Repeaters

Crime Is a Habit for Too Many Juveniles

A nine-year-old Negro boy-self-con-ressed perpetator of a crime serfous enough to send an adult to the gas chamber-stands mutely today behind the bars of the Mecklemburg County Juvenile Detention Quarters. He and his thriteen-year-old friend admit that they planned and executed fourteen local breakings and enterings, one of which was a first-degree bur-giary.

Gary
One of the boys escaped only a short time ago from Morrison Training School.
All of which prompts Detective Chief Elitelpoin to remark that if there were some way of solving the "repeater" problem, 89 per cent of the entire luveable crime altuation in Charlotte would disappear.

H the Chief's figures are right, the A mine Chief's figures are right, the special committee representing County, City, and the Children's Division of the Council of, Social Agencies has 90 event of its work laid out in plain sight. Solve the "repeater" problem and the remaining fraction of the juvenile crime patters will be small the mine and the county of t remaining fraction of the juvenile crims picture will be made comparatively easy.

Requerelt Adds to Fame as World's Worst Administrator

Washington these days is certainly whing up to the injunction, "Let, not thy left, kinds know what thy right hand dooth." With the one hand they are preparing to take from the people givenously hurdensome taxes, all to the end that the cost of our war preparation shall be paid for in part as we go. And that is sensible, but

The prevailing mood of the Administration seems to be one of entire baffiement. It is as though Mr. Roosevelt were a hypnotist and had collected a ment. It is as though as mere a hypnotist and had collected a batch of willing ambjects on the stage whom he had entranced and set to doing foolish atunta, and then had found in an uncountely man with hair brushed low over his forchead and a tiny. Chap-lineague mustache one who defied his cerry threat and persuasion. And while he works upon that one, the forgotten others keep doing their tricks. A couple of these are worth looking at.

See Harold the Ick, who has been told See Harold the lct, who has been tool that he is a conservator. "Turn off that light," screams Harold. "Electricity is running out. We must save daylight. Defense comes first, far ahead of the needs of the civilian population. Spare the meter and make the olum safe for democracy! Eh, watt?"

If electricity is running short—and Harold away it is—and must be conserved —and Harold says it must—why in Heaven's name doesn't he tell John about it?
