HARVEST HOME OBSERVED BY METHODISTS

Centenary Methodist Church observed Harvest Home at the worship service on Sunday morning. The Rev. William R. Jones, pastor, delivered the sermon on the theme "Whose Harvest Is It?" and read the Scripture lesson from Ecclesiastes 11:1-10 and 12:1-14. The responsive reading was entitled "God Our Defender." The combined choirs sang the anthem "Dwell In Me."

Home-coming Day will be noted on Sunday, November 18. Those who plan to present either altar flowers or memorial honorary baskets or vases for this service should notify the pastor as soon as possible so that proper arrangements may be made. For all other occasions when altar flowers are placed, the donor's name should be listed on the flower chart in the vestibule.

Home-coming Day committees have been announced as follows: Publicity and mailing, Chester S. Byers, chairman, Mrs. Grace Harner, Mrs. W. R. Jones, Miss Emma Forrest, Ralph R. Ruggles and Mrs. Marian Study; dinner, Melvin Houston; after dinner program, Richard V. Emerson, chairman, Jerry Wheatley, Melvin Houston and Thomas Kerns. The committees will meet at the call of the chairman. If there are some people to whom an invitation to the service should be mailed their names and address should be given to the above named committee. The letters must be mailed no later than Wednesday, November 7, to give time for replies.

Centenary Senior Choir will rehearse Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m.

The Rev. Mr. Jones officiated for the wedding of Charles Raymond Traxler, of Milroy, and Mrs. Hazel Viola Wagner, of Reedsville, on Friday at 9 p.m. in Centenary Church. Mrs. Traxler was a parishioner at Reedsville during the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Jones, and Mr. Traxler was a pupil at Milroy High School.

PLANES SEEK CUBAN PROOF OF RED PLEDGE

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. reconnaissance planes focused their sensitive cameras on Cuba today in search of evidence that the Russians are starting to dismantle their missile bases there.

The American quarantine fleet remained on guard in the Atlantic. But no Soviet ships were reported within two or three days' steaming time of the U.S. quarantine line thrown up nearly a week ago.

There was an almost tangible easing of the tension that gripped the nation during the past week of crisis.

MILITARY STILL ALERT

There was no accompanying reversal of the military preparations which had been mounting toward an indicating bombing strike or invasion of Cuba.

Informed officials said they don't expect to see any substantial reduction in those land, sea and air preparations at least until this country is convinced the missile threat from Cuba is removed.

Even after, that it is almost certain that aerial surveillance will be continued over Cuba to make sure there is no new sneak try at setting up ballistic missiles pointed toward the United States.

Authorities said the 14,000 Air Force Reservists who went on active duty Saturday probably will be kept in service for the time being.

RESERVISTS TO STAY

The Pentagon announcement Saturday night that the Reservists were being called up to man troop-carrying planes hinted very strongly at a possible invasion.

Officials believe the significance of this pointed announcement—together with a declaration that appropriate measures will be taken to insure that U.S. reconnaissance aircraft are protected—was not lost on the Kremlin.

They said the United States is speaking to Soviet Premier Khrushchev through these announcements, and they called the studied U.S. military buildup "a most dramatic application of military force to achieve diplomatic ends."

Woman Ballplayer Joins Army Corps

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A former professional baseball player is probably the best recruiting advertisement for the Women's Army Corps in the state of Maine.

She's 34-year-old Blanche Kelley, sergeant first class who played first base professionally in Indiana with the Fort Wayne Daisies and the Gary All Stars among others. Her sports career ended 12 years ago when she tore a ligament in her thumb and couldn't wear a mitt anymore. After she enlisted, the Army took one look at her record and placed her in the special services athletic program.

In 1958 Blanche was named "Wac of the Year." Just recently she won top honors in the First Army District for the number of young women she recruited in a year.

Scientists Find Maoris Ancestors

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii scientists digging in the Society Islands in the South Pacific this summer have unearthed 1,500-year-old objects that may shed light on Pacific man's origin.

Dr. Kenneth P. Emory, Honolulu archaeologist who headed the expedition, said the implements are identical to artifacts discovered in burial sites in New Zealand and believed to be more than 1,000 years old.

He said the shapes of implements, the fact that tools and fishhooks were buried beside a man and the burial position of the man indicate that ancestors of New Zealand's Maoris derived their culture from the Society Islands.

