

Democrats Hold Slim Congressional Margin

stand-off. The Republican gains were made in New York, Kentucky and West Virginia. The five Senate races still undecided were in South Dakota, Oregon, Colorado, Nevada and in one of two Kentucky seats at stake.

In New York, the state's Republican Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits won the Senate seat from which Democrat Herbert H. Lehman is retiring. Javits defeated New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. the Democratic-Liberal candidate.

John Sherman Cooper captured another Senate seat for the Republicans in Kentucky. He defeated Democratic former Gov. Lawrence W. Weisby for the remaining four years of the late Allen W. Barkley's term.

He was vanquished by Frank Church, a 32-year-old lawyer. The Democrats picked up another seat in Ohio where Gov. Frank J. Lausche, rounding out his fifth term as the state's chief executive, defeated Republican Sen. George H. Bender.

For the most part incumbent Senators up for re-election, whether Democrats or Republicans, were successful in turning back their challengers.

Arizona Democratic Sen. Carl Hayden won election for a sixth term and will be the Senate dean in length of service. In that capacity Hayden will succeed Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia, who is retiring after serving in the Senate since 1922. George's successor as Senator from Georgia will be Herman E. Talmadge, a former governor. Talmadge was among five Southern Democrats who were unopposed in yesterday's election. The others were Sens. Lister Hill of Alabama, George A. Smathers of Florida, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who resigned from the Senate last April to run for re-election after winning as a write-in candidate in 1954 to fill a vacancy.

Other Senators who won re-election:

Fulbright (D-Ark), Kuchel (R-Calif.), Bush (R-Conn.), Caphart (R-Ind.), Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Carlson (R-Kan.), Butler (R-Mid.), Hennings (D-Mo.), Cotton (R-N.H.),

Ike's Winning Margin Larger Than In 1952

victory "modern Republicanism has now proved itself and America has approved modern Republicanism."

"Modern Republicanism looks to the future," he said. "Which means it looks to that area—that time—in which our young are most interested. . . . It will point the way to peace among nations and to prosperity — advancing standards here at home in which everybody will share, regardless of any accident of power, of station, of race, religion or color."

Stevenson seemed sure of carrying only six states in the Deep South, and was leading in Missouri. As returns mounted, Eisenhower was getting 58 per cent of the two-party vote, compared with 55 per cent four years ago. A little red-eyed, Stevenson formally conceded his defeat at 1:30 a.m.

From Chicago, he sent Eisenhower a telegram which said: "You have won not only the election, but also an expression of the great confidence of the American people. I send you my warm congratulations."

"Tonight we are not Republicans and Democrats, but Americans."

"We appreciate the grave difficulties your administration faces, and as Americans, join in wishing you success in the years that lie ahead."

SUPPORT PLEDGES
In Washington his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, issued a statement pledging Eisenhower's support "in all that is good for America."
