THE UNIVERSITY of North Carolina's Prof. Alexander Heard tells a Senate committee policing the 1956 election campaign that the election laws have failed to prevent business and labor groups from pouring millions of dollars into political campaigns. He gave his testimony in Washington Monday. (AP)

Reuther Backs Labor's Gifts To Politicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther told a Senate subcommittee today that labor political contributions "are just peanuts" when compared with gifts by management to "candidates on the other side of the fence."

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and a vice president of the AFL-CIO, filed a statement with the Senate Elections subcommittee which is keeping tabs on the amount and sources of money spent on this year's political campaigns.

In his statement, Reuther said all contributions to candidates from the UAW and from the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, come from "the voluntary contributions of union members and other individuals, not out of moneys collected through regular union dues or assessments."

DUES COLLECTED

Reuther said that to refute an allegation by Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.), a member of the Elections subcommittee, that dues collected from labor union members were being spent on political campaigns "in violation of the law."

Reuther said, "The problem today is not the expenditures of unions to express their views on candidates or the relatively small contributions made to candidates from voluntary contributions of union members."

"The problem today," he added, "is the massive contributions by the old aristocracy of wealth, industry and business, and the new aristocracy of oil, and the undercurrent contributions by corporations, individuals, executives and their agents are only too often made in the hope of return favor."

Reuther reported that through Sept. 30, the UAW had received from its locals $16,132.17 out of $1 contributions which he said totaled $194,070.97. The remaining $238,938, he said, was kept by local unions or sent to state and county committees.

The money received by the UAW, Reuther said, is transmitted to CCOPE, state and county committees.

The UAW chief said the donations from his union's members total "considerably less than the contributions made to the Republican party by four families in 1952." He named the four families as the Fews, the Rockefeller's, the Melons and the DuPonts, and said their political gifts aggregated $299,275 in the campaign of four years ago.

The Campaign In A Capsule

(FROM AP REPORTS)

Presidential Candidate ADLAI STEVENSON's Western campaign gathered full steam after a Great Falls, Mont., speech and addresses later today in Boise, Idaho, and Seattle, Wash.

Today the Democratic nominee charged the Eisenhower administration has permitted public lands "to be invaded by and given away to selfish private interests." He added, "The Eisenhower administration acts as if this generation of Americans were the last."

A reply to what an aide calls "the misstatements that have been made in this campaign by the opposition" will be given by Stevenson today in Pittsburgh, Pa., flying to that city today. His address, from 9 until 9:30 p.m. EDT, will be carried by the NBC radio and television networks.

The President flies back to Washington immediately after the address.

No. 2 candidate for the Democrats, SEN. KEFAUVER, sought votes in New Jersey and New Hampshire after yesterday's swing through Delaware. VICE PRESIDENT NIXON scheduled three appearances in Texas.

Eisenhower Holds Recruits From '52

By SAMUEL LEBELL

A fairly sharp profile of the new realignment of political feeling that is taking shape in the south can be seen from my talks with one of the important groups of voters — the men and women who backed Harry Truman in 1948 but who swung to Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Since it was these former Democrats, whose shift elected Mr. Eisenhower in 1952 and who probably will settle this year's election, I have made a special effort to search them out wherever I have traveled.

Up to now, through the whole country, roughly half of these Truman-Eisenhower voters to whom I have talked say they will vote for President Eisenhower again. If this proportion holds until Election Day, it would give the President around 22 per cent of the popular vote, even if all the voters who now say they are "undecided" were to swing to Adlai Stevenson. This means, of course, that Mr. Stevenson must not simply win over the waverers, but must also change the minds of many persons who now intend to vote for the President.

Adlai Says Public Lands 'Given Away' To Private Hands

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today the Eisenhower administration has "scrapped" a 50-year bipartisan tradition of conserving the nation's parks and forests.

Instead, he said, the GOP lands to "be invaded and given away to selfish private interests."

