

Established Dec. 8, 1888.

ALTERNATE SOIL PLAN SUBMITTED

'Fair Compromise' Measure Offered

By Sen. Ellender

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today President Eisenhower can get quick congressional action on another soil bank bill if he agrees to a few additional provisions.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in an interview that these would include:

1. A ceiling under cotton acreage allotments at the level of this year, 17.4 million acres, plus special protection for small cotton farmers.

2. An increase to 35 million acres in the basic program, which farmers would be paid for taking out of production land now being used for producing crops in surplus.

3. Some compromise system of supports for oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums, the chief livestock feed grains in addition to corn.

"These would offer a fair compromise for the vetoed bill without including mandatory rigid supports or dual parity," Ellender added.

The provisions Ellender named, along with the soil bank, were included in the omnibus farm bill which Eisenhower vetoed a week ago today. The President expressed opposition especially to the bill's provisions for higher, rigid price supports and other price-raising requirements which he has said would increase surpluses.

Congress lacked those provisions on to Eisenhower's own proposal for a soil bank program, which farmers would be paid for taking out of production land now being used for producing crops in surplus.

In the House, meantime, Republicans sought to include authorization for the soil bank program in a bill to appropriate $1,200,000,000 for its operation this year. The House Appropriations Committee, contending no further authority is needed, approved the money bill last week and based it on a 1955 conservation law.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, in a TV appearance yesterday, said the money bill "is a sort of gold brick that has been handed to us."

Yacht, Rowboat Taken By Thieves

CONOWING, Md.—Stolen one yacht, value about $12,000 and one rowboat, too.

State Police said the rowboat was stolen Saturday night from a boatyard 10 miles up Northeast River, and apparently was used by the thieves to get to the yacht moored down river. The 42-foot yacht, owned by Richard K. Barnes of Charlottesville, Md., was reported last seen of Turkey Point on Chesapeake Bay—towing a rowboat.

Our Weather

Fair and windy today. Fair and cold tonight with risk of scattered light frost. Low this morning.....47 Low tomorrow morning.....34 High yesterday.....73 High today.....65 High tomorrow.....63 Sunrise 5:42 a.m.; sunset 7:02 p.m.

More Weather Data on Page 2-A

Youth Shoots Three Who 'Picked' On Him

MANSFIELD, Conn.—An 11-year-old boy, aiming awkwardly because of poor eyesight, shot to death his entire family—mother, father and older brother.

He told police they picked on him and he feared he would be sent to reform school.

Fifth-grader Robert Cargenew said he killed the three late Saturday afternoon at the family's rural home here, 30 miles east of Hartford. He slept in the farmhouse that night, then reported the killings to a neighbor Sunday morning.

EXAMINATION ORDERED

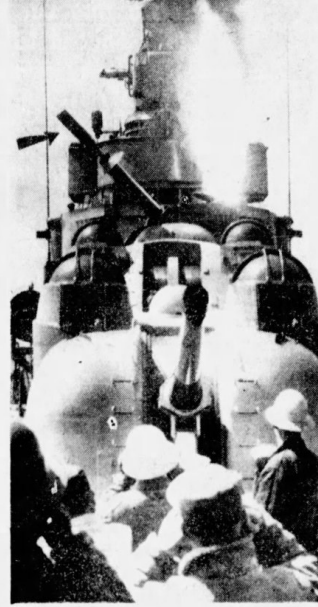

After telling his story to police yesterday, Robert was committed to the state hospital at Norwich for a 30-day mental examination.

Robert is built stockily but he has poor sight in his right eye and wears glasses. He said he had to sight the rifle with his left eye.

He told State Police Lt. Harry Taylor he relaxed the 22 caliber rifle after every shot, carrying spare bullets between his feet.

First he killed his brother, Richard Jr. He walked into the barn where Richard was milking a cow about 5:30 p.m.

"I'm going to shoot you," he told Richard. But he said Richard paid him no mind and

ARROW POINTS to anti-submarine rocket as it emerged from launcher during test firing aboard the Navy destroyer leader, U. S. S. Wilkinson in the Atlantic. Crewmen and Boston Naval Shipyard technicians watching test cover ears in foreground. This rocket is considered one of the Navy's best anti-submarine weapons and does not need to hit sub since it explodes by proximity. The flash from the rocket is diverted upwards. (AP Wirephoto)

FALTER ON WAY TO ALTAR KEEPS MISS FROM BLISS

LOS ANGELES—The organ played the traditional wedding tune as a church packed with guests craned their necks for the bride to walk down the aisle.

