Cheers And Jeers Greet Red Leaders

Bulgannin, Khrushchev Arrive In London

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Communist party chief Bulganin arrived in London today jauntily and full of smiles and extended a hand of friendship to Britain and the rest of the world.

"We all have to live together on one planet," Bulganin told a crowd of cheering, cheering and laughing Londoners who came to welcome the Russian leaders at Victoria railway station on the start of a 19-day official visit.

Prime Minister Eden, wreathed in smiles, stepped forward to shake hands with the Russian statesmen as they stepped from the express train which brought them from the port of Portsmouth.

Outside in the packed streets, thousands of Britons in holiday mood cheered and laughed—and bowed.

Eden made a brief speech of welcome under the gleaming banner of television cameras.

"In greeting, I express the hope that we shall, by our work and by our decision, improve relations between our countries and our peoples," he said.

Bulgannin, beaming broadly then stepped to the microphone and replied through an interpreter.

"We offer our greetings to Her Majesty's government and the British people.

"The Soviet people have a deep respect for the British people and revere their cultured and scientific achievements.

"The Soviet government seeks to have friendly relations with Britain, as well as with the United States, France, and other countries.

"The social and political systems in our countries are different, but provided there is reasonable understanding of the fact that we have to live together on one planet, differences in political structure should not be a hindrance to us living as good neighbors cooperating actively to improve our relations."

Bulgannin and Khrushchev are here at Eden's invitation and will attend last year's Big Four summit conference in Geneva. The British will see the visit as a continuation of that policy.

Bulgannin and Khrushchev will be entertained at tea by Queen Elizabeth II at Windsor Castle and given a whirl around the country, but most of the time they will be at a conference table with Eden and his top advisers.

The main topics they will discuss are German reunification, disarmament, and the turbulent Middle East—with special regard to Russia's declaration yesterday she would join other nations to keep the peace in that region.

Chap. 11 — Wherein Job Is Half Finished

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Movie Queen Grace Kelly today made her debut in a simple, three-room ceremony that made her a reigning princess.

The palace of Monaco's red and gold throne room was crowded for the civil ceremony in which the film star from Philadelphia became first lady of his 37-acre Mediterranean realm.

A religious ceremony in Monaco's Roman Catholic Cathedral will follow tomorrow.

The nervous prince and the composed movie star both answered "Oui" in faint but distinct voices as Marcel Portantier, the Minister of Justice of Monaco, asked them these questions.

"Miss Grace Patricia Kelly, do you consent to take as your husband his serene highness Prince Rainier III, here present?"

"And then, after her response, "Your Serene Highness, do you consent to take as your wife Miss Grace Patricia Kelly, here present?"

After Rainier's "Oui," Portantier stated, "I declare your serene highness united by the ties of marriage."

There was facetious reference to the reported confusion of City School Board representatives at a recent meeting of the County Commissioners. Lawyers appeared at the same time with plans for construction of additional city and county office buildings at the rear of the Courthouse and City Hall.

FUNDS READY
But in spite of the muddled situation at that time the County Commissioners have included an appropriation of $150,000 for purchase of a headquarters site, it was brought out during the discussion.

Reference was also made to the recently announced plans of City Engineer Henry A. Yancey for possible future expansion by construction of additional wings in front of the City Hall.

Commissioner J. P. Hobson said: "It looks like the city intends to lay where it is and this should help us in our plans of securing a headquarters of our own with the county school system."

Mr. Hobson said that this is the first time that the city and county school boards have been able to get together and work on a cooperative program.

A 40-acre tract in the eastern area of Charlotte's suburbs is under consideration and negotiations for an option are proceeding.

Such a combined central administrative unit has been strongly recommended by the city and county school boards' school planning consultants, Engelhardt, Engelhardt & Lengyel, of New York.

And Dr. N. L. Engelhardt has proposed a site of between 40 and 50 acres to permit construction of an adequate office building for both school systems with assembly hall, display rooms and other

Corner Shrubs Blocking View To Be Clipped

Yancey Given Word To Aid Motorists

City Manager Henry A. Yancey was instructed by the City Council today to take action to remove street corner shrubs blocking the view of motorists.

Councilman Steve Dellinger proposed such a check at the meeting today.

He mentioned the additional hazard to children when school is out this summer from street corners where the view is obstructed from tall and overhanging bushes and shrubbery.

Mr. Yancey noted that the city has authority to cut back such shrubbery which is on city property or overhangs on city property.

