Reaction in Washington to the Cuban situation is that it may well turn more dangerous before it gets better.

This remains the attitude despite Premier Khrushchev's latest proposal Saturday—calling for withdrawal of U.S. nuclear missiles from Turkey in exchange for which he says he would eliminate Soviet nuclear weapons from Cuba.

While this kept the way open for further negotiations aimed at a peaceful settlement, the White House said firmly that there could be no real negotiations until Russia withdraws the threat in Cuba.

In London, British government sources said Khrushchev is trying to bypass the main issue in the Cuban crisis by offering to dismantle his missile bases there in exchange for a U.S. withdrawal from Turkey. But there was no official government comment on Khrushchev's offer in London or in the other allied capitals.

In Paris, however, French and Allied sources were puzzled by Khrushchev's selection of Turkish missile sites. They said it has been an open secret that American missile bases in Turkey and other NATO countries are either obsolete or fast becoming so.

In Latin America, the Mexican government is firmly behind President Kennedy's determination to dislodge Soviet missiles from Cuba, official sources disclosed. A qualified informant said there was approval in highest quarters of the United States' rejection of the Soviet Union's offer to trade its Cuba bases for NATO installations in Turkey.

The Mexican position appeared to assure Kennedy of solid Latin American backing.

for any future move he might consider necessary to neutralize the Cuban bases.

The Economy Ministers of Americas ended their week-long conference in Mexico City with new ideas and determination to press ahead with the Alliance for Progress.

In a final report on their work, the ministers appealed to the hemisphere governments for "tenacious and patient" efforts to achieve the program's goal.

While making no direct reference to the Cuban crisis, the statement left no doubt the dangers of nuclear war had generated an unprecedented sense of unity between the Latin American countries and the United States.

Other reaction to the Cuban crisis.

The Algerian nationalist government called for negotiations among the United States, Russia, and Cuba.

Finland condemned the U.S. blockade as interference to free shipping on the high seas in time of peace. It gave its full support to the efforts of acting U.N. Secretary General Thant to resolve the crisis.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said in a report from Havana "according to political observers, the possibility of an American invasion of Cuba is very great."

Eight thousand Japanese union members demonstrated against the blockade in a downtown Tokyo rally. There were no incidents.

Communist China's New China News Agency, in a dispatch from Havana monitored in Tokyo, said Cuba has mobilized its entire population for invasion.

ILWU Aide Gets 1-Way Cuba Ticket

HONOLULU — (UPI) — Members of the Teamsters Union chipped in Saturday to buy a Longshoreman's union official a one-way ticket to Cuba.

Newton Miyagi, a Hawaii official of Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's Union, stirred the wrath of his fellow ILWU members with an attack on President Kennedy's quarantine of Cuba. He said the Cuban missile buildup was a problem for the United Nations.

Rank and file members of the ILWU, in a noisy meeting, voted not to support Miyagi's position. The executive committee of the union, after talk of censoring Miyagi, decided in a meeting that he spoke as an individual and not as a union official.

But President Arthur A. Rutledge of the Hawaii Teamsters' Union kept the issue alive by sending Miyagi a one-way, first-class ticket to Cuba.

STOCKPILE

Navy Has Food for Shelters

Vital food supplies intended for nine counties, including Alameda and Contra Costa, are now being stockpiled at the Oakland Naval Supply Center.

According to Bill Ward Jr., regional chief of the California State Disaster Office, cities less than 25 miles away from the supply center must pick up their own supplies.

Cities more than 25 miles away, will have supplies delivered at federal expense.

Mainly, the food will be used to stock fallout shelters.

There already are 1,440,000 pounds of emergency food and 16,120 empty 17½ gallon water cans available. Ward says the Navy won't hand out any supplies until sanitary and medical supplies are also on hand.

Bluebelle Survivor Asked To Repeat Tragic Story

MIAMI — (UPI) — Terry Jo Duperrault, lone survivor of the sinking of the Ketch Bluebelle nearly a year ago, has been requested in a federal court notice to return here next month to re-tell the story of the tragedy.

The 12-year-old girl now lives with relatives at Green Bay, Wis. She was requested to come here to give a deposition for a trial scheduled Jan.

