

State Promises Cotswold Road Signs

'BY SUNDOWN TOMORROW' IS DEADLINE

Commissioner Will Call For Survey Throughout County

By ANN SAWYER
Charlotte News Staff Writer

Traffic stop signs "before sundown tomorrow night" for the Cotswold school area were promised today by James A. Hardison, commissioner of the 10th Highway Division.

He also promised a crowded room of residents from Cotswold and Thomasboro he would ask state officials to conduct a traffic survey at every school in the county.

Mr. Hardison's commitments came during another county commissioners discussion of steps that can be taken to assure Cotswold school children of greater safety in walking along and crossing Old Sardis Rd.

Residents of this area previously asked County Commissioners for a stop light at the school entrance but State Traffic Engineer Robert A. Burch said the situation at the school did not warrant it.

With this information last week, County Commissioners requested the meeting with Mr. Hardison and M. E. Beatty, division engineer.

SURVEY WANTED

Before Mr. Hardison departs for Wadesboro today, he said he will call Highway Commissioner Chairman Graham in Raleigh to request that the state "make a survey for every school in Mecklenburg County."

He also made arrangements to tour the Cotswold school area to help determine where the temporary stop signs will be placed.

Cotswold parents requested some immediate temporary relief since a survey of the entire county will take several weeks at the least.

Requests were made for Mr. Hardison to notice hazardous conditions at several locations, including narrow shoulders, 55-mile speed zones, tree trunks cross Old Sardis, and the traffic situation at Sharon-Amity Rd.

Parents estimated that 350 children walk to the new elementary school on Greenwich St. off Old Sardis Rd.

Mrs. C. A. Felley said several hundred children crossed at one place to get to school.

BYPASS CROSSING

The Thomasboro parents asked State Highway officials to provide a crossing of the North 29 Bypass for their children.

Mr. Hardison said, "The state has very little to say about that project. It is the work of the Federal Bureau of Roads."

He added the state wants to work for the safety of the children but it can do practically nothing about the situation.

Residents along Beatty's Ford Rd. also brought their problems to the County Commission meeting today. A petition requesting improvements on one of the county's oldest roads was forwarded to the State Highway and Public Works Commission. It was signed by over 300 people.

Lad Hooks Duck And Gets Hooked

BELLMORE, N. Y. (AP) — Nine-year-old Stephen Sipe fished for bass in a nearby pond yesterday but hooked a duck instead. In the excitement a fellow angler hooked Stephen.

The two boys' fishing trip went awry when a passing duck waddled up to Stephen's bass line. The hook caught in the duck's bill.

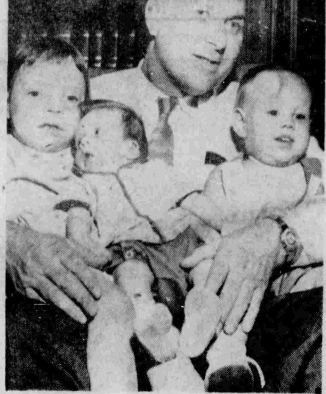

Stephen's pal, who declined to give his name, swung his pole and accidentally snagged Stephen above the right ear.

A doctor treated Stephen at the pond and a game warden freed the duck.

THE CHARLOTTE NEWS

Largest Evening Newspaper In The Two Carolinas
Charlotte, North Carolina, Monday, October 1, 1956
30 Pages — Price Five Cents

Talks Open On Removal Of Troops

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR Raymond Gary missed his state university's football game with North Carolina Saturday — he had to babysit with his three grandchildren. The grandchildren (left to right) are Emily, Elizabeth Wasmire, 2; Danny Gary, 5 months; and Andy Wasmire, 1. (AP Wirephoto)

British Atom-Carrier are Falls, Explodes

Ejector Seats Save 2; Four Bodies Recovered

DEMOCRATIC VICE PRESIDENTIAL candidate Estes Kefauver received unexpected moments of his campaign visit to Allentown, Pa., when his fox terrier nipped him on the right hand as he reached over to shake hands with Mrs. Clyde Spears, at left. The pup is being held by his 9-year-old master. (AP Wirephoto)

Opposition 'Bunk' Draws Ike's Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Eisenhower fired back at his Democratic critics today, accusing them of talking "wicked nonsense" and "political bunk" in the presidential campaign.

