Grim Movie Audience Views Epochal Scenes

Charlotteans who witnessed the first new reel shots of the week-end's epoch-making events reacted last night just as any Americans might be expected to react. In war time—grim but confidently. The Paramount film at the Carolina Theater last night was rushed here in record-breaking fashion. The folks watched in dead silence as the first news was flashed across the screen... boomed when the camera showed a close-up of the city jail emplacements grinning their grim grin... laughed heartily when the announcer put in the phrase which may well catch the popular fancy—"The Little Yellow Bellies".
