

A WILD THUNDERSTORM hit Robison, Texas and left this scene at Tate Carnes service station. The storm, with winds of 70 mph, also brought in hail. (AP Wirephoto).

Stevenson Says GOP Cynical About Textiles

Adlai Sees Little Man Vanishing

INDIAN CHIEF Adlai Stevenson visits Brooklyn's Borough Hall. The outfit was given the Democratic presidential candidate by a group who said they represented the United Association for the Advancement of American Indians. (AP Wirephoto).

Ford Back For Yanks left field stands. McDougald walked. Carey struck out. Ford struck out.

One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

DODGERS THIRD

Craig bounced out a single. Gilliam grounded into a double play. Reese rapped a single to center. Snider struck out on three pitches.

No runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

YANKES THIRD

Bauer went down swinging. Collins grounded to Hodges. Mantle fouled to Campanella.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

YANKES FIRST

Bauer filed to Furlito. Collins filed to Snider. Mantle bled out on a bunt. Neal threw to Berra.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

DODGERS SECOND

Robinson walked. Hodges singled. Furlito filed to Bauer. Robinson going to third. Campanella filed to Bauer. Robinson scored on the sacrifice fly. Neal fouled to Berra.

One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

YANKES SECOND

Slaughter filed to Gilliam. Martin hit a home run into the lower left field.

One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — Adlai E. Stevenson today accused the Eisenhower administration of "political cynicism" about tariffs and an "unfeeling attitude toward the troubles of the textile industry."

Stevenson spoke out in a speech prepared for a rally at Providence's City Hall Plaza. It was the opening address of his stumping tour through industrial New England; the textile and machine tool belt.

"I believe in a policy of gradual tariff reduction," he said.

The Democratic presidential nominee contended the Eisenhower administration had made an "outright year gesture toward the textile industry" by announcing an increase in wool tariffs and negotiations to reduce cheap Japanese imports.

Stevenson called this "political cynicism" a month before the election. He said the policy shows "little concern for the little man—the vanishing man."

"I don't share the Eisenhower administration's unfeeling attitude toward the troubles of the textile industry," he said.

Stevenson said Eisenhower has failed to deliver on a 1952 campaign promise at Lawrence, Mass., to "take special steps to increase the number of jobs" in the area.

NOTHING DONE

"When the election was over, nothing was done—except to reduce further the tariff on textiles," Stevenson said. He added that the tariff on textiles is "one of the most important factors in the loss of jobs in the textile industry."

Stevenson said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Stevenson said the Republicans have "not done a thing" to help the textile industry. He said he is "dedicated to finding a place for this indispensable industry."

Ike Figures Reply On Draft's Future

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL. He is expected to take the draft a position much the same as he assumed them, when he said: "We cannot prove wise and strong by hitting that our military draft might soon be suspended—even though every family naturally hopes for the day when it might be possible. This I speak categorically—cannot be done under world conditions of today. It would weaken our armed forces. It would propagate neutralist sentiment everywhere. It would shock our allies who are calling upon their people to shoulder arms in their common cause."

As in yesterday's statement on hydrogen bomb tests, Eisenhower also can be counted on to repeat in his pronouncement on the draft that he is speaking as president and as the man charged by the constitution with the "defense and security of our nation."

NO NAMES
In the statement yesterday, Eisenhower did not mention Stevenson by name. But he did quote Stevenson's comments as he delivered some unrecorded staps.

It isn't the first time Eisenhower has replied on either subject. He started in, as a matter of fact, in his first major speech of the campaign, a broadcast and televised address Sept. 19.

—What's Inside—

Tune TV, Take Yer Chere On Yankees Or Brooklyn

THE NATION'S TOP sports event of the year is the World Series, and today the Inquiring Reporter fields replies as to folks' favorite teams.

BUT FAVORITE THE SERIES, football has been about taken over, and a flood of game results has deposited on the sports pages, 45B.

