Ice Cream Sells Like Hot Cakes

By EMERY WISTER
Charlotte News Staff Writer
Makes no difference what the calendar says, it was the first day of summer. And Charlotte business firms have the figures and the weather to prove it. Ice cream, soft drink and air conditioning sales hit a new high along with the temperature yesterday. The mercury bounced to a sizzling 95.2 degrees and broke a 65-year record for May 14 set in 1891.
Soft drink and ice cream sales also hit a new high for the year. "There were no figures to prove it, but—"
AN EXTRA TRUCK
"We had to put an extra truck on this morning," said S. Bruce Wingate, Charlotte zone manager for Southern Dairies. "All our drivers got out early to replenish dealer's stocks."
And even today, with the weather a little cooler, some stores are already selling out of ice cream.

"We've already had calls from stores that were out of ice cream," he said.
The Charlotte Coca-Cola Bottling Co. also reported a rushing business, with the hot weather given credit for a boost in sales. The Charlotte Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. reported it was operating at capacity with trucks making deliveries to stores as rapidly as possible.
But the air conditioning business got the biggest break of all from the weather. It was almost too much of a break. Employees in the office of the Page Air Conditioning Co., at 1155 E. 4th St., thought telephones would ring of the hook.
"Strangely enough the rush to get to a cool place did not affect the Charlotte coliseum where ice-making machinery reduced the temperature to 65 degrees."
"We had 133 people yesterday," said manager Paul Buck.

Court May Call Hottle, Who's Tardy With Cash

Duke Hottle, free on a suspended sentence since the middle of April, is behind on payments to local courts and may be called back into court, it was indicated today.
Records of Superior Court show Hottle never made a $100 payment on a fine which was due May 7.
Domestic Relations Court files show he has made only two of the $30 a week payments ordered for the support of his children since the middle of March, when the payments were to begin.
Hottle was sentenced along with Mary Louise Daubneyner to a year in prison April 9 for fornication and adultery. The sentence was suspended by Judge J. C. Rudisill several days later, with the provision that Hottle pay a $200 fine—$100 at that time and the balance by May 7.
He paid $128.35 (which amounts to $100 and costs) on April 18, but has made no further payments.

Assistant Solicitor Charles Knox said today he is prepared to issue a capias (a court order directing that a person be brought into court) for Hottle if he has not met his obligations.

DULLES SAYS SLASH WON'T ALTER POWER

Welcomed By U. S. As Abstention From Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today Russia's proposed armed forces cut would not appreciably alter Soviet military power. But he said the United States welcomes it insofar as it indicates a policy of abstaining from the use of violence in international relations.
The 1,200,000 men who are to be taken out of uniform, according to the Moscow announcement yesterday, may readily be put to making military weapons, Dulles told a news conference.
The Kremlin announcement therefore does not provide a basis for reducing U. S. armed strength, he said.

U. S. REDUCTION
Anyhow, Dulles reminded, this country has cut its forces by more than nine million men since World War II—from a level of 12,300,000 to less than three million.
"The United States," Dulles said in a comment volunteered at the outset of his weekly meeting with reporters, "welcomes the Soviet announcement of its intention to reduce its armed forces by 1,200,000 men within the next year, if this proves to be evidence of an intent to forego the use of force in international affairs."
"However, the obvious explanation is the need for greater manpower in industry and agriculture."

OVER-EXTENDED?
Expanding this point in response to questions, Dulles said that the Soviets have been badly overextended because they have been trying to build up general industry, produce new weapons, cope with an agricultural crisis and develop a foreign aid program.
The easiest place they could cut, he said, was in the manpower of their armed forces.
A reporter said Dulles seemed to imply he would rather see the manpower continued in uniform.
Dulles said that in fact he would rather have the Russians standing around doing guard duty than making atomic bombs.

In Congress, Sen. George D. Graham thought the Russian announcement was possibly encouraging.
George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the announcement "ought not to be hastily dismissed without careful evaluation."
Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said in a separate interview he favors a "wait and see" attitude until "we can determine if Russia is really sincere."