Eisenhower's strongly worded address, prepared for delivery in Cleveland, did not mention opponent Adlai Stevenson by name, but he hit at Stevenson on the farm issue, cost of living, labor and conservatism, campaign headquarters.

Stevenson, meanwhile, disclosed plans for intensive campaigning next week in California, with speeches set in half a dozen cities, and other far Western states.

The hard-traveling Democratic presidential nominee stopped off at his Washington headquarters yesterday for a brief rest, but planned to start touring eastern states tomorrow.

Eisenhower, in the strongest terms he has used so far in the campaign, told the Cleveland audience Republicans have given the nation "the kind of government that is a witness to a basic violation in a Democracy — public inaction on public service and public trust."

"In this administration," he continued, "you cannot find those ugly marks of the past, special interests, cronyism and laxity in administration."

Eisenhower said it is "political bunk" and "wicked nonsense" for Democrats to say Republicans are against labor, adding:

"The record shows that organized labor is larger in numbers and greater in strength today after three years of Republican administration than ever in our nation's history."

On the farm front, Eisenhower said, Democrats had "20 long years to do something for the most needy families on our farms, and at the end of those 20 years they had done nothing except to bypass the small farmers as they made corporation and big farming more profitable than ever before."

Eisenhower also scheduled a nationwide radio-television address tonight from a GOP rally in Lexington, Ky.

Talks Open On Removal Of Troops

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles begins today a round of talks which may largely determine whether the United States will have to pull all its military forces out of Iceland.

Iceland's Foreign Minister, Emil Jonsson, arrived yesterday with words which indicated the possibility of a compromise between the government's demands for withdrawal of U.S. troops and America's efforts to keep them there as a link in the North Atlantic defense system.

Dulles and Jonsson arranged to meet this afternoon for the first Cabinet level talks on the problem which has worried American officials and North Atlantic Alliance military leaders since last March.

The demand for ouster of the troops was supported by Communists in Iceland. Although Icelanders generally would like to have their island to themselves again, the U.S. view is that only the Reds will gain in the long run if the big military base at Keflavik must be given up.

The problem is one of three major issues with which Dulles is concerned this week. The other two:

1. Restoration of United States-British-French cooperation in dealing with the Canal issue as it moves into United Nations debate.

2. Development of tentative conclusions on what Yugoslavias' Marshal Tito is up to in his conference with the Russians and, consequently, what President Eisenhower should do about continuing aid to Communist Yugoslavia.

Congress has ordered the aid program halted unless Eisenhower determines by Oct. 6 that it should be continued.

Like the Yugoslav problem, that of Iceland is related to the changed behavior of Russia in international affairs. Iceland officials have said lessened danger of war makes it unnecessary to keep U.S. troops there.

Possibility of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Court Will Study Integration Steps

By PAUL M. YOST
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court reassembles today to begin a new term with a heavy quota of pending cases besides the problem of deciding what steps to take in overseeing racial integration in public schools.

Three appeals concerned with immediate admission of pupils to white schools in Texas and South Carolina were filed during the summer recess. More are expected during the new term.

In addition, a long list of cases raising a variety of issues affecting Communists and subversive activities awaits consideration.

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

Positivity of some kind of compromise arose when Jonsson told a questioner his biggest problem "is to have a solution... that is acceptable to both parties."

More Commies Join Mystery Talks At Yalta

LONDON (AP) — The premiers of Russia and Hungary have joined President Tito and Nikita Khrushchev in mystery-droked talks believed aimed at ironing out conflicts in the Soviet circle.

Premier Bulganin and Hungary's Erno Gero appeared yesterday at the Yalta meeting, held by Moscow radio as a vacation gathering but seen by the west as a crucial phase in a Kremlin power struggle.

Diplomats in London believe Khrushchev has enlisted Tito's support for his campaign downgrading S.A.M. Informers sources say the campaign has embroiled the Soviet Communist party boss in a bitter struggle with old Bolsheviks.

Two veteran Stalinists — former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Deputy Premier Leonid Brezhnev — are said to feel Khrushchev's switch to a more liberal brand of communism has weakened Moscow's control of the satellites.