At the altar, the groom fidgeted on one foot and then the other.

The Rev. James Inglis also was there with book open ready to marry his son, Robert Inglis, 24, and Miss June Wilson, 19.

It would have been a beautiful wedding but for one thing. The bride never showed.

An hour after the scheduled time for the rites an "Angels' Promise," the bride's mother explained.

"She was scared. The wedding's been called off indefinitely."

The mother said that her daughter was home in bed.

"She almost had a nervous breakdown. And I'm pretty sick myself," the almost mother-in-law added.

In Adlai's Drive

California Vote May Tell Story

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's backers apparently believe that if he can win the California primary he will ride the Democratic presidential nomination convention with more first-ballot votes than anyone else.

Some of his friends indicated today that while they are not slackening their efforts, they are not counting heavily on the May 28 election in California.

In Florida, the Stevenson forces seemingly will be happy to get an even break with Sen. Estes Kefauver in Tennessee in any division of the state's 28-vote delegation. They contended they are fighting an uphill battle in a write-in contest with Kefauver for Oregon's 16 votes.

But in California, where the 68-vote delegation goes as a unit to the summer of the June 5 primary, they are prepared for a desperate battle.

Our Father, Who Art Thou

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. Amen.

Evening Prayer

Our Father, who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. Amen.

Khrushchev Miffed By Jeers

Red Boss Says Soviet A-Missile Ready Soon

Squirrels Get New Bungalows AERIAL HOUSING SHORTAGE SOLVED

A tree-top housing shortage on City Hall Square was being relieved today.

And the shortage was so acute that the tenants could hardly wait for the houses to be ready before they entered and took possession.

Because of the increase in the squirrel population on City Hall Square (four new houses were built and were placed in trees today by firemen from Headquarters Station.

And firemen said that in several instances the squirrels could hardly wait for the houses to be nailed to tree limbs before the squirrels rushed in.

The four new houses, gaily painted in light green, were built by M. M. Harris, city Hall custodian, who said that the present population of 22 squirrels had been increased by nine since last year.

An annual expenditure of $10 is made from the public treasury to provide peanuts for the squirrels.

Each day around 4 p.m. Joe Melton, City Hall janitor, goes through the ritual of feeding the baby-satied owners of the City Hall trees.

The squirrels know when feeding time comes and at the approach of Mr. Melton they come scampering from all directions.

Mr. Melton knows all of them and the report of the number of squirrels now inhabiting the big trees on municipal square from his recent count.

Park Board Asking Space For Parking

By DICK YOUNG
Charlotte News Staff Writer

An appeal for cooperation in providing auxiliary parking facilities for the new Park Center on the central High School athletic field was made today by James J. Sifford, chairman of the Park and Recreation Commission.

Hope that the City School Board will act at its next meeting on the park board's request for permission to use the high school field was expressed by Mr. Sifford.

Several weeks ago formal request for use of the field was made to the City School Board.

The matter was referred to the board's athletic committee of which Sifford is chairman.

Mr. Sifford said that conference with the school board was held last week and he hopes that action will be soon forthcoming.

The new Park Center now being constructed on the foundations of the fire-damaged armory-auditorium is expected to be completed by July.

And Mr. Sifford is most anxious to have the parking facilities constructed on the foundations of the fire-damaged armory-auditorium in readiness by the center's opening.

Charlotte Pioneer Shares Celebration With Students

By EMERY WISTER
Charlotte News Staff Writer

Along with 9:45 o'clock this morning, Oswald Barringer walked into the Barringer School carrying a big box in his hands.

Mr. Barringer, born here just 80 years ago today, had the first automobile in Charlotte.

It was the first car in the South," he said. "That was 1900 and the car was run by steam."

And then he remembered some other firsts.

"I had the first everything," he said. "I had the first Koolak picture and took the first X-ray picture in the United States. But you've heard all that before."

By the time the children were all eating ice cream bars and Mr. Barringer was cutting a cake a teacher had asked them the children sang "Happy Birthday," and someone asked, "Don't you think someone ought to say 'Thank you'?"

And the boys and girls said "Thank you, Mr. Barringer," and he and Mrs. Barringer smiled back their thanks.

It was time to get the children back to their classes. But Mrs. Barringer smiled again and a little boy named Butch hung around long enough to speak Mr. Barringer again.

