

Violation of Airspace A Mistake, JFK Admits

WASHINGTON — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's charge that a U.S. reconnaissance plane violated Soviet airspace Saturday has brought prompt assurances from President Kennedy that it was all a mistake.

And the President said he is seeing to it that every possible caution is taken so it won't happen again.

Khrushchev made his latest statement in a note to Kennedy agreeing to remove Soviet missile bases from Cuba. The President promptly expressed his desire to withdraw all U.S. missiles from the island.

A Pentagon spokesman said the note was "an excellent start down your road." He remains skeptical over the USSR's sincerity in seeking the withdrawal of the powers' missiles.

He then assumed a more conciliatory tone in condemning the military action by the government of the United States of America.

During the period of October or the office of the president's second case of violation of our frontier in American 12 aircraft, he said, Saigon took

We had written you of violation on 30th August and repeated then that this violation had taken place as the result of bad weather and gave an assurance that it would not be repeated. We gave credence to your assurance because there was indeed bad weather in that area at the time. However, your aircraft did not have the task of flying near our territory, then even had weather could not have led either could not have led an American aircraft into our air space.

The conclusion follows that this is done with the knowledge of the Pentagon, which tramples on international usage and violates the frontiers of other states.

An even more dangerous case occurred on 28th October when your reconnaissance aircraft intruded into the territory of the Soviet Union in the north, in the area of the Chukotka Peninsula and flew over our territory.

One asks, Mr. President, how should we regard this?

What is it? A provocation? Your aircraft violates our frontier and that at times as anxious as those we are now experiencing, when everything has been placed in a state of fighting readiness. But an intruding U.S. aircraft can easily be taken for a bomber with nuclear weapons, and that can push us towards a fatal step.

All the more so, because both the U.S. Government and the