TITO'S INDEPENDENCE
Tito himself was reported disturbed over a letter Soviet leaders sent the satellites warning them against espousing too heartily Moscow's new independence from Moscow.

Should Soviet-Yugoslav relations go sour again, Tito's government stands to lose more than half a billion dollars in Communist credits and grants. Since relations with Tito began improving three years ago, the Soviet bloc has showered the Yugoslavs with economic benefits to compensate for the 1948 Stalin-imposed boycott.

The uncertain status of Soviet-Yugoslav relations has caused intense interest in Washington. The whole question of continued U.S. aid to Yugoslavia is under review in Washington. Secretary of State Dulles reportedly has been asked to ask Tito for a full report on the matter with a commitment that a full return to the Soviet camp would cut off American help to Belgrade.

Rail-Truck Case Opens

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A court battle involving a total of 370 million dollars and pitting 37 trucking companies against six eastern railroads opens in U. S. District Court here today.

Judge Thomas J. Clary will set a date for the trial and continue for two months.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

The trucking companies and the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. filed their lawsuit with the U. S. District Court in Philadelphia last week.

Police Clear Way For Negro Mother To Deliver Students

HERNDON, Ky. (AP) — State and local police today cleared a path through a yelling, shouting crowd of 100 Negro mothers after she delivered four Negro students to the Weaver elementary school.

It was the first time police had to intercede since the boycott started last Monday in protest against the integration of a county school with an enrollment of 870.

Principal Felix Truder said the crowd of mothers gathered this morning, almost double the attendance of last week during the peaceful boycotting of Weaver and two city schools.

The crowd of men, women and a few children started running toward the school parking lot exit when Mrs. Margaret Clancy, mother of two of the Negro pupils, started to drive away.

Sheriff Lee Williams and a city police cruiser forced a path through the herring crowd.

"GET 'EM OUT"
Later the crowd remained on the street outside the school and shouted, "Get 'em out of school."

The crowd of men, women and a few children started running toward the school parking lot exit when Mrs. Margaret Clancy, mother of two of the Negro pupils, started to drive away.

Sheriff Lee Williams and a city police cruiser forced a path through the herring crowd.

"GET 'EM OUT"
Later the crowd remained on the street outside the school and shouted, "Get 'em out of school."

The crowd of men, women and a few children started running toward the school parking lot exit when Mrs. Margaret Clancy, mother of two of the Negro pupils, started to drive away.

Sheriff Lee Williams and a city police cruiser forced a path through the herring crowd.

"GET 'EM OUT"
Later the crowd remained on the street outside the school and shouted, "Get 'em out of school."

The crowd of men, women and a few children started running toward the school parking lot exit when Mrs. Margaret Clancy, mother of two of the Negro pupils, started to drive away.

Sheriff Lee Williams and a city police cruiser forced a path through the herring crowd.

"GET 'EM OUT"
Later the crowd remained on the street outside the school and shouted, "Get 'em out of school."

The crowd of men, women and a few children started running toward the school parking lot exit when Mrs. Margaret Clancy, mother of two of the Negro pupils, started to drive away.

Sheriff Lee Williams and a city police cruiser forced a path through the herring crowd.

Daddy, Don't Duck Sitting; Make It A Thing Of Joy

BABYSITTING CAN BE FUN for fathers, it says here, if you have the right attitude, plus some equipment. Pictures and verbal details are on the Feature Page, 2B.

California Fisherman Ives After Tumble Over Waterfall

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — A young fisherman was in fair condition today after a dramatic rescue from a wild, remote Sierra canyon where he tumbled over a 35-foot waterfall.

Rescue teams, working in the glare of searchlights, took more than six hours early yesterday to haul Leonard Lowry, 22, of North Highlands, Calif., 3,000 feet along a tortuous trail up the sheer granite face of Bold Rock Canyon.

Our Weather

Fair to partly cloudy and not much change in temperature today and tonight. Tuesday partly cloudy and mild. Low tomorrow morning 60.

High today — 87
High yesterday — 83
High tomorrow — 85
Sunrise today — 6:17 a.m.
Sunset today — 6:07 p.m.

More Weather Data on Page 2A

22 DAYS TO GO
Register So You Can VOTE
Registration Deadline is Oct. 23 for new voters.
Deadline for transferring registration is Oct. 16