He said further action could be taken in the case of shrubbery on private property, but that a drive of this sort does not usually become that involved.

Two locations mentioned particularly by Dellinger were the corner of 8th and Broadway Sts. and Councilwoman Martha Evans added the corner of Crescent and Wall Aves. to put on a check list.

Mr. Evans said it is a safety measure. Also that women are complaining about their children and those being torn by shrubs overhanging sidewalks.

Mr. Yancey said the city has a duty to see that the city is cooperative in cutting back shrubs overhanging sidewalks and obstructing the view of drivers at intersections.

The only way the city can actually go on private property to cut back bushes, however, is through legal procedure. This would involve condemning and removing shrubs with damages paid to the property owner.

In view of general public cooperation, though, he again said it is rare that this method is resorted to.

The Council also today set the hearing date for seven zoning change petitions for May 9. It also changed its procedure for hearing the petitions and rendering decisions on them.

At the suggestion of Mr. Dellinger, it altered the procedure so that hearings will be concluded on the date set for such hearings, out that final action will not be taken until the next meeting.

The Council approved a motion to put the extension of Pierce St. on its list of streets to be opened or improved.

Big-Headed, Beady-Eyed Catfish Given Permission To Masquerade

NOTTINGHAM, England.—A British court says a catfish with strong business reasons may lawfully pose as a halibut.

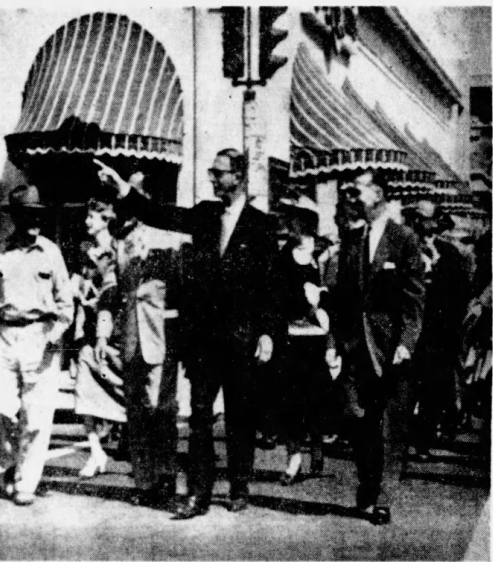

The judgment, returned by three magistrates, apparently freed down to this: "What a face like his, who can blame him?"

The decision set a salmon George Emerson free to go on peddling his catfish as "mock halibut," thereby insulting the denizens of the deep and the Mississippi River at one fell swoop of his filleting knife.

"CALCULATED TO DECEIVE"
Emerson was haled into court by Leonard Crabtree, a Nottinghamshire food inspector. Crabtree said he had spotted Emerson selling catfish as "mock halibut fish." The inspector denounced this as a description "calculated to deceive" his customers.

Crabtree snapped his fingers and up stepped an assistant carrying a tray with four fish on it. "Three were halibut—firm, clear-eyed, alert, appetizing. The fourth was a catfish—big-headed, beady-eyed, wild-whiskered and with skin instead of scales.

Crabtree picked up the catfish and waved it at the magistrates. "Hideous, isn't it?" he asked. "A repulsive fish. It is impossible to offer it for sale until it has been banded and filleted. The halibut, on the

President Gets Firm Approval

By RELMAN MORIN

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee went down to a resounding defeat in the New Jersey primary today, the most serious setback since he opened his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

At the same time, New Jersey Republicans gave President Eisenhower a firm endorsement, although he had no opposition.

Returns from 3,472 of the state's 4,135 voting districts showed these totals in the preference sections of the ballots:

Eisenhower 296,538
Kefauver 99,297

In the Democratic returns there also were 1921 writes for Adlai Stevenson, who was not a candidate in this primary.

For Kefauver, however, the "popularity contest" was much less serious than the battle for delegates to the nominating convention. His 72 backers—who would have 36 convention votes—were swamped by an unpledged slate headed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

The organization led in the remaining 8 contests with 4 votes.

On the Republican side, a 38-vote delegation pledged to the "Free Press" was elected. It had taken opposition from three "conservative" and undesignated candidates.

Kefauver campaigned intensively for six days in New Jersey, making his final appearance last Sunday. But the tactics of handshaking and meeting people that served him so well in New Hampshire and Minnesota failed here.

His campaign manager here, Martin J. Rafferty of Newark, said however:

"The senator performed a great service for the people of New Jersey. He showed great political courage by coming into the state. The people gave him a good vote. It is by no means a defeat for him. Highly organized Democratic machines in 21 counties were too much for him to overcome."

