bells, hammers on Chinese gongs, toots recorders and employs an occa-sional kazoo to produce the necessary sounds for THE DOOLSTOWN FITESS, MUNICHT SLEIGHRIDE and other lively lunes.

Mosurer Sleeghbor and other lively lines.

We hate to point but what about music's serious side' The funny instrument fad is not confined to the crewcut faction. To the blare of nation-wide publicity, a Charles Ives symmhonic work received its radio premiere last year. Its main appeal was the fact that the score called for two jew's harps. It was Leopold Stokowski who decided to conduct this little item and sent orchestra managers on a nationwide search for jew's harp place.

A few years earlier, Mr. Stokowski got it into his head that he wanted to have a try at Lou Harrison's Casticles. No. 3. This upset orchestra managers even more than the jew's harps. They had to comb through automobile junk yards for 18 brake drums to use as per-them.