12 on insurance issues growing out of the sinking.

Opposition to the move to have the girl brought here is expected.

The girl's parents, brother, and sister were lost in the sinking, along with the wife of skipper Julian Harvey. Harvey was rescued, but killed himself in a Miami motel room several days later after Terry Jo was found floating on a raft at sea.

Nixon Says Civil Defense Organization Lags in State

ANAHEIM — (AP) — Richard M. Nixon carried his campaign for California's governorship into the Republican stronghold of Orange and San Diego Counties Saturday and urged a stepped up civil defense program.

"The Cuban crisis points up the fact that Californians must have an accelerated and improved civil defense program," the former vice president said in a prepared statement.

"In every area of civil defense preparations, we now lag way behind New York," Nixon continued.

"As we pass New York in population, every Californian also wants to pass New York in civil defense and all other areas of vital concern."

'DON'T PANIC'

"I want to make it clear that under no circumstances should we have a 'panic' program. Nothing could be more foolish than for people to rush out and buy inadequate shelters for their back yards."

If elected governor, he promised, he will improve the state's civil defense program and "provide maximum protection within the resources we have available."

At a rally at Knott's Berry Farm, an Orange County tourist spot, Nixon declared, "it's time to plow good ground here, because we want a bumper crop of votes on Nov. 6."

He recalled that in the 1960 presidential election he had pluralities of 66,000 votes in Orange County and 51,000 in San Diego County.

TALK WITH IKE

Nixon also announced that: 1—He discussed the Cuban situation with former President Eisenhower by phone that they both agreed that all Americans must "speak with one voice" during international crises.

2—He will stage a five-hour state-wide television on the night of Nov. 3, the last Saturday before the election.

3—He still plans to campaign down to the wire despite the decision of his Democratic opponent, Gov. Brown, to curtail his political activities in the face of the serious international situation.

Nixon got cheers when he told the rally he will continue to discuss the subject of domestic communism.

"Communism is an issue at home," Nixon said, "when men are being called up to fight it abroad."

Heroes Back in Action

DETROIT — (UPI) — The Congressional Medal of Honor Society concluding its three-day convention here Saturday pledged all-out support for President Kennedy's stand in the Cuban crisis.

Police Dept. Offers to Put Up Signs

The Oakland Police Department has volunteered to take over immediately the marking of the city's newly designated fallout shelters.

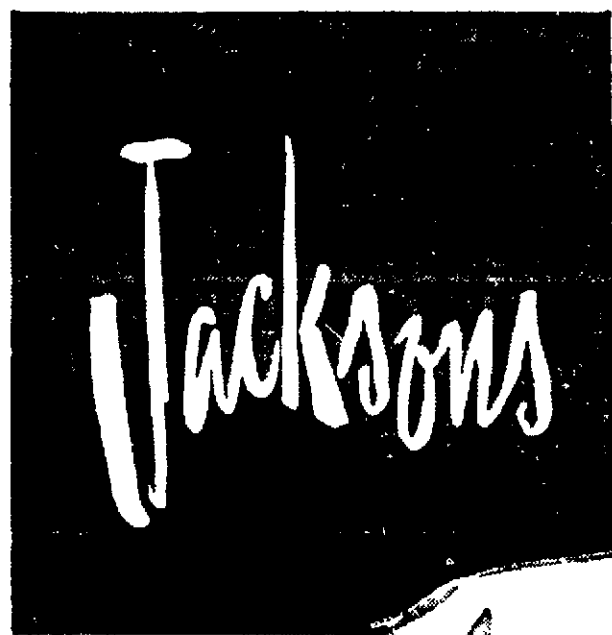

The action was announced by Lt. Charles J. Hansen of the local Civil Defense office.

The large green, black and white "Fallout Shelter" signs will be posted on many of the 98 buildings by the end of next week.

In addition to outside signs, others will be posted inside, indicating the shelter area, Bill Ward, regional state disaster chief noted.

The red and white "Shelter" signs now seen on some streets may or may not be applicable, he said. These are "bomb shelter" markers left over from Korean war days. Newly-marked facilities are "fallout shelters," not necessarily designed to survive a near-by blast.