In a speech prepared for a one-hour rally at Gore Field, the Democratic nominee said:

"The Eisenhower administration acts as if this generation of Americans were the last."

"I want a government that will honor its obligations to generations yet unborn . . .

"We are shaping a federal conservation policy — or a federal giveaway policy — today that mold our children's lives."

In his Great Falls speech, Stevenson charged Republicans about their stand on conservation.

"The Republican party isn't so sure about conservation and strongly favors development for private profit," he said, adding:

"For some 50 years, ever since Theodore Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot took the lead in establishing the policy, both political parties have worked together to garner out a bipartisan policy for the national parks and forests that would at once conserve them and use them wisely."

"That policy has been scrapped by the present administration."

Stevenson accused Eisenhower of "selling out the public lands" in a name Wesley D'Ewart of Montana to be an assistant secretary of the Interior in charge of public lands.

Hodge Charged With Lying To Committee

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) today accused Orville E. Hodge, former Illinois state auditor, of lying to the Senate Banking Committee.

Fulbright, chairman of the committee, made the accusation during an angry exchange of words while Hodge was in the midst of his second day of testimony.

"HOT WORDS"

The hot words were tossed during a session of what had been done with money obtained from cashing certain fraudulent state checks.

"I don't think you're being fair with me," Hodge protested.

"You are lying to this committee," Sen. Fulbright rejoined.

Hodge, a Republican politician, was forced to quit his state position in July. He was sent to prison to serve 12 to 15 years for embezzlement.

An audit of Hodge's thefts has not been completed. But the total has been estimated at about $15 million dollars.

Sen. Fulbright and Hodge were unable to agree how much had been returned to the state.

"You said you returned approximately $600,000 of about $1,300,000 you took," Fulbright said. "This leaves more than $800,000 not returned."

"That's a large sum of money for someone who spent in such a brief period. You can't possibly have forgotten what you did with the money in such a short time."

Hodge, on leave from prison to testify, then said:

"I have no written documents to show where these funds were spent but I can enumerate some of them."

'Misstatement' Answer Stated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower wings into Pittsburgh today for a campaign speech billed as a reply to what an aide called "the misstatements that have been made in this campaign by the opposition."

Eisenhower was scheduled to take off on his fourth trip campaign today with press secretary James C. Hagerly, who said he expected "the misstatements that have been made in this campaign by the opposition."

Eisenhower is strongest among Truman-Eisenhower voters who are retained, nearly three-fourths of them saying they will stick with him. He is holding about two-thirds of the white collar, business and professional people, just under half of the industrial workers and, by far his poorest showing, only about a third of the farmers.

A fair number of these Truman-Eisenhower voters say "he is the only Republican we would vote for," or "I'm still a Democrat but why change when we're working, eating and not fighting."

Sill, the fact that Eisenhower's appeal varies so markedly with different age and economic groups indicates that this election is turning into much more of a party vote than was generally anticipated.

The Democrats, it is clear, are gaining most over 1952 among factory workers and farmers, while the Republicans seem to be solidifying their hold on the middle-class elements.

Court Complaints Plague Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP)—Two World Series pitchers got into judicial hassles yesterday — one over support payments to his estranged wife and the other over a ributab with a heckler.

Shortly before Yankee Don Larsen pitched the first perfect game in series history, his wife got a State Supreme Court order designed to hold up his series money on the ground that he was $420 in arrears.

Dodger Don Newcombe was served with a simple assault summons obtained by a parking lot attendant who razed the big pitcher last Friday after the Yankees knocked him out of the box in the second series game at Ebbets Field.

"STARVATION EXISTENCE"

Larsen's wife Vivian, 29, charged in court papers that she had subjected her and their 14-month-old daughter Carolyn Jean "to the pleasures of starvation existence."

A few hours after he had made baseball history at Yankee Stadium, the 27-year-old pitcher sent $420 to his wife's attorney Harry H. Lipsig.