Books	6B	Obituaries	5A
Classified	1-2C	Radio-TV	2B
Comics	3B	Serial	6B
Crossword Puzzle	6B	Sports	4-3B
Editorials	4A	Theaters	6-8A
Features	2B	Women	2-3A

Which Do You Like?

Ike? Or Adlai?

Whatever your choice, you have to be registered to make it on Nov. 6.

If you're a new voter you have until Oct. 23 to register.

If you have moved since voting, you have until Oct. 16 to transfer your registration.

For more registration information, telephone Edison 3-2289.

Tuesday Sentencing

8 Men Convicted In Brink's Robbery

By LEONARD P. GIBLIN and JOHN W. KING

BOSTON (AP)—A Suffolk Superior Court jury early today convicted eight men of taking part in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery—the largest cash haul in the nation's history.

They face a maximum of life imprisonment.

The all-male jury deliberated 3 hours and 27 minutes before convicting seven of the eight defendants of armed robbery—meaning they actually participated in the Jan. 7, 1956 looting.

The eighth—Joseph F. McGinnis, 32, termed by the prosecution as the "brains"—was convicted as an accessory before the fact of armed robbery and accessory to breaking and entering, which carry the same penalty.

McGinnis was acquitted of armed robbery and breaking and entering charges by directed verdict before the case went to the jury at 10:23 p. m. last night.

THOSE TAPPED
Convicted after the nine-week trial as participants were Anthony Pino, 47, Vincent J. Costa, 41, Michael V. Geagan, 47, Adolph Matlie, 44, Henry B. Baker, 49, James I. Faherty, 44, and Thomas F. Richardson, 48. All are from greater Boston.

When jury foreman Thomas F. Donahue, 45, read the guilty verdicts, McGinnis' wife collapsed. Faherty's sister buried her head in a handkerchief. A woman relative of another defendant screamed.

Tuesday morning was fixed as the day of sentencing.

In his final argument, Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne referred to the defendants as "potential murderers, men who would destroy everything that is decent."

He called Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, the state's star witness who has pleaded guilty to participating in the robbery, a man who "came here without any fears or promises . . . he may be anything you want to call him but he came in here and he didn't have to."

"SING BIRD"
Chief defense counsel Paul T. Smith castigated O'Keefe, who lived in the Roxbury section of Boston, as a "liar . . . a poor orphan of the storm . . . the Roxbury squalor."

When O'Keefe took the stand "there was the greatest dramatic production in the history of trials."

Two of the women, both office secretaries returning from work, were attacked and threatened with knives on a bus near the football stadium.

The three others, a pair of junior college students and a Cook County deputy sheriff, were hurt in a melee outside the stadium. All five suffered minor injuries.

Police arrested a few of the rioters. They said the assault victims will be taken to Crane Monday to see if they can sing out their assailants.

Losers Riot, Assault Five After Game

CHICAGO—A rioting band of teenagers assaulted three young women and two men yesterday following a high school football game.

Police said the 200 rioters were students or rooters from Crane Technical High School. Their team had just been defeated, 47-0, by Austin.

'Best Private' McKee's Idea

By BEN PRICE
PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—St. Matthew C. McKee, 31, greeted his court-martial sentence review with the calm declaration "I'll try to be the very best private in the Marine Corps."

The ex-drill instructor who marched six Marine recruits to their death in a tidal creek here last April 8 enters the Parris Island brig today. His nine-month prison sentence was cut to three months yesterday by Navy Secretary Charles Thomas.

However, McKee, a native will only have to serve until Nov. 4, because two months already have elapsed since he was sentenced by general court-martial here.

But "the big load taken off my back," according to McKee, is the bad conduct discharge which Thomas set aside.

"I'd hate to have to carry that around in my hip pocket for the rest of my life," McKee said.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

"I believe it is a very just sentence and a very fair sentence. I believe it is a very just sentence and a very fair sentence. I believe it is a very just sentence and a very fair sentence."