NOW RATTLE OF THE BARS WILL INTERFERE

Not even the new public address system, which improved acoustics in City Recorder's Court, is good enough for Henry Hargett, Furrtown resident, who was in court this morning.
While a case was being tried, Hargett stood up from his seat in the courtroom audience and spoke up:
"Judge, how 'bout askin' 'em to speak up a little louder." We can't hear too good back here."
Judge Basil M. Boyd, a bit startled by the request, had the bailiff remove the hard-of-hearing man to a cell in City Jail until his own case was to come up.
Hargett was awaiting trial in a case brought against him by his sister, who charged him with assault.

Russian Air Potential Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U. S. Air Force leaders testified today the announced cutback in Russian military forces will not reduce Soviet air-atomic power or the mean of increasing it.
Both Secretary of the Air Force Quarles and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of air staff, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that the United States should exercise the greatest caution toward changing any of its own plans as a result of Moscow's announcement that 1,200,000 men will be cut from Soviet forces.

Secretary Quarles said that apparently only 20,000 of the announced Soviet reduction are in airborne divisions.
Chairman Chavez (D-NM) had asked whether the Soviet announcement would make any change in Air Force requests for funds for the fiscal year that begins July 1.
The answer to that was no.
Twining said the requested $1.6 billion for the next 12 months was an "austere budget," that more money could be spent. But he said it would result in having 137 wings on board although some facilities will be short but the wings will be there in position.
Twining said initial Air Force requests were for about 20 billion dollars but this had been trimmed with an understanding that requests for the 1956 fiscal year would be larger.

$20,000 Already Spent The Court Awards, Court Takes Away

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—"Oh, my God," said Raymond G. Cahill. "You mean they are going to take it away?"
The 24-year-old railroad brakeman was talking about $20,000 he was awarded by U. S. District Court jury for injuries received while working on the New Haven Railroad.
Cahill had just told Cahill that the U. S. Supreme Court, which upheld the award last fall, had reversed itself and sent the suit back to a U. S. circuit court.
The railroad already had paid Cahill the money, and he has spent a good part of it.
"I'll be honest with you," he said. "I have three children, and I bought a piece of property and I'm building a nominally priced house on it, about $12,000."
"I paid all my bills, about $20,000, and I bought a station wagon. I haven't even bought a suit of clothes for myself."
As Cahill talked to the reporter on the telephone, a woman at his home started to sob in the background.
"That's my wife," Cahill said. "I'll have to hang up now. I've been disappointed so many times, one of us has kind of got to keep from going to pieces."
The Supreme Court's decision yesterday was 5-4. Last fall it was 5-4 in upholding Cahill's award.
The justice who changed his

Woman's Take: $500 Weekly

A 26-year-old Spartanburg, S. C., woman testified here today she made from $500 to $1,000 a week as a prostitute in Charlotte.
Listed as Mrs. Jeannette Lark, the woman was found guilty of prostitution and conspiracy to commit prostitution. But Judge Basil M. Boyd of City Court continued prayer for judgment in the cases until next Tuesday. She was held under $2,500 bond awaiting trial of two Negro bellboys. The bellboys are charged with conspiracy and with soliciting for a prostitute.
They were identified as James and Will Ely, employed at the Belmont Hotel, 313 W. Trade St.
Detective John Severs, told Judge Boyd that the woman never filed dates for less than $10, and often charged $100 for an evening.
"I believe she's bragging about making $100 dates in Charlotte," said Judge Boyd.
An attractive brunette, the woman told Detective Severs she came to Charlotte before Christmas.

EARLY TARGET DATE
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board has set early 1957 as target date for completion of a study of consumer installment credit. The survey may help to determine whether steady credit controls are needed.