Lipsig, said the court order against Larsen — issued yesterday by Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter — would still have to be answered Monday.

Newcombe, 30-year-old Negro, is scheduled to appear in Flushing Meadows Field.

Newcombe said Brown and his lawyer both appeared at the Dodger dressing room at Yankee Stadium yesterday to serve the summons. The pitcher said he didn't know what the specific charge was, except that it probably was simple assault or disorderly conduct.

"I don't know how it could be any worse than that," Newcombe added. "I only gave him a push."

Brown charged that Newcombe punched him in the stomach.

Did Revenge-Bent Girl Slash Cable?

County police believe a revenge-minded young girl may have been responsible for putting cables on station WBT off the air for nearly two hours yesterday.

The station went off the air at 4:18 p.m. yesterday when a cable was cut with an ax.

Telephone company workers found the sliced line off Nations Ford Rd. and had the station operating again by 6:10 p.m.

A worker for WBT reported he separated two young girls who were fighting early yesterday. Police theorized that one of the girls might have decided to get even by cutting the cable.

The FBI was called in on the case when it was learned a Civil Defense cable was also cut.

WBT officials said television broadcasting was not affected by the broken line.

Hunt Resumed

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP)—A search resumed today for a North Carolina airman, only one of four still missing, after two jet planes collided over Mt. Plymuth last Thursday.

Fog blanketing the peninsula wilderness yesterday slowed the search for 1st Lt. Robert L. Campbell, 25, of Salisbury, N.C.

Camp and three other airman parachuted Thursday when they were intercepted by a searchlight from the U.S. Coast Guard. The three others made their way out of the mountains.

'I Hated To Kill, But I Had To'

Nancy told Breckville police Sgt. Stephen Putters that Robert had told her about 4 p.m. that he was going to kill her father. The girl said she told her brother she did not believe him.

But after they had been called into the house to supper shortly after 6 p.m., Nancy said, she was upstairs washing the hands of her three-year-old sister, Michele, when she heard a shot and rushed down to see her father on the floor and Robert fire at him again.

"The 'confession' Robert left behind was addressed to Juvenile Court Judge Albert A. Woldman. Judge Woldman had advised the parents to send Robert and his older brother to a correctional school at Adrian, Mich., earlier in the year after they had been convicted of breaking into several Breckville homes and stealing. Robert is still at the school, but Robert was returned by his father a few months ago.

In his "confession" the boy said he "hated to kill, but I had to." He said his father had tried to stab him with a knife and "I went to my bedroom and got my gun and shot him a couple of times in the head."

To the left of his signature, the boy wrote:

"I plead guilty but insane."

Game Scoreless After 3 Innings

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Yankees and Dodgers went scoreless through the first three innings of the sixth game of the World Series today as the Yankees' Bob Turley and Brooklyn's Clem Labine engaged in a pitching duel. The Yanks got four hits off Labine in three innings. Turley allowed two and struck out four. The Yanks led 3-2 in the series.

"Let us insist . . . that everybody register—telling them very frequently. 'We want you to register.' If you find it necessary to vote against us, all right. We would rather have you do that than not vote at all—because we want the decision of America, not the decision of the minority."

—President Eisenhower

"I join the President in urging every American, regardless of party, to register—and to do it now before it is too late. . . . When you have to pay such heavy taxes and send your children to the Army to defend the right to vote—then the most important business you have just now is politics and voting."

—Adlai Stevenson

That's what the candidates say—the rest is up to you. If you're a new voter, you have until Oct. 23 to register. If you have moved since voting you have until Oct. 16 to transfer your registration. If you have any questions, call Edison 3-5289.

ONE-TIME DEMOCRATS

Many of the one-time Democrats who are supporting President Eisenhower are plainly split in transition between the parties. "I'm going for Eisenhower," explained one California worker, "I'll be watching what the Republicans will be doing the next time."