Dr. Emory said pearl-shell fishhooks and stone cutting tools "indicate that Hawaii did not share in this early phase of Tahiti, but in a later phase of it."

Owner's Son Killed In Gas Station Theft

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Carl W. Bundy 25, of Yardley, Pa., manager of six gasoline stations owned by his father, was shot and killed Sunday night by a hold-up man who made off with the day's receipts.

Police said the robber made off with $4,500.

The shooting, shortly before midnight, occurred as Bundy was about to make a night deposit at a bank. The victim had finished making collections at the premium petroleum stations operated by his father.

Pope Enlarges 10 Commissions Of 2nd Council

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXII today enlarged the key commissions drafting proposals for the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council, and appointed 32 additional prelates to serve on them.

Sixteen members had been elected to each of the 10 commissions in the week after the council opened Oct. 11. The Pope was to have named another eight to each commission making a total of 24 members in addition to a cardinal-president of each body.

At today's closed council session in St. Peter's Basilica, a spokesman disclosed, Pope John's decision to name nine additional members, instead of eight, was announced.

ANNOUNCE CHOICES

The Pope's choices for nine of the 10 commissions were announced. Also announced was the name of an additional prelate to the liturgy commission. The Pope previously had named eight to this commission, which has already started its work.

The other commissions will not start work until the council takes up topics in their fields. The council so far has been concentrating on liturgy public worship.

A spokesman said the Pope decided to name an additional member so that each commission would have an uneven number of voting prelates, to prevent any possibility of a tie. The presiding cardinal has no vote.

SPEED UP WORK

This appeared to be part of an effort to speed up work of the council. A number of the 2,400 council fathers have expressed the opinion that the gathering—at its present pace—could last more than two years. On Saturday, the presiding committee of the council employed the fathers to be briefer in their speeches.

Liturgy is the first topic on the council agenda, and the prelates have spent a week on it, with the end not in sight.

Today the council took up debate on the eucharist, the subject of the second chapter in the eight-chapter proposed constitution on liturgy.

A communiqué after today's session pointed up "the deliberate slowness that has marked the council so far, reflecting freedom of expression and the depth and seriousness of study."

Cuba continues, it expects no interceptions by the U.S. blockaders.

Washington authorities said they did not know at the moment whether the building of Soviet missile sites in Cuba—reported proceeding at a rapid pace Saturday—had stopped. They figured "speedy dispatch of a U.N. team to Cuba would help check that."

DEFENSE MISSILE BASES

Removal of the rockets and jet bombers which the Soviet Union has been shipping to Cuba is the prime U.S. goal.

Khrushchev agreed to de-fuse the missile bases in a letter to Kennedy made public Sunday morning in Moscow. The Soviet leader said "the interests of peace" guided his decision.

Obviously eager to match his adversary's conciliatory tone, Kennedy issued a public statement praising Khrushchev's decision as statesmanlike and as "an important and constructive contribution to peace." In a quick reply to the premier Kennedy said Khrushchev had made possible "a step back from danger."

This historic exchange climaxed a week of nerve-jangling events.

CALL RESERVISTS

Kennedy stuck to his main point—the nuclear missile buildup in Cuba would have to be removed before there could be "sensible negotiation" on a peaceful settlement of the crisis.

On the military front, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced that more than 14,000 Air Force reservists, mostly in units used to airlift troops for combat, would be called to active duty.

McNamara's announcement Saturday night followed a Pentagon report that an unarmed U.S. reconnaissance plane was missing as a result of Cuban anti-aircraft fire. The pilot was identified as Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr., 35, of Greenville, S.C.

U.S. PLANE STRAYS

About the only controversial note was a charge that a U.S. reconnaissance plane had violated Soviet air space in Asia Sunday.

Kennedy acknowledged the straying of the plane, but said it was due to a serious navigational error. "I regret this incident and will see to it that every precaution is taken to prevent recurrence," the President told Khrushchev.

Pending solid evidence that the missile bases will be torn down, the aerial surveillance of Cuba continued.

Authorities here do not regard a Cuban settlement as foreshadowing any letup in Red pressures elsewhere. They still expect, for instance, that Moscow may heat up the Berlin issue to crisis proportions over the next few months.

Castro issued a five-point series of demands Sunday including U.S. withdrawal from the big American naval base at Guantanamo in eastern Cuba.
