Text Of Publisher's Foreign Policy Talk

The Price "Until we succeed in such efforts (that is, to limit armaments) we and our allies must constantly maintain forces, weapons and facilities necessary to deter armed aggression, large or small. That is the indispensable price of peace."

Our paramount problem facing us is the question of correcting grave injustices in the world. If the prevention of war is the only goal in our foreign policy, we may indeed live to perpetuate certain injustices merely for the sake of preserving peace. Only

Singing Star To Appear Here

Elvis Presley, the new singing star who has skyrocketed to fame in the space of several short weeks, will appear on the Carolina Theater stage Friday.

Repudiation

To illustrate how the Soviets "zigzag" on the international checkerboard, I would like to retrace with you what happened in regard to the German problem. At the July meeting at Geneva when President Eisenhower met with the heads of governments of Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union, the four leaders specifically agreed that the reunification of Germany by means of free elections should be carried out. But then what happened?

Fearful Of Revolt

The Soviets apparently were apprehensive that revolts might break out in some of their other enslaved satellites if East Germany was able to get rid of its Russian domination. Consequently, the western democracies must continue to arouse worldwide public opinion in favor of correcting the injustice which has separated the 50 million Germans in West Germany from their 12 million brothers and sisters in East Germany.

Queens Adult Education Classes Open Next Week

A dozen classes will get underway in the Adult Education program of Queens Evening College next week. Registration is continuing, under the direction of Robert Shaw, for the classes — both college credit and non-credit — which had first sessions last week and others which will begin next week.

Registration is continuing, under the direction of Robert Shaw, for the classes — both college credit and non-credit — which had first sessions last week and others which will begin next week. Tuesday will be the starting date for the new supervisor development program, sponsored by the college in cooperation with local business and industry.

Wrong Position

A headline appearing in The News yesterday regarding Pyramid Life Insurance Co. of Charlotte was in error. As the story correctly stated, Buel G. Duncan has been elected a member of the company's directorate, and is not head of the firm, as the headline indicated. The News regrets the error.