Aircraft Believed Private

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A private plane crashed on a farm four miles north of here today, killing at least five passengers.
The plane, heading for Standiford Field at nearby Louisville, Ky., fell during a rainstorm on the Clark Dellinger farm, one mile from the Ohio River.
Capt. Lawrence Waincoat of the Jeffersonville, Ind., police said there were five bodies in the wreckage.
The plane was a Lockheed transport but other details of its flight plan were not available.
State police at Jeffersonville said there were no survivors of the crash. Troopers said the plane appeared to be a 12 or 15-place Lockheed Ventura. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area.
John Vissing, living near the crash scene, had notified state police a few minutes earlier that a plane appeared to be in trouble. Shortly afterward Mrs. Dellinger reported the crash.
There was rain but no storm at the time of the accident.
Mrs. Dellinger said she counted four bodies sprawled on the ground.
Vissing, a pilot, told state police he was in the yard of his home when he heard a plane's motor increase speed suddenly and then become silent.

Cashier Given 5-Year Term

ASHEVILLE (AP)—A prison sentence of five years was imposed in S. C. today on Donald M. Cox, 34-year-old former cashier of the Citizens Bank of Marshall.
Cox had entered a plea of guilty to embezzlement and making false entries in the bank's books in the sum of $29,000. The bill of indictment carried 17 counts and Judge William Warwick of Newton consolidated all counts for judgment.
Before imposing sentence, Judge Warwick said, "This court still doesn't know the amount of the shortage of the bank."
The government says it is somewhere near $100,000 and the defense contends it is comparatively small.

Hearing Set Friday In Gastonia Rape

GASTONIA (AP)—A preliminary hearing was held Friday for two South Gastonia married men charged with raping a 16-year-old Gastonia High School girl.
The hearing was scheduled for today in City Recorder's Court. The postponement was granted at the request of Ernest Warren, attorney for the defendants.

73 Drown In Mishap

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Police today announced an overload of motor launch had capsized in the Java Sea and 73 persons, including many women and children, were drowned. It occurred last weekend off Teluk. The boat was carrying 81 persons on a holiday excursion. Police said they were holding the skipper of the launch and two crewmen for questioning.

Hungry Paper Mills Gulping Carolinas' Newest Cash Crop

Spraying Pines on Plantation Cultivated By Duke Power Experts

By CHARLES KURALT
Charlotte News Staff Writer
The old pine tree is in for its biggest boom in history.
Pine farmers are rushing to help fill the voracious demand of the paper industry by planting millions of acres of trees.
In Lancaster County, S. C., just across the Catawba from where the Bowater company has indicated it will build a huge paper mill-sit conservationist John E. Nisbet has unfilled orders for more than half a million pine seedlings.
The Bowater people have started on a great deal of interest," Mr. Nisbet says. "I see farmers every day who want to start planting pines. I can't stay ahead of all the requests."
More than 100 million seedlings will be planted in the Carolinas this year—many of them on deserted acres which once were devoted to cotton and corn.
The unprecedented paper shortage keeps up, according to a recent estimate by "Chemical Week" magazine, the already impossible demand for wood will be doubled in 1975.
Riegel Paper Corp., one of the nation's largest, is building a $14 million addition to its tremendous operations at Acme, N. C., near Wilmington. Riegel opened its mill there four years ago. Expansion has been so persistent that a new project is started before the previously started one is completed.

International Paper Co. is expanding its large plant there.
Hallifax Paper Co. at Roomok Rapids is building a three-million-dollar addition to its large plant there.
West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. is expanding its large operation at Charleston, S. C., to the tune of 20 million dollars, and is putting in a pine tree nursery near Charleston to produce 22 million seedlings a year.
Hinds & Dauch Paper Co. is expanding at Canton.
National Container Corp. recently opened a big industrial paperboard producing plant at Gastonia.
General Paper Co. is building a plant at Salisbury and Rock Hill, S. C.

What's new is the upsurge in "scientific" pine crops. This development has been encouraged by farm agents. It is based on a "cut-a-tree, plant-a-tree" system plus the use of good farming methods.