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

McKee's sentence, as approved by the Navy secretary, is the prison term and reduction to private.

Nibbles By Mail Snails, Not Pace, Plague P.O.

LONDON (AP)—Snails in the mails are giving the British Post Office trouble, an official admitted today.

"They're carrying letters," he asked a reporter.

"Certainly not—they're eating them," came the indignant reply.

The situation was bared through a letter Mrs. Winifred Duggan received from Exeter. One corner of the envelope had been patched, and a tag affixed saying:

"The postmaster much regrets that this packet has been accidentally damaged in the post by snails."

Mrs. Duggan told newspapers the whole thing struck her as mighty suspicious "in view of complaints you hear about the snail-like pace of the post office."

The post office official said such complaints had nothing to do with it.

"At this time of the year," he explained, "snails begin to hibernate."

"Apparently letter boxes in some parts of the country are a favorite sheltering place with them, and while waiting for sleep to overcome them, they nibble on envelopes. We are putting a chemical preparation in the boxes which will repel the snails without harming the mails."

"The comment about our snail-like pace was most unkind. A snail moves only about a mile a fortnight. At that rate it would take one around seven years to deliver a letter to London from Exeter—a distance of 170 miles."

"Mrs. Duggan's letter reached her the day after it was posted."

men walking home (left) she was pulled back inside, kicking by police. (AP Wirephoto).

Blast Rakes Ship, 1 Dies

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Fuel oil exploded in the engine room of the Alcoa Corsair today, shooting out flames that killed one man and threatened to reach 5,000 barrels of oil in the hold of the passenger-freighter.

But over 100 firefighters, from New Orleans companies and Mississippi River fire boats, controlled the flames before they reached the explosive cargo.

Besides the one death, the fire's toll included injuries to at least 11 seamen, mostly from burns or too much smoke. Fire Chief Howard Dey described damage to the ship as "considerable."

CHICAGO (AP)—A woman who padded herself with blankets to father, Tom, had deserted his first wife and their five children.

After photographs appeared in newspapers of the father and mother of the abducted baby, another woman told authorities that Tom Bucher was really her husband, Thomas Patermarinos, 31, and that he had deserted her and their five children 22 months ago.

He admitted the accusations and also admitted he had never legally married Mrs. Bucher. He was charged with nonsupport, adultery and child abandonment.

Authorities said Mrs. Bynum, who has been charged with kidnapping small Bucher, started telling neighbors and friends a month ago that she was going to have a baby.

Her husband of five years, Charles, a bus driver, was quoted by police as saying he didn't know whether his wife was pregnant.

Police said Mrs. Bucher Thursday left Mrs. Bynum alone in the Bucher home with her baby. When she returned, Mrs. Bynum and the infant were missing.

Some 400 police canvassed the area yesterday and found Herbert Kowalski, who reported a woman carrying an infant had asked him for a ride to her home. He led police to the Bynum home about four miles from the Bucher home, and found the infant with Mrs. Bynum.

Padding Act Leads To Kidnap Charge

CHICAGO (AP)—A woman who padded herself with blankets to father, Tom, had deserted his first wife and their five children.

After photographs appeared in newspapers of the father and mother of the abducted baby, another woman told authorities that Tom Bucher was really her husband, Thomas Patermarinos, 31, and that he had deserted her and their five children 22 months ago.

He admitted the accusations and also admitted he had never legally married Mrs. Bucher. He was charged with nonsupport, adultery and child abandonment.

Authorities said Mrs. Bynum, who has been charged with kidnapping small Bucher, started telling neighbors and friends a month ago that she was going to have a baby.

Her husband of five years, Charles, a bus driver, was quoted by police as saying he didn't know whether his wife was pregnant.

men walking home (left) she was pulled back inside, kicking by police. (AP Wirephoto).

ABORTIVE ATTEMPT at a three-story leap was made 19 Staten Island, N. Y., where Mary Jean Holland was scolded, then climbed out the third-story apartment window. With six