PERCENTAGE HIGHER
Neither Eisenhower nor Kefauver got many preferential votes in this election as they had in 1952, but the President's percentage was better. Four years ago, after a hot fight with the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, he polled 280,381 votes—nearly half the total cast in the 1956 primary.

Kefauver polled 151,947 in 1952 when he was also opposed. He did not contest them for convention delegates and at the convention got only three of New Jersey votes on the first ballot.

A battle for convention delegates this time, the senator met a clear-cut defeat. Before the election, he had predicted he would win at least 10 delegates.

Democratic State chairman George Brunner said early today that "results were as we anticipated. We were interested in electing a full slate of unpledged delegates because we felt the party must be interested in selecting the strongest possible Democratic candidate. We feel as a party that the Democrats will elect the next President."

Council Likes City Hall Idea

'Yancey Plan' Given Boost

By DICK YOUNG

Charlotte News Staff Writer
Unanimous approval of the "Yancey plan" for expansion of the municipal government's plant on City Hall Square was informally given by the City Council today.

And suggestion for housing the proposed Health Center in one of the additional wings first advanced in The News yesterday, was taken under consideration.

Commendation was forthcoming for the suggestion of City Manager Henry A. Yancey that additional office space be provided by the construction of new wings at the present City Hall site.

The so-called "Yancey Plan" provides for additions at each end of the present City Hall.

A COMMENDATION
Both Councilman Herman A. Brown and Herbert H. Baxter said Mr. Yancey should be commended for advancing these plans. Other council members agreed.

Mr. Baxter offered for consideration the suggestion that the proposed Health Center be located in one of these new wings.

Recounting the difficulties that the Health Advisory Committee has encountered in finding a suitable site for the Health Center, Mr. Baxter said location on municipal square would solve that problem and save $100,000 to $200,000 in the purchase of a site in the neighborhood.

Councilman James S. Smith, who with Mr. Baxter and Councilwoman Martha Evans made up a special council committee to help in finding a Health Center site, said:

"I think we should have the approval of the Health Advisory Committee before we take any action locating the Health Center at the present City Hall site."

Mr. Smith said that he had talked briefly with Dr. Hamilton McKay, chairman of the Health Advisory Committee, and indicated that further consideration would be necessary.

Mr. Baxter readily agreed and added:

"All I'm doing is throwing out the suggestion for you all to be thinking about."

'COLLEGE HUMOR' NOT FUN FOR CHAPEL HILL POLICE
CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—Police Capt. W. D. Blake said today he expects to arrest some University of North Carolina students for their damage to property at the police station here.

He said this after conferring with Ray Jeffries, assistant to the university dean of student affairs. Jeffries said that four of the students involved in an incident at the police station Monday night, Blake said.

Police said the incident occurred after the arrest of a student on charges of drunken driving when friends of the student came to confer on posting bond.

The officers reported the following occurred. A waste basket was set aside, wires to two telephones were ripped out, and a revolver, a number of traffic tickets, fingerprint rollers and fountain pen sets were stolen. Jeffries yesterday returned most of the stolen articles, the officers said.

On Annexation Question

Baxter Announces Plan For Meetings

By HARRY SHUFORD
Charlotte News Staff Writer
City Councilman Herbert H. Baxter today announced plans for meetings of perimeter area people on the controversial subject of annexation.

He told members of the Council that he will try to arrange a number of such meetings for the purpose of informing perimeter area people of what annexation would mean to them.

"I don't want to push anybody into the city. I want them to want to come in."

"These meetings will be held for their educational value."

Mr. Baxter invited members of the City Council to attend as many meetings as they could and received somewhat of a favorable response to the idea.

MAY HELP
Mayor Phil Van Ewyck pointed out that town hall meetings may be good, but you can't please anybody in an audience by talking them you're going to raise taxes.

Councilwoman Martha Evans suggested that possibly already established media such as newspapers, radio and television could do a better job of informing the public.

But Councilman Steve Dellinger pointed out that the "town meeting" procedure is the original basis of democracy. He added that he thinks good will come out of such meetings.

Mr. Baxter also said other interested people, such as candidates for the legislature will be invited to the meetings. He added he thinks there are about 21 separate annexation boundaries to be considered in the meetings.

"This thing has been kicked around for a long time," Mr. Baxter said. "I hope that the cause of annexation will be strengthened by affected people attending the meetings and being presented with benefits to them from coming into the city."