Mr. Barringer Cuts The Cake As Mrs. Barringer Looks On

BOY'S FALL IS CAUSE OF FATAL WRECK

CHICAGO (AP)—A 2-year-old who fell against the gas pedal of his mother's car set off a chain reaction that killed an older boy playing behind a six-foot brick wall.

Mrs. Winifred Breakey, 36, told police she was driving her three children home from church when the youngest, James, fell to the floor and struck the accelerator. The car bounced over a curb and struck the brick wall at the entrance to the Trembull Park housing project on the Far South Side. Flying bricks killed James Buchanan, 9, behind the wall.

Mrs. Breakey was charged with reckless homicide.

Killing People, Going Places

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—The free world's first international conference on guided missiles got underway today with a dual study—how to bring about safer and cheaper travel and how to kill people.

With the Soviet Union pushing hard to develop an intercontinental rocket, the North Atlantic Treaty organization called this unusual session.

Scientists from all 15 NATO countries were brought together for the "rock" conference of NATO's Advisory Group for Aeronautical Research and Development.

Missile Talks Have Dual Purpose

The conference brought back to Germany for the first time since World War II many of the scientists who developed the "V" rocket.

One of the returning German experts, Dr. E.M. Fischel of Caldwell, N.J., said the Germans had been hard at work on an anti-aircraft rocket of their own—the Wasserfall—in the latter stages of the war.

Had this project been completed in time, he said, the mass Allied air attacks could have been seriously hampered if not completely stopped.

Select FOREMOST Milk Products at your favorite store.—Adv.

Can Fall Anywhere In World

By STERLING SLAPPEY
BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union will soon have long-range guided missiles capable of carrying H-bombs and warned the West: "Never shake your fist at a Russian."

The Soviet Communist party boss apparently nettled by jeering crowds who met him and Premier Nikolai Bulganin here, told a Chamber of Commerce luncheon the Russians have already exploded an H-bomb from a plane and claimed Russia was the first nation to do so.

"I am quite sure that we will quickly have a guided missile with a hydrogen bomb that can fall anywhere in the world," Khrushchev said in a Russian-language speech as reported by the British Industries Fair, co-located at the luncheon.

FURTHER DEVELOPMENT.

A translator read out Khrushchev's speech in English sentence by sentence as it was being delivered. Most Western newsmen here did not hear the translator read out the clause "that can fall anywhere in the world." But a BIP official text, based on a shorthand writer's version of the oral translation, included it. Premier Bulganin indicated last December the Soviets already had guided missiles capable of intercontinental flights.

Khrushchev said he had seen people shaking fists at him and Bulganin since their arrival in Britain. Then he launched into a vivid account of Soviet strength.

In claiming Russia was the first nation to explode an H-bomb from a plane, he said:

"The United States only now is intending to do this. The United States' first H-bomb explosion was from a ground installation."

Then listing the areas in which the Soviet Union can compete with the Western world, Khrushchev said:

"Guided missiles—we can compete there, too. I am quite sure we will quickly have guided missiles carrying an H-bomb."

Earlier jeering demonstrators carrying anti-Communist banners here told Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin during a whirlwind tour of Birmingham.

Obviously excited, Khrushchev referred to the demonstrations and warned: "Never shake your fist at a Russian."

He told the luncheon that he and Bulganin—now on a 10-day visit to Britain for high-level talks—had seen placards "attacking us and Russia and we have heard the cries of many people. We have seen fists shaken at us."

"I would remind the man with the fist that attempts have been made previously to speak to us in that manner. Never shake your fist at a Russian."

IN HIS GRAVE.

"Hitler tried to attack us with a chemical fist and now he is in his grave."

"It is not time that we became more intelligent and not shake our fists at each other." We have come here not to create hostility. We have come on a friendly visit to Sir Anthony Eden's invitation and we are most grateful to him for that invitation."

How's Your Memory?

Do you misspell the word "separate"? If so, see Sig-mund Blomberg's "Improve Your Memory" column on page 1-B for an easy way to spell.

700 HOME BURNS

YUKU, Japan (AP)—Four thousand persons lost their homes today in a fire which destroyed 600 of 2,700 houses in the hot spring resort town of Awamori, 11 miles north of here. One person was killed, one was missing and about 200 injured.

THIS IS LIFE INSURANCE Education Week In MECKLENBURG COUNTY APRIL 23-26th